

Shampoo (Unscented)

Water (Aqua), Ammonium Lauryl Sulfate, Cocamidopropyl Hydroxysultaine, Decyl Glucoside, Panthenol, Glycol Distearate, Panthenol, Phenoxyethanol, Ethylhexylglycerin, Passiflora Edulis (Passion) Fruit Extract, Calendula Officinalis (Calendula) Extract, Oryza Sativa (Rice) Bran Oil, Euterpe Oleracea (Acai Palm) Fruit Oil, Linium Usitatissimum (Flax) Extract, Aloe Barbadensis Leaf Juice, Ammonium Chloride, Citric Acid.

To use: We recommend a double wash. First apply a small amount directly to the scalp and massage. You won't notice a ton of foam and that's because the shampoo is doing its job. The soap is latching onto all the dirt molecules we are trying to rid our hair of. Scrub well then rinse. Follow up with a smaller amount of shampoo. Lather in your hands, apply to your scalp, massage again, run down to end of hair. This time you will notice more foam and bubbles.
Rinse well.

Herbal Bath Blend

Lavender, Oregano, Thyme, Rosemary, Basil, Mugwort, Eucalyptus, Calendula and Rose Petals

Instructions: Pour 1 to 2 quarts of boiling water over 1 to 2 cups of the herbal bath mixture, cover and let sit for 30 minutes up to 8 hours for a stronger infusion. Strain tea into a cloth bag into the bathtub. Tie the bag with herbs in it at the top and use it as a compress, rubbing all of the body with the herbal bag, while soaking in the bath. For extra detoxifying effects, 1 cup of epsom salt and 1 cup of baking soda can be added to the bath.

Healing Benefits:

The herbs are a mixture of antimicrobial, calming, circulatory and respiratory system stimulating plants.

Herbal baths are good for energetic clearing as well as promoting healthy immune system function, lymphatic system movement, dilation of the respiratory system, and promoting an overall sense of inner cleansing and calm. They are excellent to use during the menstruation time to help relieve menstrual cramps and balance the emotions.

Follow the bath by applying a healing oil or lotion to the entire body to seal in the Yin energy and hydrate the tissues.

Contraindications:

Best not to be used by pregnant women due to the presence of Mugwort.

*If you will not be using the blend within 30 days of purchase please store in an air tight jar to preserve freshness.

*Organic/Wild-harvested

How to wash: We recommend a double wash with these shampoos. When you first apply, you want to go directly to the scalp and massage. You won't notice a ton of foam and that's because the shampoo is doing its job. The soap is latching onto all the dirt molecules we are trying to rid our hair of. Scrub away then rinse. Then follow up a smaller amount of shampoo. Lather in your hands, apply to your scalp, massage again. This time you will notice more foam and bubbles. That is because the soap has much less to attach itself to which also means your hair is much cleaner than it was a minute ago.

You'll notice when you go longer in between shampoos there will be less suds in the beginning than if you just washed a day or two ago, when your hair may just be barely on the edge of being dirty and have more suds with your first round of shampoo.

With the conditioner, do as you normally would. gently squeeze the water from your hair and apply the conditioner to the bottom half of your hair. Let it sit as long as you can, then rinse.
