RESIDENCE OF DR. AND MRS. OUTLAW 230 W. 30th STREET.

Dr. Outlaw is one of our leading physicians and is a member of the American-Medical Association. At the National Convention of the A. M. A. held in this city recently, Dr. and Mrs. Outlaw were signally honored by committee service and other functions. Since coming to this city the Dr. has made good.

The Undesirable Woman Voter

One of the specters oftenest advanced by those interested in depriving women of the right to vote, is the warning, "the bad woman will have the same right to a voice in the government as the respectable woman." Mrs. David Chambers McCan, president of Southern California Woman's Press Club, and second vice-president of Friday Morning Club, replying to the toast, "The Undesirable Vote," at the banquet given the legislators by the Political Equality League at the Alexandria December 16, presented an array of figures both timely and pertinent, her address proving a lance of seasoned timber in this anti-suffrage tilt at windmills.

Believing that it is no more dreadful to stand shoulder to shoulder at the polls with a woman of impure life than to stand in line with her to purchase theater tickets or to sit by her side in the theater or cafe, Mrs. McCann began her search for statistics dealing with the relative proportion of good and bad women only to find her path beset with difficulties—exact figures were not easily assembled. The story of her quest and its result is given below:

It is much more difficult to amass facts than to generalize or sentimentalize on the subject. It is not yet possible to obtain the segregated census of 1910, as that is Federal property and no reports have been kept here, so we will have to use the 1900 census as basis and try to approximate the increase.

In reports at the public library I found the following data: Population in the United States in 1900, 39,059,242 males, 37,244,145 females; total, 76,303,387.

Population in Los Angeles in 1900, 86,422 males and 83,876 females; total, 170,298.

Total population of Los Angeles in 1910, 318,198.

In a bulletin also in the public library issued by the Government as to the number of criminals in the United States in 1904, I found there were 52,280 males and only 2,831 females.

In 1904 inmates in the state and county prisons in California numbered 2,359 males and only 24 females.

As it is not possible to give reports of criminals from all courts, I have chosen that over which Frank R. Willis presides as an example of existing conditions. Judge Willis said, "In the last two years I have tried about 500 cases, 491 of the accused being males and only nine females. Of the nine women, two were sent to state prison, two cases are still pending; five are on probation and four made good, one left the country leaving a bad record." Judge Willis showed me a report on the convictions of felonies in California, and out of 733 felonies only nine had been committed by women. I also saw a report from the state prison at San Quentin dated September 28, 1910—1,856 males and only 28 females.

I then called upon Charles Lenhausen, Captain of Police, who told me that during the fiscal year of 1909 and 1910, 17,275 arrests were made—16,685 males and only 590 females. I asked Captain Lenhausen if men and women were arrested for the same charges, and he replied, "Absolutely! The same law applies in both cases. Either the women are more clever in evading the law or are better citizens and do not break the law so often."

In September, 1910, Captain Lenhausen took a census of the underworld and found that there were 1,351 outcast women in Los Angeles. It will be remembered that the population of Los Angeles is over 318,000—it is safe to say that over half are women, so the relative number of outcast women is very small.

Captain Lenhausen said further that this class of women constitute a floating population and drift like miners wherever there is a boom or excitement.

Asked what effect he thought these women would have upon politics he replied: "None whatever, as in the first place they would be obliged to register, which would necessitate giving their names, residence and occupation. It would appear that should there be a rainy election day and only 25 per cent instead of 40 per cent of the so-called "good women" went to the polls, and all the bad women voted, even then this much dreaded element to this possible element of unattached women bearing seriously upon the question, there are many men who have no counterpart vote.

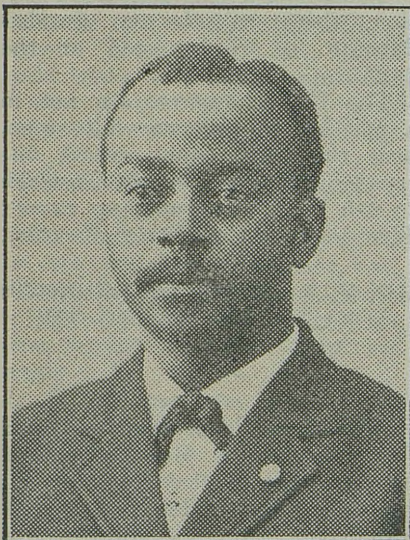

Mrs. Von Wagner of the City of Housing Commission tells me there are at least 3,000 Slavonians, 2,000 Greeks and Arabians and thousands of single American men living in rooming houses who are voters. Rev. Dana Bartlett made the same estimate as to this class of unmarried men, foreign born and natives, and said that they are the men on whom ward politicians bring to bear their strongest pressure.

I asked Mrs. Von Wagner and Mr. Bartlett in regard to the wife of the dissolute married man. She who lives in the slums where the women are supposed to be of a lower order of intelligence than even the men—what would be the attitude of this woman if she had the privilege of expressing herself? They said without a doubt she would vote for better conditions and to remove the temptations which are ruining her home.

So the consensus of opinion from the City Hall, Court House, Hall of Justice, Police Station, City Library and the slums themselves, is, that the vote and the influence of the so-called "bad women" will not be a factor in the political situation when women have the franchise.

RECEPTION TO DR. KENCHIN

The reception tendered Rev. E. W. Kenchin of the Wesley M. E. Church by the members and other city churches, was one of which any minister could be proud. A more intelligent and representative audience never filled the auditorium. While a number of the city pastors were absent some on vacations and others unavoidably detained, their churches were liberally represented and every seat in the auditorium taken.

The program, though long, was so entertaining that its length was forgotten. Mr. J. A. Warren, treasurer of the Steward Board and reader of all church notices was master of ceremonies and performed his duties with becoming dignity. He, however, let one solo of doubtful reputation, slip on his program. On future occasions of this kind, he will doubtless get a little history of all solos to be used on the church rostrum.

Mr. H. W. Markham, one of Wesley's foremost young church men offered the invocation. After which addresses of welcome were delivered by Rev. Cooper of Masons Chapel, Father Cleghorn of St. Phillips Episcopal Church, Dr. J.

L. McCoy, Pastor Second Baptist Church and Messrs. E. J. Warren of the Steward Board, C. W. Holden, president Board of Trustees and J. L. Edmonds, president of the Steward Board delivered addresses representing the membership and executive departments of the church. Prof. T. A. Green, secretary of the Colored Y. M. C. A. represented the Sunday school. Mr. Theo. Troy represented the Y. M. C. A. Miss Bessie Bruington responded in an excellent paper representing the graduates of 1911. Aside from the songs by the Second Baptist church quartette and the Wesley choir, there was a solo by Mrs. R. C. Owens and a duet by Misses Preylou and Sims.

The program was closed by a response by the pastor, Rev. E. W. Kenchin. The response proved exceedingly entertaining after which the audience retired to the dining room in the basement where an abundance of ice cream and cake were served.

Rev. and Mrs. Kenchin were recipients of many bouquets of flowers of which the rostrum and choir stand was profusely decorated.

The rise of Rev. Kenchin has been phenomenal. Seven years ago as a pullman porter he attended services at Wesley Chapel. As a pullman porter, he occupied a seat in the congregation, took part in the singing and at the close of the services, departed as little known as when he came. At that time he had no idea of ever visiting the church again. His is a graduate of the Howard University of Washington, D. C., and of the Gammon Theological Seminary at Atlanta, Georgia. To meet some of his expenses while attending college, he served as pullman porter during the vacation.

Since coming to Wesley Chapel, a month ago, he has infused new life into every department of the church. His able sermons have attracted large crowds of visitors to each service and the revenues of the church have been greatly increased.

With his aid the official Board has adopted a new financial plan by which the entire indebtedness of the church will be taken up by the membership and payable in five years. This plan is so generally approved by the membership that the indebtedness is being taken up with enthusiasm.

Dr. Kenchin's sermons not only attract crowds but get their rapt attention. His sermons are remarkable for their eloquence, intense fervor, spirituality, directness and force of application. If a complete synopsis of them could be published in our colored weekly papers, they would not only compare favorably with those published in the Monday daily but would wield a mighty influence for good among the colored people of the city and suburban towns.

Dr. Kenchin has a great field and he impresses those who hear him, as one who is in every way equal to the occasion. The great leaders who have left a lasting imprint on the pages of history—men whose lives have made the world better by freeing men from physical, mental and moral slavery have in every case come up from among the common people.

Rev. Kenchin has been in the pastorate for only six years. Wesley Chapel, his present charge is the second in size and importance in Methodism.

THE WRECK OF THE SANTA ROSA

That the ocean did not claim a frightful tole of human life when the Santa Rosa was wrecked on the beach near Arguello is due the luck of the passengers, as it appears that no precaution was taken to prevent such a catastrophe. Although the ship ran upon the rocks at three o'clock in the morning, the sunrise finding the ocean as calm as a millpond, no attempt was made to land the passengers till sunset, when the tide was rolling high, ripped by deadly undertow, making the landing of life boats impossible. The thought of landing the passengers seems to have come to the master only after the tide began to tear the ship asunder.

In spite of the fact that the night was clear, the ship was miles out of its course in towards the rocky beach and the captain, in ignorance as to its whereabouts, shows that there was something radically wrong. The cause of the disaster and the ordeal o which the hapless passengers were subjected to through th long dreadful hours of the day, will doubtless be investigated and the blame placed where it belongs. That somebody is at fault there is no doubt.

WILL ATTEMPT TO CLOSE SEAL GARDEN PARK

The attempt to have Seal Garden Park closed, since it has been leased by the colored elks, is the result of down right race prejudice. As there has been no disorder of the kind complained of, by the petitioners. There have been no picnic or dances at the park on Sundays and no whisky has been sold there since the white men turned it over to the Elks and never will be any sold there while the Elks hold the lease if they can prevent it. There are not five hundred residents in the locality and the claim that the petition to close the park contains five hundred names is a fabrication as base as the one claiming that picnics and dances are held there on Sundays.

On the 30th of May last, the Elks gave a picnic at the park, which was visited by twelve hundred people without the slightest disorder of any kind. It was discovered, during the day that a few rowdies were on the outside with whisky. On being driven away, they went over to one of the white men, whose name is perhaps on the petition, rented an empty house on his premises, opened a blind pig and crap game, doubtless with his knowledge and consent. That is the only whisky that has been sold in the neighborhood of Seal Garden park, since the Elks leased it.

That whole blind pig and crap game scheme of the 30th was concocted by some white man in the neighborhood of the park for the purpose of filing that petition. It will be as difficult for the colored men to prevent individual fights as it has been for the city police department to prevent hold ups and burglaries. The Elks will put forth every effort within their power to keep perfect order at the park. There is one thing certain, there will be no Sunday dancing or whisky sold at the park.

The Elks, however, are not in a position to prevent white men, near the park, from renting disreputable negroe's houses in which to run blind pigs and crap games. That is up to the district attorney.

MR. R. J. RIDDLE OF DENNISON TEXAS A VISITOR TO THE CITY

By chance we met Mr. R. J. Riddle of the shoe manufacturing firm of Riddle Bros., Denison, Texas, who is traveling for his health. Mr. Riddle is a bright, intelligent, thorough going young business man. The firm manufactures only high priced shoes and are patronized by people who wear only hand made shoes. They have a permanent paying business. Mr. Riddle had on a pair of Riddle Bros. hand made tan shoes that he had worn for two years and they seemed to be as good as ever. The incident was intensely interesting to us owing to the fact that Mr. Riddle was the first colored man that we have met wearing shoes of his own make since 1875. At that time in a far-away Mississippi village where we then lived, there were a number of shoe making establishments owned and managed by colored men where boots and shoes were made, ranging in prices from seven to eighteen dollars per pair. These shops had for their patrons the wealthy white men and women of the village and surrounding country. The owners of those shops were ex-slaves employing twenty or more men and boys. It seems to us that there are many places where colored men could make a good living, with something to spare by making first class shoes, as men and women who wear seven and eight dollar shoes would prefer hand made shoes from the local manufacturers.

Owing to indoor confinement, Mr. Riddle found it necessary to travel to regain his failing health, which is now almost restored to former condition. Mr. Riddle would make a valuable acquisition to our people here if he could be induced to settle in this city.

ITEMS OF LOCAL INTEREST

Miss Roxa Fowler, formerly of this city, but now of Oakland, Cal., accompanied by Miss Laura Clarke, are here on a visit. They are being royally entertained by old friends.

Mr. P. J. Alexander and family spent last Sunday at Long Beach. Mr. Alexander is a member of the enterprising firm of Alexander and Bowman.

Messrs. D. W. Crutcher and L. E. Vincent of Nashville, Tennessee, were callers at the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday. They were delighted with our splendid city and matchless climate.

Mr. Frank Blodgett, brother of L. M. and C. S. Blodgett, died on the tenth after a short illness. His untimely death brought profound sorrow to the many friends of the family.

Mr. R. A. Davis and brother who have been running a lunch room for some time on East Ninth street, has found it necessary, on account of the growth of their business, to build a larger room, using the old room for a kitchen.

Mr. Leon A. Watson has built up a big fuel business. His hay, grain, wood and coal yard at 1705 East Ninth street is well patronized. Mr. Watson comes of a good family and is deserving of the success he is meeting.

Rev. D. L. McMickens, the new pastor of the Eighth street Christian church, will begin a series of meetings at 1323 East Eighth street beginning July 16th at 11 a. m. and will continue six days. Services at 8 p. m. thereafter. The services each evening with text to be preached, is published elsewhere in this edition. Read them and attend the services.

Mrs. G. W. Wickliffe and children, wife of Attorney Wickliffe, left last week to spend the summer with her father on Lake Erie. On her return she will spend a few days with Mr. Wickliffe's mother at Chattanooga, Tennessee. The children were so happy over the thought of the trip that they could hardly contain themselves. Mr. Wickliffe's little daughter was so anxious to have him go along that she offered to him, two dollars in pennies she had saved up, to pay his way.

Dr. T. J. Nelson, who has been seriously ill at his residence on 32nd street, is reported as being much improved. This news affords great relief to his friends. That he will speedily recover is the sincere hope of all.

Miss Darthula Vandivere and Miss M. Wilson, teachers of Kansas City, Missouri, are guests at the residence of Mrs. J. Davis, 176 South Utah street. The young ladies will visit all points of interest in this state and returning home via the Yellowstone National Park.

WON'T STAND HITCHED

Prominent Officers of the Afro-American Council Speaking of the President of the Forum, Says:

"He won't stand hitched. He was hitched up in the council once but broke loose. He was next hitched to the Lincoln-Roosevelt Republican League and tore off his harness. How long he'll stay hitched to the bunch that's using him now remains to be seen.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE FORUM BENT ON KILLING THE OR- GANIZATION

Seeing his own finish the president of the Forum has decided, like a dying mule to kick the Forum to death while drawing his last breath. It was secretly passed out by the president's four bosses, the week after his election, that every person who differed with him were to be expelled and that The Liberator was to be suppressed for trying to raise the standard of the debates by urging the debaters to read and think before attempting to discuss questions. Then, too, The Liberator's criticisms of incendiary speeches appealing to race prejudices and of their acts in endorsing frightful lawless deeds, committed by lawless white men, put The Liberator under the ban. This was followed by threats to prevent the paper from being read by the people. Finding that these threats increased the circulation of the paper, they decided to suspend the editor. After two weeks hard work, the president and his friends succeeded in finding (according to the secretary's count) eighteen men out of a membership of three to four hundred who were willing to vote for the suspension of the editor for urging the young men and women of the race to read and think and lead upright moral lives and to refrain from all acts of lawlessness, whether by incendiary speeches or acts.

When the secretary announced that he had found eighteen men who were against law, order and decency, the only surprise occasioned was the fact that he made his number so small. In view of the further fact that the president would have sustained him if he had claimed a hundred. Startled by the fact that only eighteen could be found, the president allowed no one to speak except the eighteen who had announced themselves as enemies of everything pertaining to law and decency. Scores of the best and most prominent citizens rose and vainly endeavored to warn the Forum of the danger that was impending, but the president refused to hear them having decided that the eighteen previously mentioned should have the exclusive right to the floor.

At a private meeting held by the president, La Mar, E. Waller and others, a long list of resolutions were drawn up condemning The Liberator and editor for committing the sins above referred to. These were brought in and read to the Forum. For utter disregard for the rules of the English grammar, nothing surpassed them in down right ignorance except the president's letter addressed to Mr. Morgan T. White some weeks ago, which we have in our possession and which we refused to publish out of sympathy for the president and respect for the Forum over whose deliberations he unfortunately presides.

To the lasting credit of lady members of the Forum, not a one lifted her voice except in defense of The Liberator. And yet, The Liberator has been no stauncher friend to them than it has been to the eighteen men referred to. Another noteworthy fact in this connection is, that every one of the eighteen men who voted "I" is "agin" woman's suffrage. Upon this the women should be congratulated.

Of the eighteen men only two were middle-aged men. Some men get into bad company for want of experience, others get into it in spite of experience because bad company suits them best. One member of the eighteen, a young man, came to the editor and asked pardon stating that he had been hoodwinked. On being assured that he had committed no offense against the editor, he was advised to go and make peace with his conscience. He said others, penitents, were also coming to secure forgiveness. This is needless, all they have to do is to satisfy their conscience, select better company and read and think and their mothers and the community in which they live will have reason to be proud of them.
