UC-NRLF B 2 628 207

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2008 with funding from Microsoft Corporation

B 2628207

EXCHANGE

THE KADDISH

INAUGURAL-DISSERTATION

ZUR

ERLANGUNG DER DOKTORWÜRDE

DER

HOHEN PHILOSOPHISCHEN FAKULTÄT DER RUPRECHT-KARLS-UNIVERSITÄT HEIDELBERG

VORGELEGT VON

DAVID DE SOLA POOL B. A.

DRUCK VON W. DRUGULIN IN LEIPZIG
1909

BEINGAR BUT

AND ASSESSED OF THE PARTY OF TH

non-page to the product of 10.00 12.00 10.00

I, David de Sola Pool, son of Eleazar and Abigail Pool, born in London May 16, 1885, matriculated first class into London University in January 1902. I then entered, under the University of London, both Jews' College, London and University College, London for three years. In the former I studied under Drs. M. Friedländer, S. A. Hirsch, H. Hirschfeld and Mr. I. Abrahams, Hebrew, Aramaic, Syriac and Arabic, and in the latter under Profs. Housman, Platt; Sully, Carveth Read; Brandin, Hartog; Gollancz and Hirschfeld, Classics, Philosophy, French and Hebrew, gaining inter alia the first year's Andrews scholarship in Classics 1903 and the Hollier Hebrew scholarship (divided) 1904. In 1903 I passed in Classics, French and Philosophy the Intermediate, and in 1905 the Final Bachelor of Arts examination in Hebrew and Aramaic, including Syriac, of the University of London, with First Class Honours and then entered Berlin University, hearing during three semesters Profs. Barth, Delitzsch, Gunkel, Pfleiderer, Riehl, Sachau, Winckler and Dr. Mittwoch, and at the same time Prof. Berliner, Drs. Hoffmann and Wohlgemuth in the Rabbiner Seminar and Prof. Steinschneider and Dr. Elbogen. In April 1907 I entered Heidelberg University, there studying under Profs. Becker, Bezold, Hoops and Wolfrum.

To all my teachers I take this opportunity of expressing my grateful thanks.

TO # MY PARENTS

AND MY HONORED TEACHER

DR. M. FRIEDLANDER.

Contraction to the own

CONTENTS.

																				Page
Preface (I	Biblio	ograp	hy,	Te	xt	and	I f	ra	nsl	lat	ior	1)								VII
Historical																				1
Language																				10
יתגדל																				26
שמיה רבא																				43
יתברך																				54
תתקבל																				65
יהא שלמא																				69
עושה שלום																				75
לחדתא																				79
על ישראל																				89
תתכלי																				97
Appendix																				100
Appendix	B.	The	K.	as	a n	not	irne	er'	s į	ora	ıye	r								101
Appendix	C.	The	K.	in	the	Sy	yna	go	gu	e	sei	vi	ce							107
Appendix	D.	The	K.	and	l th	ie i	Pat	er	no	ste	er									111
Appendix	E.	Anti	pho	nal	re	cita	atio	n												112
Appendix	F.	The	_																	115
Index .																				118

CORRECTION.

Page 3, line 1: read 2 Chr 205 ff. for 2 Chr 295 ff.

Page 73, line 15: read הרחמן for ההחת. Page 62, line 11: read Targum for Tagum. SEA LEVERS

The following presents a literary and historical investigation into the origin, growth and language of the prayer called the Kaddīsh (שַּלְּיבֶּי). It has been found necessary to take note of the eschatological views prevailing at the times of its composition, to determine with exactness the technical meaning and full connotation of many words, and their inner connection one with another. In this way alone can the original significance and real import of the words and sentences be effectively determined. For this purpose, parallels have been drawn mainly from the contemporary Rabbinic literature, the New Testament and apocalyptic works.

The ritualistic aspect of the prayer as found in the Codes of laws and Minhagim is here noticed only where application to different occasions through meanings later read into the words, and a living tradition of their pronunciation and of the construction of the sentences bear upon the interpretation of the text. For the rest, the most important liturgical facts connected with the prayer are collected briefly in an appendix (C, P. 107).

The numerous parallels adduced from the Targum, are designed not alone to confirm the identity of language and thought of the Kaddīsh with those of the Targumim, but also to help towards establishing the exact meaning of many of the terms, thus at the same time often adding something towards an appreciation of the spirit and terminology of the Targumim.

To guard against misconception, it should be premised that the term Messianic is, unless otherwise stated, used in the following pages not in the narrow sense of the days of the wars and reign of the Messiah as distinct from the following resurrection, last judgment and kingdom of God, but generally for the glorious future as opposed to the present and past. I have to express a debt of deep gratitude to Dr. Gaster for kindly placing at my disposal a number of his unique manuscripts and rare texts.

I venture to believe that this investigation has cast new light upon several Old Testament questions such as the schematic construction of many of its later prayers; the composite linguistic character and several features of the style of the Book of Daniel, and many points in connection with the Psalms such as their doxologies, liturgical recitation and parallelism.

I hope too that it may contribute towards a fuller appreciation of the New Testament, by showing from a fresh point of view its Jewish background and framework, the Jewish coloring of much of its most characteristic phraseology, and especially by a consideration of the form and origin of the Paternoster, the twin sister of the Kaddish.

In conclusion, I trust that this essay will commend itself to others beside the philologist and the student of the Bible, by adding a new chapter to the obscure subject of prayers for the dead, and by opening up a neglected province in the domain of the earliest Jewish liturgy.

BIBLIOGRAPHY.

The following are the chief works consulted in preparation of this essay:

- I. On the Kaddish: Landshuth בקור חולים P. LIX et seq. (useful). S. Baer עבורת ישראל P. 129f., 153, 588.
  - Jewish Encyclopaedia and Hamburger's Real Encyclopädie Art. Kaddish.
- Eleazar Zalman Srajewski קדיש לעלם. Jerusalem 1901—naïvely uncritical.
- II. Mediaeval commentaries on the Kaddish:
  - "Rashi (Solomon Yizhaki)" 1040—1105. Pardes.
  - Abraham b. Nathan ibn Yarḥi (of Lunel) Toledo 1204. Ha-Manhig. Tefillah 25—28.
  - MS. Commentary of Eleazar b. Yehuda of Worms c. 1217. Brit. Mus. Add. 27, 556. P. 19 b et seq.

MS Commentary (Cabbalistic) by Jehuda Romani b. 1292, Biblioteca Laurenziana, Florence. § 1—53, 80—103. 124. 131—135. 140—147.

Zedekiah b. Abraham 13th cent. Rome. Shibbole ha-Leket ed. Buber Chap. 8.

MS. Commentary of Peres b. Isaac ha-Cohen 13th cent. Gaster Cod. Montefiore 53 P. 55a.

Aaron b. Jacob b. David ha-Cohen fl. 1300 Orhoth Hayyim and its later redaction the Kol Bo.

David Abudarham of Seville d. 1340 ed. princ. Lisbon 1490. 2nd ed. Constantinople 1513.

III. Texts of the Kaddish:

Siddur of Rab Amram Gaon c. 900.1

Siddur of Seadya Gaon 892-942 Dr. Gaster's collation.

Mahzor Vitry of Simha of Vitry c. 1100.2

Text of the Kaddish of Maimonides 1140—1205. Yad ha-Hazaka 2. מדר תפלות כל השנה. Or. 2227, P. 18b. 19a. Cod. Gaster 173. Athias, edition Amsterdam.

Yemen Rite.3

Old English 1287. JQR IV.

Roman (Italian) Rite. 4

Spanish Rite. 5 (Sefardic).

<sup>1</sup> Brit. Mus. Or. 1067 14/15th cent. Printed Warsaw 1865. lit. arrangement—of prayers, a prayer manual.

2 Brit. Mus. Add. 27200—27201. Published by the Mekize Nirdamim ed. Hurwitz Berlin 1890. מְּחָוֹז cf. לְּנָיִלְּנִי (originally the astronomical yearly cycle of festivals, fasts etc.) the collection of prayers for the whole year.

3 Brit. Mus. Or. 1479 (1674), 1480 (17/18 cent), 2227 (1540), 2389 (1635), 2418 (1741), Gaster Cod. 4, 6, 243, 249, 321. 2 Chamizer MSS in Dalman's Die Worte Jesu Anhang 305 f. 1 MS in Alexander Kohut's Manzur al Dhamâri's Hebrew Arabic Commentary on the Pentateuch, New York 1892, Report of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America p. XXXV. Printed edition with commentary ed. Yahya Salah, סבלאל Jerusalem 1894.

<sup>4</sup> Brit. Mus. Or. 2736 (1390). Add. 27,072 (1482), 26,957 (1269), 18,230 (15th cent.). Biblioteca Laurenziana, Florence II 16. II 52. MS Gaster. Printed edit. S. D. Luzatto, Livorno 1856. (References to this).

<sup>5</sup> Abudarham. Brit. Mus. Add. 26, 954 (14th cent.). A 14th cent. Cod. Gaster. Ed. princ. Venice, Bomberg 1524 (a reprint of the real ed. princ. which is unknown). References to ed. Gaster, London 1901.

German Rite. 6 (Ashkenazic). Romanian (Byzantine). 7

Corfu.8

Carpentras (Avignon, Lille etc.) 9

Cingalese-Cochin. 10

Provençal. 11

Persian 12.

Chinese 13.

IV. General:

The Talmud-Babylonian ed. Vilna 1895—97.

The Talmud-Palestinian ed. Krotoschin 1866.

Massecheth Soferim ed. Müller 1878.

Tosefta ed. Zuckermandel 1880-82.

Targum-Onkelos Sabionetta 1557 ed. Berliner 1884.

Targum Jerusalem I and II to Pentateuch ed. Ginsburger.

Targum to Prophets Cod. Reuchlin ed. Lagarde 1872.

Targum to Hagiographa ed. Lagarde 1873.

Midrash Rabba ed. Vilna 1878.

Sifre ed. Friedmann, Vienna 1864.

Mechilta ed. Friedmann, Vienna 1870.

Pesikta Rabbathi ed. Friedmann, Vienna 1880.

Pesikta ed. Buber, Lemberg 1868.

The principal abbreviations employed are:

A. Z. Aboda Zara.

B. Babylonian (Talmud).

b. ben.

<sup>7</sup> Brit. Mus. Harl. 5583. Cod. Gaster 157.

8 Cod. Gaster 155.

10 Ed. princ. Amsterdam 1757.

11 Cod. Gaster 701 (14th cent.).

12 MSS. belonging to Mr. Elkan N. Adler, London.

 &lt;sup>6</sup> Brit. Mus. Or. 5866 (14th cent.) Or. 26,954, 27,086 (14th cent.), 27,556 (13/14th cent.). References to S. Baer. Rödelheim 1868.

&lt;sup>9</sup> Brit. Mus. Add. 19667 (? 14th cent.) Cod. Gaster 166 (1750) Lille Cod. Gaster 164 (1804). Printed, Amsterdam 1739.

 $^{\rm 13}$  MSS. in the possession of the London Society for Promoting Christianity among the Jews.

B. B. Baba Bathra.

B. K. Baba Kamma.

B. M. Baba Meșia.

D. Gr. Dalman, Grammatik des Jüdisch Palästinischen Aramäisch.2. Auflage Leipz. 1905.

D. S. Dikduke Soferim of Rabbinovicz (Raph.) 1868-88.

D. W. J. Dalman, G., Die Worte Jesu.

E. S. Etymologische Studien (Barth).

E. T. A., E. T. T. Bacher, Exegetische Terminologie der Amoräer, ... der Tannaiten.

G. D. K. Gedenkbuch für David Kaufmann 1899.

G. V. Die Gottesdienstlichen Vorträge der Juden, L. Zunz.

Jell. B. H. Jellinek Ad., Beth Ha-Midrasch 1853-78.

J. Jerusalem (Talmud).

JI and JII. Pseudo-Jonathan and Fragment Targum to the Pentateuch.

J. Q. R. Jewish Quarterly Review, London.

Ldzb. Lidzbarski, M., Handbuch der Nordsemitischen Epigraphik.

M. G. W. J. Monatsschrift für Geschichte und Wissenschaft des Judentums. Breslau.

M. K. Mo'ed Katon.

N. B. Nominal-Bildung (Barth).

N. H. W. B. Neuhebräisches Wörterbuch (Levy, Jacob) 1876-89.

Onk. Targum Onkelos ed. Sabionetta.

P. R. El. Pirke de Rabbi Eleazar.

R. (before names) Rab, Rabbi, Rabban, Rabbenu.

R. É. J. Révue des Études Juives. Paris.

R. H. Rosh ha-Shana.

Schür. G. J. V. Schürer Geschichte des Jüdischen Volkes im Zeitalter Jesu Christi. 3. Aufl. 1898.

T. B. E. R. Tanna de Be Eliahu Rabba de Recommendadore ed. Friedmann 1900.

T. B. E. Z. Tanna de Be Eliahu Zutta de Recommendadore ed. Friedmann 1900.

T. Tosefta, ed. Zuckermandel 1880-82.

T. W. B. Targum Wörterbuch (Levy, Jacob) 1867-68.

Z. D. M. G. Zeitschrift der deutschen morgenländischen Gesellschaft.

הקדוש ברוך הוא = הקב"ה.

TEXT AND TRANSLATION.

The full texts of the Kaddish with the variations in reading are given at the head of each section. But for the sake of convenience in reference, the oldest version as far as it is known to us from Amram's text is here appended:

יתגדל ויתקדש שמה רבא בעלמא דברא כרעותה וימלף מלכותה בחייכון וביומיכון ובחיי דכל בית ישראל בעגלא ובזמן קריב אמן. יהא שמה רבא מברך לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא יתברך אמן. וישתבח ויתפאר ויתלמם ויתנשא ויתהדר ויתעלה ויתקלם שמה דקדשא בריך הוא לעלא מכל ברכתא שירתא תשבחתא ונחמתא דאמירן בעלמא ואמרו אמן.

תתקבל צלותהון ובעותהון דכל ישראל קדם אבוהון דבשמיא ואמרו אמן.
יהא שלמא רבא מן שמיא וחיים [ושבע וישועה וגחמה והצלה לכל] (על כל)
ישראל ואמרו אמו.

עושה שלום במרומיו הוא יעשה שלום על כל ישראל.

יתגדל ויתקדש שמה רבא בעלמא דהוא עתיד לחדתא ולאחאה מיתיא ולמבני קרתא דירושלם ולשכללא היכלא ולמעקר פלחנא נוכראה מארעה ולאתבא פלחנא קדישא דשמיא לאתרה וימלך קודשא בריך הוא מלכותה ויקרה בחייכון וביומיכון ובחיי דכל בית ישראל בעגלא ובזמן קריב אמן.

See further pp. 89 and 97 for two paragraphs not occurring in Amram.

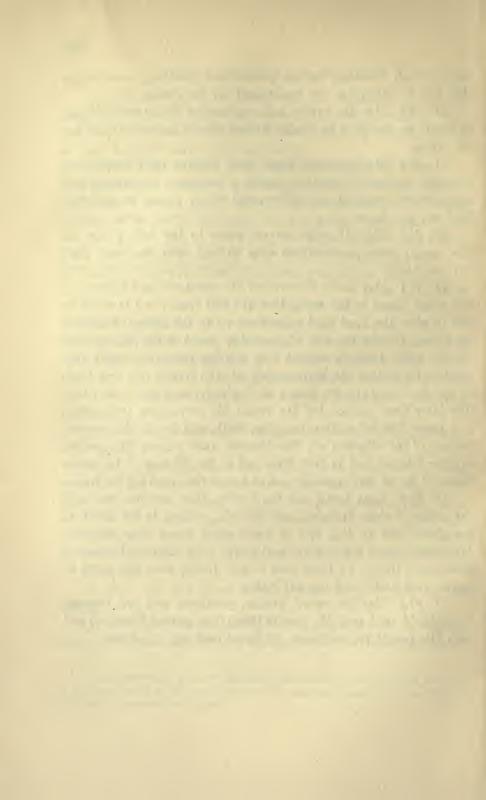

The following translation 1 includes the most important features of all the texts:

- (P. 26.) May He, according to His Will, reveal in the world which He has created, the greatness and holiness of His Great Name, and His sovereignty [make His redemption spring forth, cause His Messiah to approach and redeem His people (and build up His temple)] in your lifetime and in your days and in the lifetime of the whole house of Israel, speedily and at a near time (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 43.) Be His Great Name praised for ever and for all eternity.
- (P. 54.) The Name of the Holy One, praised be He, be blessed, praised, honored, magnified, exalted, glorified, extolled and lauded far above all blessings, hymns, praises and glorifying consolations that can be uttered in the world (and say ye) Amen.

&lt;sup>1</sup> The translation aims at expressing as exactly as possible the meaning of each word and of the construction. The disastrous effects on the English style must therefore be condoned.

- (P. 65.) May the prayer and supplication of the whole (house) of Israel be accepted by the (ir) Father who is in heaven (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 69.) May abundant peace from Heaven [with life, plenty salvation, comfort, liberation, health, redemption, forgiveness and expiation, enlargement and deliverance] be for us and for all Israel (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 75.) May He who maketh peace in His high places (in His mercy) make peace subsist upon us and upon all Israel (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 79.) May there be revealed the greatness and holiness of His great Name in the world that He will renew, and in which he will quicken the dead (and raise them up to life eternal) [and save the living], rebuild the city of Jerusalem, build up the (holy) temple (in the midst thereof), uproot false worship from (His land) (the earth), and restore the holy worship of (His Name) (the true God) to its place [(in) (to) its beauty and splendor and glory], and may (the Holy One, praised be) He reveal his sovereignty (and glory), and cause His redemption to spring forth, and hasten (the consummation of the kingdom of) His Messiah (and redeem His people) in your lifetime and in your days and in the lifetime of the whole house of Israel (now) speedily and at a near time (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 89.) Unto Israel and the Rabbis, their disciples and (all) the pupils of their disciples, (and all) who engage in the study of the (holy) law in this and in every other place, may there be (abundant peace) grace, favor and mercy [long life and (bounteous) sustenance] [(both) to them (and to [us] [you])] from the Lord of heaven and earth (and say ye) Amen.
- (P. 97.) May the sword, famine, pestilence and evil diseases be withheld (and may He remove them) from us (and from you) and (all) His people (of the house of) Israel (and say ye) Amen.

HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION.

There is no evidence of a fixed ritual in the Old Testament. Private prayers occur in it in abundance and there are also many references to public prayer, even to their having become conventional rote by the 8th cent. But it was not until the destruction of the Temple 586 B. C. and the consequent cessation of the sacrificial services that the first great impetus to the development of the synagogue and its liturgy was given. The synagogue probably arose in the Babylonian exile, called into being as a substitute for the Temple worship in Jerusalem. After the return from exile and more especially under Ezra's influence, public prayer meetings became a regular institution, and synagogues soon sprang up in all Jewish settlements.

Tradition ascribes the foundation of the Jewish liturgy to the Men of the Great Synod אנשי כנסת הגדולה תקנו להם ברכות ותפלות (Ber. 33a); and the numerous prayers in the Books of Ezra, Nehemiah, Chronicles and Daniel, besides the probability that the foundations of the chief blessings (ברכות) e. g. those of the Shema' (שמנה עשרה), 2 and prayers (תפלות) e. g. the Shemone 'Esre (תפלות) 3 go back to pre-Maccabean times, would support this tradition.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Isa 29 13. Cf. ib. 1 15 58 5.

&lt;sup>2</sup> The Shema', named from its opening verse Deut 64, is composed of the paragraphs Deut 64—9 11 13—21 Num 15 37—41. See Schürer, GJV. 2537 f. Dr. I. Elbogen, JQR. XIX 1907 p. 229 et seq.

&lt;sup>3</sup> The 18 benedictions. Text: Gaster 30 et seq. Baer 87 et seq. Roman 15b et seq. etc. Dalm., WJ. 299-304 gives both Palestinian and Babylonian versions. Translated by Schürer, GJV. 2538 ff. See Dr. I. Elbogen, Geschichte des Achtzehngebetes, MGWJ. 46 pp. 330-357 427-439 513-530.

The discovery of a fixed scheme of construction of the opening of prayers in the Biblical books just mentioned certainly points to a stereotyped form at the time of the Men of the Great Synod. On comparing the prayers in these books with the LXX prayer of Mordecai (Est 4 17), of Manasseh, of Tobias and the intimately related Shemone 'Esre, the following scheme becomes clear. In full it is as follows:

- [(1) Historical introduction].
- (2) The address to God, usually as God of the fathers,4
- (3) An ascription of might (גבורה) to Him,5
- (4) The Lord of heaven (and earth),6
- (5) The King of kings.7
- (6) The personal prayer, sometimes introduced by a further ascription to God of the particular quality or virtue prayed for and a general praise. For instance, on comparing Daniel 2 20—23a, 1 Chr 29 10—13 and 2 Chr 20 5—7 the variations of form within the scheme are amply accounted for by the difference in character between Daniel's supplication for wisdom, David's thanks for bounty and Jehoshaphat's prayer for strength (hence 3 is desplaced in it).

C. 2 Chr 20 5ff.	B. Dan 2 19—23	A. 1 Chr 29 10—13
ויעמד יהושפם ויאמר	אדין דניאל ברך לאלה	ויברך דויד את ה' לעיני (1)
	שמיא ענה דניאל ואמר	כל הקהל ויאמר דוד
ה" אלהי אבתינו	להוא שמה די אלהא מברך
	מן עלמא ועד עלמא	ישראל אבינו מעולם
		ועד עולם
[ובידך כח וגבורה ואין עמך	די תכמתא וגבורתא די
להתיצב]		והתפארת והנצח וההוד
הלא אתה הוא אלהים	והוא מהשנא עדניא וומניא	(4) כי כל בשמים ובארץ
בשמים
ואתה מושל בכל ממלכות		(5) לך ה' הממלכה
הגוים	מלכין

 $<sup>^4</sup>$  1K 8  $_{23}$  1 Chr 29  $_{10}$  2 Chr  $_{614}$  20  $_{6}$  Neh 9  $_{5}$  15. Prayer of Manasseh. Tobit 8 5. Cf. 1 Kgs 18  $_{36}.$

7 1 Chr 29 11c 2 Chr 20 6 Dan 2 21b. Prayer of Mordecai 4. Cf. 2 K 19 15.

&lt;sup>5</sup> IK 8 23 1 Chr 29 11a 2 Chr 6 14 20 6 Dan 2 20c 9 4 Neh 15. Prayer of Mordecai 2, of Manasseh. Cf. Jer 32 17.

<sup>6 1</sup> K 8 23 1 Chr 29 11 b 2 Chr 6 14 20 6 Neh 15 9 6 [Dan 2 21 a]. Prayer of Mordecai 3, of Manasseh, of Tobias. Cf. Jer 32 17 2 K 19 15.

C. 2 Chr 29 5 ff.	B. Dan 2 19-23	A. 1 Chr 29 10—13
הלא אתה ותושיע	יהב חכמתא שרא	(6) והמתנשא לכל
		(Cf. C 5 and 3)
- In-	לך אלה אבהתי מהודא
	ומשבח אנה	אנחנו לך ומהללים
		לשם תפארתך
ועתה הנה	וכען הודעתני	וכי מי אני

In the Prayer of Mordecai (2) is missing. Shorter, but of similar character are the other prayers. For example:

1  K 8  23 = 2  Chr  6 14	Neh 1 5	Dan 9 4
ויאמר	ומתפלל לפני אלהי השמים	(1) ואתפללה לה' אלהי
	ואמר	ואתודה ואמרה
	אנא ה' (4) אלהי השמים
אין כמוך אלהים	האל הגדול והנורא	(3) האל הגדול והנורא
בשמים ממעל ועל הארץ	See (2)	(4)
מתחת	-1-1
	שמר הברית וחסד לאהביו
ההלכים לפניך בכל לבם.	ולשמרי מצותיו.	לאהביו ולשמרי מצותיו.
ועתהשמר לעבדך	תהי נא אונך	חמאנו
0.0 17 01 (77	. 11 3 3 1 111 6	1 1 1 11 36 6

Of the Shemone 'Esre, in all probability founded by the Men of the Great Synod, and finally edited under Rabban Gamliel II, we have as original elements of the scheme, perhaps in part expanded:

(2) ברוך אתה ה' אלהינו ואלהי אבותינו אלהי אברהם אלהי יצחק ואלהי יעקב

(Gen 14 יון [Pal. אל עליון [קונה שמים וארץ (4)

(5) וקונה הכל מלך

In general the first three blessings of the Shemone 'Esre are called (=2), גבורות (=3, 4, 5) and קרושות (=6).

We see here forms of blessing and prayer becoming fixed and traditional after the return from the Exile.

 $<sup>^8</sup>$  Ber  $33b_{\,12}$  Meg  $25a_{\,}^{\,21}$  Yoma  $69b_{\,16}$  J. Ber  $9_{\,1}$   $\,12d_{\,31}.$  Sifre  $343\,$  p. 142b Midr. Ps  $19_{\,2}$  p. 163. Deut  $10_{\,17}$  Neh  $9_{\,32}.$

<sup>9</sup> RH. 45 ELBOGEN, MGWJ. 46 pp. 515-519.

A fresh impetus to the development of the synagogue and its liturgy was the strong feeling and stirring activity of the Maccabean revival and the growth of the different parties in the state. The creation of the modern synagogue 10 with its rich ritual was effected by the destruction of the Temple in Jerusalem and the Jewish state by Titus, and by the diaspora. The second Temple had had its sacrificial services and its worship, the service being of a very simple character, consisting mostly of Psalms 11 and other Biblical passages. 12 But the Temple had strongly influenced the synagogue service. Tradition has it that prayers were instituted corresponding with the continual offerings תפלות כנגד תמידים תקנום Ber 26b 14. This connection is also indicated by the turning towards the Temple in prayer;13 so that when the Temple was destroyed, the synagogue service (עבודה Aboth 1 2) entirely replaced and usurped the importance of the Temple worship and its sacrificial services: גרולה תפלה יותר מן הקרבנות Ber 32b 7. The times of prayer were the times of sacrifice.14 The Targum very commonly paraphrases expressions of sacrifice by those of prayer.

In these circumstances, Cant 5 2 was homiletically explained אני I am sleeping—from sacrifice, ולבי ער but my heart is awake—for prayer. Again, I am sleeping—from the Temple, but my heart is awake—for the synagogues and study houses: לבתי כנסיות ובתי (Cant. Rab ib. p. 30 a). For inseparably bound up with the service of the synagogue had always been the service of the study <sup>11</sup> Ps 92 1 and the similar LXX titles to Ps 24 29 48 93 94 and Vulgate to 81. Hallel 113—118. Mishna Tamid 74 Mass. Soferim 18 1—3. The Psalm was known as Pla Bacher, ETT. 154 ETA. 163f.

&lt;sup>12</sup> The priestly blessing Num 6 22—27 Lev 5 5 16 21 Deut 26 3 ff. 13 ff. Mishna Tamid 5 1.

&lt;sup>13</sup> Dan 6 <sub>11</sub> 1 Kgs 8 <sub>38</sub> 42 <sub>44</sub> 48=2 Chr 6 <sub>29</sub> <sub>32</sub> <sub>34</sub> <sub>38</sub> Ber 4 <sub>5</sub>. III Esdras 4 <sub>58</sub>. Perhaps also Ps 5 <sub>8</sub> 28 <sub>2</sub> 134 <sub>2</sub>.

<sup>14</sup> Dan 9 21 Ezr 9 5 Ps 141 2 Acts 3 1 10 2-4 9 30 Koran 30 16 f.

house or lecture room בית הַמְּרָרָשׁ , בִּי מדרשׁא, בֵּי מדרשׁא, J. Meg 3 1, 73 d 32, J. Keth 13 1, 35c 15 tell that attached to every one of the 480 synagogues in Jerusalem were two schools בית ספר למקרא ובית תלמור one for Bible study and one for the traditional lore. The public reading and explanation of the Torah on Sabbaths and Festivals was to Philo<sup>16</sup>, Josephus<sup>17</sup>, the Apostle James<sup>18</sup> and the Rabbis<sup>19</sup> so primitive an institution that its origin is ascribed to Moses; and its reading on the two market days, Monday and Thursday, when the villagers collected in the towns, and on Sabbath afternoons, a time of general leisure, is ascribed to Ezra.20 The book of Deuteronomy read in the 7th year (Deut 31 10-13) is a connected address of the lawgiver (ZUNZ G. V. 3). Jer 17 19-27 is a Sabbath sermon. In Jer 36 4-13 Jeremiah dictates to Baruch an exhortation to the people to be delivered on the coming fast, in the house of the Lord (בית ה'). 2 K 4 23, Isa 1 12ff., 66 23 imply special gatherings for prayer and instruction from the Prophet on New Moons and Sabbaths. In many passages in Nehemiah 21 we hear of gatherings in which the people were instructed in the Law. The reading of a portion from the Torah (פָרָה, פָרָשָה, פָרָשָה) 22 soon became the central part of the synagogue service, and the highest importance was attached to its study and exposition in the בית המדרש. Shema'ya and Abtalyon, heads of the Sanhedrin 60-35 B. C. are called interpreters, expositors, preachers (Pes 70 b 13).24 In Hillel's בית מדרשא sometimes occurs בי מברשא 51 בי מברשא בית מדרשא 52. For בי מברשא בי sometimes occurs מברשא alone, Levy TWB. II 12b. The public lecture of general instruction was called פַּרְקָא Bacher, ETA. 164.

<sup>16</sup> De Opificio Mundi. De Septennario 6.

<sup>17</sup> Contra Ap. 218 and Antiq. 1624. 18 Acts 1521.

ייקהל J. Meg. 4 1 75a 19 BK. 82a 18 Soferim 10 1 p. 143 f. Yalkut I 408 to ייקהל beginning. Mech. בשלח 18b.

&lt;sup>20</sup> J. Meg. 4<sub>1</sub> 75a <sup>21</sup> BK. 82a <sup>9</sup> <sup>17</sup> Soferim 10<sub>2</sub>.

<sup>21</sup> Neh 81-9 13 ff. 18 131-3 9 3.

<sup>22</sup> The פְּרָשֶׁה or סְּרָה is the regular weekly section. The פָּרָשֶׁה, pl. אָבָּרֶשִׁי, Aram. בְּרָשֶׁה is the weekly section or more generally any section. But see Bacher, ETT. 130f. 160ff., ETA. 133 ff. 169f.

&lt;sup>23</sup> Compare the application of Prov 28 9 in Shab 10a  $^{17}$  and Philo's opinion quoted by Schür., GJV. 2527. On the meaning of פרט see Levy, NHWB., Schür., GJV. 2392, Bacher, ETT. 25f. ETA. 41f.

&lt;sup>24</sup> Ben Zoma was also a famous דרשן; so much so, that it was said of him (Sota 9 והרשנים במלו הדרשנים, Further Bacher, ETT. 27.

time, this public exposition—מדרש was usual everywhere 25 and the Acts of the Apostles shows us a like custom in Ephesus, Athens, Damascus, Corinth etc. 26 In fact everywhere throughout the diaspora the custom of studying the law and the prophets and expounding them on Sabbaths and Festivals was the same. ילכו מחיל אל חיל (Ps 84 s) 'they go from strength to strength' is applied to those who go from the synagogue to the study house 27 to hear the הלכה legal study, or the הלכה homiletic, didactic teaching freely developed from a Scriptural text.

These Aggadic discourses were held regularly on Sabbaths <sup>30</sup> and Festivals and often every morning. <sup>31</sup> When a selection from the Prophets was read, the Aggada usually started from it <sup>32</sup> and seized upon its Messianic features for elaboration. The Targumim are witness how a Messianic coloring was given to the text on every possible opportunity. In times of unparalleled hardship, best exemplified by the Hadrianic persecutions, the people turned to the Aggada for hope and consolation. Even Halachic study usually closed with hopeful Aggada <sup>33</sup>; and the principle of closing with auspicious words,—a אור מובר מוב (J. Meg 3 s, 74b <sub>25</sub>) plays an important rôle even in the minutely prosaic Masora, where the division of the paragraphs often seems to be influenced by it, just

 $<sup>^{25}</sup>$  Matth 4  $_{23} = 9 \ _{35} \ 13 \ _{54} \ \text{Mark} \ 1 \ _{21 \ 39} \ 6 \ _{2} \ \text{Luke} \ 4 \ _{15} \ \text{et} \ \text{seq.} \ _{32} \ _{44} \ 6 \ 6 \ 13 \ _{10} \ _{20} $

<sup>26</sup> Acts 13 14 f. 49 9 20 14 1 135 18 19 26 4 198 17 17 10 1-3 1 Cor 14 27 f.

&lt;sup>27</sup> Targ. ib. Ber 9 end 64a MK. 3 end 29a.

<sup>28</sup> See BACHER, ETT. 42, ETA. 53 ff.

<sup>29</sup> Bacher, JQR. IV 406—429. £TT. 33 ff., £TA. 44. The form "Aggada" used in this essay, does not actually occur, אגרתא being the regular Aramaic term. The form 'Aggada' is used to distinguish it from Haggada in the specialized meaning "the service of the Passover eve."

&lt;sup>30</sup> Acts 13 14 27 42 44 J. Sota 1 4 16d 31 R. Meir lectured כל לילי שבא

&lt;sup>31</sup> Kol Bo § 14 שהיה מנהג קומונינו לדרוש בכל שחרית. The fragmentary remains of the Targum paraphrase in the prayer ונא לציון point in the same direction.

&lt;sup>32</sup> Luke 4 16 et seq. Acts 13 14—16 27 and in the early Church the sermon regularly followed the Bible reading. G. Klein in the Zeitschrift f. d. neutestamentliche Wissenschaft.. VII, 1906 traces the whole of the Paternoster back to Ezek 36 23-31. Compare the construction of the Pesikta Midrashim.

<sup>33</sup> Mishna Ber., Peah, Yoma, Sota, Macc., Eduy., Menach., Hull., Tamid. MK. 39 and Taan 48 are hopeful Messianic seals to tractates dealing with sinister subjects.

as the repetition of the penultimate verses of Isaiah, Malachi, Lamentations and Ecclesiastes is due to the same influence (Soferim 12 2 p. 161).

The discourse (מְדְרָשׁ , בְּרָשׁא), divided into (1) פָּתָחָא or פַּתְּחָה, introduction<sup>34</sup>, (2) דרשא the exposition itself and (3) אפמרתא <sup>35</sup> the resumé and conclusion, especially in the אפטרתא, was characterised by words of comfort from the Messianic promise, somewhat similarly to the prayer that followed the sermon in the early church. This conclusion, in nature related to the blessing following the reading of the Torah (Meg 4 2) or its study (Ber 11 b 26), being usually a Messianic praise or prayer of more or less fixed form, served at the same time as a sign of the close of the address. In Levit. Rab. for instance, 25 out of the 37 chapters end with a Messianic passage and 3 with a prayer (Zunz, G. V. 191/2). The name אפטרה, הכטרה, as "missa", means the dismissal formula,36 and particular homilists (הָכָם, דּוֹרָשׁ, דָּרוֹשָׁא, דָרְשָׁן) seem to have had formulae which in the course of time became crystallized into fixed forms: e. g. the Meturgeman of R. Yudan always closed his words with the same prayer: יהי רצון ... ה' יודן בי לעשות לעשות תשובה ... ר' יודן בי ישמעאל קבע ליה לאמוריה 38 דיימר בתר פרשתא כן (J. Ber 42, 7d 16).

<sup>34</sup> The regular phrase for beginning a homiletic discourse or address is ר' ברבריו זים ברוח ואמר זים פלוני פתח בריו דים דבריו ברוח בריו שלוני פתח שלוני פתח (Ps 119 ומס) was later sometimes replaced by פתח פיו BACHER, ETT. 162 f. ETA. 174 ff.

<sup>35</sup> Bacher, ETA. 15 denies that אפטרתא bears this meaning. According to him אומטרא is a whole parting address. The early Tannaitic term for closing a discourse is החה, the conclusion being called the החה. The later term found in the Babylonian Talmud is סיום. Bacher, ETT. 65, ETA. 69 137 f. האה is the concluding formula in prayer. סיומא is also used of closing a Midrashic address Bacher, ETA. 58, Levy, NHWB. gives סיומא, BB. 22a in the sense of the close of a lecture.

<sup>36 2</sup> Chr 23 8. Compare the common use of מיהוו מפטר מר parting,—מיהוו מפטר מר מפטר מר Ger 17a 6 3 Taan 5b 7 Yoma 71a 9 Ber 64a 16 Exod 18 27 J I. Further Levy, NHWB. Zunz, GV. 367/9. Ber 4 2 gives a prayer of R. Nehunya b. ha Kana on leaving the בית המרוש.

<sup>37</sup> דרשן Bacher, ETT. 27, דּרוּשָׁא ib. 28, דְּרוּשָׁא ETA. 43 where it is pointed out that רושים occurs as plural of דרושים, and the plural דרשיא occurs in this meaning, pointing to a sing. דַרָשׁ.

&lt;sup>38</sup> אמורא a synonym of מתורגמן) Babyl. or חורגמנא Palest. Rashi on Yoma 20b, Pes 50b<sub>12</sub> Hag 14a<sub>16</sub> Meg 23b<sub>1</sub> 24a <sup>4</sup> MK. 21a<sub>17</sub> Keth 8b <sup>16</sup> Sota 37b <sub>25</sub>

One such doxology that came into regular use is the first paragraph of the Kaddish with the response of the congregation, forming the original Kaddish, the Kaddish proper (Zunz, G. V. 372/85).

The Kaddish is in origin a closing doxology to an Aggadic discourse, as is clear from the following passages:

- $(A)^{39}$  אמאי קא מקיים? אקרושא דסידרא ואיהא שמיה רבא עלמא עלמא עלמא עלמא אמאי קא מקיים? אקרושא דסידרא Raba (320-375) asks "Upon what does the world rest? On the Torah and the response י' ש' of the Aggada", i. e. on the Torah study of the חלמידי חכמים, the learned in the law, and the Aggadic instruction of the people (Herzfeld, Gesch. des Volkes Isr. 2 206).
- (B) 40 A heavenly echo (בת קול) cries out from a ruin to R. Jose b. Ḥalafta (2nd cent.) in comfort for the Hadrianic persecution בשעה שישראל עושין רצונו של מקום ונכנסין לבתי כנסיות ולבתי מדרשות בשעה שישראל עושין רצונו של מקום ונכנסין לבתי כנסיות ולובתי מדרשות ועונין יהא שמיה רבא מברך הקדוש ברוך הוא מנענע ראשו ואומר . אשרי "When Israel perform the will of Heaven by gathering in the synagogues and study houses and respond ישר"מ, the Holy One, blessed be He, shakes His head and says . . . . 'Happy is the King to Whom such praises are offered in His house.'"
- $(C)^{41}$  According to R. Ishmael, God is truly glorified in his world בשעה שישראל נאספין בבתי מדרשות ושומעין אגדה מפי חכם ואחר C "When Israel assemble in the Kid 31b <sub>7</sub> Ḥul 142a <sub>2</sub> Sanh 7b <sup>21</sup>. On the forms (for 'מרג') Barth, NB. § 190d, note 2, p. 310. Bacher (Die älteste Terminologie der jüd. Schriftauslegung) ETT. p. 206 note 2.

39 Sota 49a 26. The קרושה—Isa 63 Ezek 312 Exod 1518 = Ps 14610 of the סררא, study house, lecture room, is embodied in the prayer יבא לציון connected with the study at the end of the service. The occurrence of Exod 1518 instead of Ps 14610 points to the time before the existence of a Targum to the Psalms that early he described the start when the st that could be drawn upon as official and generally recognised.

<sup>40</sup> Ber 3a <sub>5</sub> the text according to Dikduke Soferim. All the old texts read the pure Aramaic form יהא שמיה רבא מברך, Amram the full response including נוסחאות. But Abudarham found the Hebrew text in old and correct copies (ישנות ומדייקות). The mixed reading of the editions יהא שמיה הנדול מבורך הא שמיה הנדול מבורך הא שמיה Solomon Luria (1534—72). Shibbole ha-Leket (ed. Buber) quotes יהא שמו הנדול מבורך. Samuel Edels (1555—1631) corrects the reading of the editions to יהא שמו הנדול מבורך is often used in Hebrew texts.

<sup>41</sup> Midr. Prov. to 14 28 ed. Buber p. 75. Yalkut II to Prov. ib. 951. Cf. Yalk. I 408 beg. to יקהל. Amram I 12b.

study houses to hear the Aggada from a preacher and respond afterwards אישר"מ."

- שבשעה שהזקן יושב ודורש ועונין אחריו אמן יהי שמו הגדול מבורך <sup>12</sup> שנותיו של שבשעה שהזקן יושב ודורש ועונין אחריו אמן יהי שמו הגדול כל עונותיו "When the preacher expounds God's word and they respond after him, even though punishment decrees of a hundred years should be standing against him, the Holy One, blessed be He, forgives him all his sins."
- (E) עומד זרובבל עומד שמטיים ההגדה) עומד זרובבל read as Yalkut) וכיון שמגיע לאגדא פיין אמן דיין אמן אמן אמן אמן אמן "And when he closes his Aggadic address, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel stands up and says . . . יתגדל ויתקדש to which they all answer Amen."
- אומר דוד אגדה לפני הקב"ה ועונין אחריו הצדיקים אמן יהא שמיה 144 אומר דוד אגדה לפני הקב"ה ועונין אחריו הצדיקים אמן ישראל עונין אמן מתוך גיהנם "David holds an Aggadic discourse before the Holy One, blessed be He, and the righteous respond to it out of the garden of Eden with אישר"ם, and the transgressors of Israel answer Amen from Gehinnom."
- (G)  $^{45}$  At the election of the Exilarch (ריש גלותא): כשהוא גומר  $^{15}$  (פרושו] מתחיל בבעיא ואומר ברם צריך את למילף. ועומד זקן אחד חכם ורגיל  $^{15}$  (דרושו מתחיל בבעיא ואומר ברם צריך את  $^{15}$  (When he has completed his discourse ..., ... the Hazan stands and recites the Kaddish."

<sup>42</sup> Midr. Eccl. to 9 14 f. p. 25c.

&lt;sup>43</sup> Alphabet of R. Akiba 1st recension Jell., BH. III 27. Yalkut II 428 to Isa 26 2 in the name of Resh Lakish (3rd cent.).

&lt;sup>44</sup> Pseudo TBEZ. 20 end = Pirke de R. Eleazar 2. Jell., BH. V 46. Amram I 13b.

&lt;sup>45</sup> Sefer ha-Yuḥasin 123c of Abraham b. Samuel Zacuto 1504 describing the election of the Exilarch in Gaonic times.

&lt;sup>46</sup> Roman rite p. 107b 115b etc. Mahzor Vitry, Romanian rite, LAGARDE, Proph. Chald. p. 493, Rite of Fez, Genizah fragments etc. Zunz, Lit. Gesch. 79.

מלכנו מלכנו (Amram 9a), gives support from internal evidence to this identification of the Kaddish with the closing prayer of Aggadic lectures. The name קדיש, too, apparently means the holy part, the doxology as contrasted with the less sacred character of the preceding Aggada [Appendix A Page 100].

The Kaddish is still used in one form as a closing prayer. But it has also become, by a curious development, a mourner's prayer [Appendix B Page 101], and in its character of a liturgical doxology, a synagogue prayer with responses, recited at the close of different sections of the service [Appendix C Page 107].

Written prayer manuals began to supersede the older system of recitation by heart probably by the 7th century; and in the chief of these early written records of the liturgy, Massecheth Soferim, the Kaddish already holds an assured place in the synagogue service.

In the middle ages in Spain, and to some extent in France under Spanish influence, the great religious poets such as Yehuda ha-Levi, Abraham ibn Ezra, Isaac Giat embellished the Kaddish with sublime poetical introductions <sup>47</sup>; whereas the Cabbalists glorified it by weaving around it a vast web of mystic lore, and by searching out deep import even in the number of letters or words in the response or in the seven praises. <sup>48</sup> It has also been parodied. <sup>49</sup>

Thus the Kaddish has become in itself the three pillars upon which the world stands (Aboth 1 2): התורה as the doxology of the study house, העבודה as an integral part of the synagogue service and נמילות חסדים as the mourner's prayer for the dead.

THE LANGUAGE AND DATE OF THE KADDISH.

The original paragraph of the Kaddish and its response are composed in Aramaic. The following words, however, from יתכרך to יהא שלמא are Hebrew. The paragraph יהא שלמא in its present form

49 Dr. Davidson, Parody in Jewish Literature pp. 147. 197. 199.

&lt;sup>47</sup> ZUNZ, Ritus and Lit. Gesch. passim. Nachtrag 13 56 60. Kohut in MG WJ. 1893 XXXVIII 443 prints a poem from the מדרש הנדול that shows many influences from the Kaddish.

אפלאל E. g. in the commentary of the printed Yemenite prayer book תכלאל Jerusalem 1894. Peri Ez Ḥayyim of Vital שער הקרישים.

CALIFORNI

is a composite of Aramaic and Hebrew, and the closing verse עושה is entirely Hebrew.

It is only natural that the doxology to a discourse held in the vernacular, should be also in the vernacular. In the lecture room, and synagogue as a lecture room, Aramaic largely held sway. In Greek, Latin or Persian speaking Jewish colonies, these local vernaculars naturally were used. But with these languages we are not here concerned, as the Jews speaking them played little or no part in the development of Jewish tradition and synagogue institutions. The vernacular in question is Aramaic. Roughly speaking, during the millenium between the period of Ezra and the spread of Arabic through the conquests of Islam, it was the mother tongue of the Jews of Palestine, Syria and Babylon, who constituted not only the vast majority of Jewry, but that part which handed on and developed the traditions of Jewish learning and study.

Neglecting all other considerations, the linguistic character of the older Midrashim bears witness to this use of Aramaic in the lecture house. In the oldest Midrashim, Genesis Rabba, Leviticus Rabba, Lamentations Rabba, Canticles Rabba and the Pesiktas, the proportion of Aramaic to Hebrew is very large. It is very considerable also in Ruth Rabba, Esther Rabba, Ecclesiastes Rabba and Midrash Psalms. Many of the later Midrashim are to some extent Hebrew recensions of an earlier Aramaic text. Hence it is easily intelligible that the Kaddish as a doxology to a Midrashic address is in Aramaic. The tradition possessed by the Talmud glossators (Tosafists) of the 12th and 13th centuries noted by them on the passage B (Page 8 Ber 3a), rightly explains the language of the Kaddish in accordance with this fact.

In the synagogue the vernacular was also in use for the translation and study of the Torah. The section of the law and of the prophets that was read was translated or paraphrased, giving rise to the Aramaic ארנום, which in the time of the Mishna<sup>2</sup> was an old and firmly settled institution. The final redaction of the Targumim³ is only the crystallization in writing of a late stage of a tradition that goes back many centuries earlier. For the origin of the custom of translating the Bible readings into the vernacular must be sought in the early times of the second Temple. In fact it may be assumed to have arisen as soon as the necessity arose for it.⁴ The record of the dying words of Jesus, (Mark 15 34) 'Eλωὶ ἐλωὶ λεμὰ σαβαχθανεί indicate that the Bible was most familiar and came most readily to him in its Aramaic garb. In the synagogues at the beginning of the Christian era the use of a Targum was everywhere in vogue.⁵ The necessity for this translation into the vernacular was the more urgent since in addition to the אום סדים (ἰδιώτης) 6 women and children formed a large part of the congregation. In some cases the Targum was added especially in their interest. 7

&lt;sup>1</sup> Acts 14 <sub>1</sub> 17 <sub>12</sub> 18 <sub>4</sub> 1 Cor 1 <sub>23</sub>. Schür., GJV. III 93 ff. L. Blau, Zur Einleitung in die heilige Schrift.—Jahresbericht d. Landes-Rabbinerschule in Budapest 1894, p. 84 et seq. esp. pp. 87f. 97.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Meg. 4 4 6 9 10 T. Meg. 4 20 f. 31—41 227 5 ff. On the form D. B. NB. § 188c p. 302, Bacher, ETT. 204 ff., ETA. 242 ff., Assyrian ragâmi call st

Much of the old Aramaic of the Synagogue liturgy naturally grew up around the Aramaic paraphrase; but in the domain of pure liturgy Aramaic prayers are by no means uncommon, even cry. But see Delitzsch, Assyr. Lex. 713 (from רנם) and Muss-Arnolt, Assyr. Engl.-Deutsches Handwörterbuch p. 1191 f.

<sup>3</sup> Onkelos 3rd cent. Jonathan to the Prophets 4th cent. Pseudo Jonathan to the Pentateuch (J I, J II, J III) 7th—8th cent.

<sup>4</sup> Even though מְּכֹּרְשׁ Neh 8 s is not a certain reference to the Targum as Rab 219—257 CE. (Meg 3a  $^{21}$  Ned 37b  $^{14}$  J. Meg 4  $_1$  74d  $_{29}$  Gen Rab 36 end) explains it, the antiquity of the custom of interrupting with a Targum is beyond all dispute.

&lt;sup>5</sup> In Luke 4 16 et seq. no mention is made of a translation. But we need not assume the existence of an Aramaic roll from which the original reading was made as does Arnold Meyer, Jesu Muttersprache 57f. The translation added to the verses read may be passed over as not needing special mention. Or the omission may be an inaccuracy in the account as given by the gentile Luke, who, be it noted, cites the verses in the form they take in the LXX. The authenticity of the whole passage is strongly attacked on internal and external grounds by Keim, Geschichte Jesu II 18—22.

<sup>6</sup> Acts 4 13 ἄνθρωποι ἀγράμματοί, καὶ ἰδιῶται; Pesh. Η το το δίνος δίνος

<sup>8</sup> E. g. in the Mahzor Vitry 158-173. Zunz, Lit. Gesch. 74-80.

when we leave out of consideration later compositions such as בריך taken from the Zohar to ויקהל, and the poetical pieces for special days excerpted from the Targum and Midrash. For when Arabic became the vernacular, Aramaic became a second holy tongue, so much religious literature being composed in it. It is to some extent regarded as such at the present day, and among the Jews of Yemen the employment of the Targum is a living institution. Their prayer book, also, contains a larger proportion of Aramaic than is found in other rituals.

When Arabic was the vernacular, Arabic prayers were included in the liturgy, e. g. in Seadya's Siddur. In the same way we have many old and originally Aramaic pieces in the prayer book. In the service of the priests of the second Temple, Aramaic was probably used, as Prof. Büchler has shown. 10 So too, in the later synagogue, in matters affecting the congregation [e. g. יקום פורקו.], or the individual (e. g. אור אסותא 12 מצלאין אנחנא 13, מחי ומסי בורך מרוה אסותא פרני, מחי ומסי בורך מרוה להאסותא בריך מרוה להאסותא בריך מרוה להאסותא להאסותא להאטות האסותא להאטות האסותא להאטות האסותא להאטות האסות האסות

For the most part, and by preference however, the synagogue service was made up of Hebrew prayers, as Hebrew the לשון הַקרַשׁ ,

<sup>9</sup> Zunz, Lit. Gesch. 21f.

&lt;sup>10</sup> Prof. Adolf Büchler, Die Priester und Cultus p. 60-67 and the criticism of S. Krauss, JQR. VIII 670.

<sup>11</sup> Mahzor Vitry. p. 172 388 etc.

<sup>12</sup> Amr. I 52b. In the rite of Cochin p. 22b it is included in an elaboration of the Kaddish as follows: תשתלח אסותא רפואה דחיי ודרחמי מן קדם קודשא בריך הוא אסותא רפואה דחיי ודרחמי מן קדם לאסותא דישראל וַיִּמְסִי מן קדַמוֹהִי לחיים ולשלום לאסְאה יתכון וּלרַחֲמָא עליכון ולכל מַאן דצריך לאסותא דישראל וַיִּמְסִי מן קדַמוֹהִי לחיים ולשלום ייתין שמעין מובין על מקדשא ועל הַיְּכְלא ועל אתרא This is followed by ייתין שמעין מובין על מקדשא ועל הַיְּכָלא ועל אתרא קריב וא"א קריב וא"א.

<sup>13</sup> Amram II 21b.

<sup>14</sup> Ber 40b 22.

<sup>15</sup> Zunz, Lit. Gesch. 18f. Nachtrag 1.

&lt;sup>16</sup> E. g. the litany רחמנא Amram II 19b 20a, מרן רבשמיא Amram II 21a, מרן רבשמיא ib. 21a. רעני ל—... ענינן

naturally took precedence over Aramaic, the לשון 18 the language of the lõιώτης, the unlearned. The permission given by the early authorities, recorded in the Mishna 20, the grace after food, the Shemone 'Esre or the Shema' may be said in any language, did not always find favor. A certain R. Levi wished to prevent the reading of the Shema' in Greek in Caesarea, 21 and R. Yohanan (d. 279 C. E.) is of opinion that he who prays in Aramaic must dispense with the favoring help of the angels who do not understand Aramaic. 22 This idea that the angels do not understand Aramaic was generally taken up and applied in various ways during the middle ages to account for the Kaddish being in Aramaic 23 when the origin of the prayer and the cause of its being in the vernacular had become obscured. But the truer reason was not altogether forgotten, and permission was given to say the Kaddish in the language best understood if Aramaic was not understood.24

To be accurate, a distinction must be drawn between the vernacular and the language of the Kaddish. The vernacular, the Jewish Aramaic spoken by the people, preserved in the Talmuds and Midrashim in conversations, anecdotes, proverbs and popular parlance generally, whether Babylonian or Palestinian, is very different from the language of the Kaddish. The Kaddish, as the doxology to an Aggadic address, partakes linguistically of the peculiarities of the language used by the homilist. As the preacher's words were woven around Biblical verses, he spoke the preacher's words were woven around Biblical verses, he spoke the preacher's words were by Hebraic phrases and constructions as much as is Aquila's Greek. Cleomedes mocks at the bad Greek spoken in the synagogues. 25 The

 $^{\rm 19}$  B. M. 104a  $_{\rm 21}$  etc. of Hillel, R. Jehuda, R. Meir and R. Joshua b. Korha it is related היה דורש לשון הריום.

<sup>20</sup> Sota 7 1. Cf. Meg. 2 1 Sofer 18 4.
21 J. Sota 7 1 21b 15.

 $<sup>^{22}</sup>$  Sota 33a Shab 12b  $^{12}$  R. Yohanan however warns against disparaging Aramaic J. Sota 7  $_2$  21c  $^9\cdot$

&lt;sup>23</sup> Mahzor Vitry p. 54f. quoted by the Tosafoth (Scholiasts) to Ber 3a. Tur Orah Hayyim § 56. Orchoth Hayyim, ha Manhig, Abudarham, Rashi etc. etc.

&lt;sup>24</sup> שאלות ותשובות דבר שמואל 321. Schürer, GJV. III 95 note 18.

Aramaic of the synagogues was of the same nature, and it is in this hebraizing, literary, jargon Aramaic of the Targumim that the Kaddish is composed. It is as far removed from the popular Babylonian Jewish Aramaic as is the school language of Onkelos and of the Targum to the Prophets; and it is as unlike the North Palestinian (Galilean) popular language preserved in the Palestinian Talmud and Midrashim as is the mixed Aramaic of the Jerusalem Targum. In Kid. 70a, the distinction is drawn between and Jerusalem Targum. In Kid. 70a, the distinction is drawn between School language of the Targum. It is in grammar and vocabulary colorless enough to have been used harmoniously both in the East (Onkelos) and in the West (Jerusalem Targum); it is however more nearly akin to the language of the Targum to the Prophets (= Onkelos) than to any other dialect; and every word and phrase in it can be abundantly paralleled in the Babylonian Targumim.

As Christian Aramaic was influenced by Greek, Jewish Aramaic, even in the 5th century B. C.<sup>27</sup>, was influenced by Hebrew, and none more so than that of the Targum. The Kaddish, however, owing to the accident of its form, presents no occasion for the occurrence of hebraizing constructions characteristic of the Targum <sup>28</sup>, and shows its hebraizing character only in its vocabulary. In this, it, like the passages of the Aggada, varies between Aramaic and Hebrew.

This fragmentary interchange of languages is far from being of isolated occurrence in the oldest Jewish liturgical prayers. According to one authority, the high priest on the Day of Atonement prayed .... מלא יערי עביר שולמן מרבית יהודה ולא יהיו עמך ישראל צריכין לפרנסה In the ancient profession of faith following the recital of the Shema' there is a heaping of paired synonyms for the sake of emphasis, the synonyms being in three cases hebraizing and aramaizing $<sup>^{26}</sup>$  A distinction is drawn between מון בני אדם and מון בני אדם in Jer. Erub 1 20d  $^{27}$  Jer. Ned 6  $_1$  39c  $^{32}$  Jer. Shebu 7  $_1$  37c  $_2$ 5, and between לשון חורה and  $^{11}$ 6 AZ. 58b  $^{14}$  Hul 137b  $^{11}$ .

&lt;sup>27</sup> Sayce-Cowley, Egyptian Papyri p. 20, Nöldeke, Zeitschrift für Assyriologie XX ('07) p. 137.

<sup>28</sup> Enumerated Dalman, WJ. 66.

&lt;sup>29</sup> Yoma 53b <sup>21</sup>. The Aramaic is the Onkelos Targum to Gen 49 10. Compare the sayings in לשון הדיום BM. 104a.

respectively 30 . . אמת ויציב. ונכון וקים . . ואהוב וחביב. The prayer סנינו ל-... ענינו, of the same form as that found in the ancient record of Taan 2 4 מי שענה .. ענינו is another case in point. Into this Aramaic framework is put sometimes a Hebrew, sometimes an Aramaic filling. The opening verses are entirely Aramaic. Then ענינן בהר המוריה ענינן (also in the Mishna) is immediately followed by דעני ליצחק על גבי מדבחא ענינן. This is followed by more Hebrew fillings e. g. דעני למשה אבינו על ים סוף עניגן. But the two based upon the Aramaic narrative of Daniel are again Aramaic דעני לדניאל בגובא די and דעני לחנניה מישאל ועזריה בגו אתון נורא ענינן אריותא ענינן The old prayer דכירין למוב included in an elaboration of the Kaddish in the ritual of Cochin 32, shows the same phenomenon דכירין למוב ועוד יהיה דוכרנכון למוב לשם מוב לרוממה לקרן זקופה לאצלח דעובדין מבין לכל קהלא קדישא הדין מרברביכון ועד זעיריכון מלכא דעלמא יברך יתכון ויפש יתכון ויסגי יתכון וישמע לקול צלותכון ויעיק למעיקיכון ויכנש מבדרינכון וישיצי כל דחקיכון ויבנה מקדשא בחייכון חברים כל בית ישראל . Similarly in the later Hebrew prayer for the dead (אשכבתא השכבה) put together from older elements 33 מלפני שוכן מעונה... וחולקא טבא לחיי העולם הבא שם הַהָא מנת ומחיצת וישיבת נפש .... בגן עדן דאתפטר מן עלמא הדין כרעות אלהא מרא שמיא וארעא. המלך . . . The Hebrew prayer for the congregation, as contained in the Spanish ritual 34 contains two and a half lines of Aramaic.

<sup>30</sup> Tamid 5 1 Ber 12a 7 11b 12 14a 2 GASTER 29 BAER 84.

<sup>31</sup> Amram II 21a. 32 Cochin p. 23b Zunz, Lit. Gesch. 19.

<sup>33</sup> Yemen MSS. Gaster 200 Landshuth, Bikkur Holim p. 102. Zunz, Nachtrag Lit. Gesch. p. 1.

34 Gaster p. 112.

 $<sup>^{35}</sup>$  J. Sanh.  $^{65},\,23b$   $_{3}.$  Compare the use in Hebrew of words like אח, תהא , הום, שום , הידי, , פום , הידי, , פום , שום

<sup>36</sup> Onkelos and Akylas p. 88. Kautzsch, Die Aramaismen im alten Testament p. 12 describes it as "ein Idiom.. in dem hebräische und aramäische Ele-Wortschatzes ist in seinen Sprachformen und Redensarten hebraisiertes Aramäisch". Even in the carefully chosen language of the Palestinian פיומים, the synagogue poetry from c. 650 C. E. onward, organically developed from this Neo-Hebrew, there is a wealth of hebraized Aramaic. 37 But this combination took place only between the intimately related Hebrew and Aramaic. The large Greek vocabulary of the Midrash was felt to be foreign, and is practically non-existent in the Piut. 38 This phenomenon of the interchangeable use of the two languages, minimises the difficulty of the composite linguistic character of the books of Daniel and Ezra, by analogy from an era little subsequent to the date when these two books received their final form. It should be noted that the book of Daniel is an unity. No artificial, makeshift theory, whether it be that of the Aramaic being for the people, the Hebrew for the learned; or that the "Chaldeans" should speak "Chaldee"; or that the Aramaic is translated from a Hebrew original, or the Hebrew from an Aramaic original; or that the text is composite by an accident of its history, or any other hypothesis, succeeds in explaining the absolutely abrupt change in 24, for which no satisfactory reason can be given, on the one hand, and the inclusion of chapter 7 in Aramaic on the other. The analogies here given make the simplest explanation probable, namely that the composite character is original. 39

Genizah fragments of the Kaddish show interchanges between Aramaic and Hebrew other than in the traditional text, and Solomon b. Adereth (13th cent.) refers to partial translations into Hebrew. In the fragment published by S. Schechter 40 the text is, as usual, Aramaic mente zu einer Einheit verschmolzen waren." Dr. Elbogen, JQR. XIX 1907, p. 246 finds it impossible to account for the juxtaposition of אמת ויציב. In view of the above it hardly requires explanation.

&lt;sup>37</sup> Lists in Zunz Synag. Poesie, Beilage 5, p. 372. Cf. Ibn Ezra's commentary to Eccl 5 1 the second head of the indictment.

<sup>38</sup> Of course this does not apply to words which were thoroughly naturalised as מימן, פים, סימן, פים פים.

&lt;sup>39</sup> This suggestion originally put forward by Reusch, Einleitung in das Alte Testament <sup>4</sup> 1870 p. 118 has since been practically lost sight of in the mass of complicated theories brought forward in the last thirty years. Jer 10 11 is difficult to account for. Later examples Steinschneider JQR XVI 382.

<sup>40</sup> GDK. Hebrew part p. 53.

משיחיה משיחיה. Then follows in Hebrew בחיי רבנו אביתר הכהן לי שיבת נאון יעקב ובחיי רבינו שלמה הכהן אב הישיבה ובחיי רבנו צדוק השלישי ישיבת נאון יעקב ובחיי רבינו שלמה הכהן אב הישיבה ובחיי רבנו צדוק השלישי.... The whole of the second paragraph is Hebrew שמו של הברכות השירות התשבחות מלך מלכי המלכים ברוך הוא למעלה ולמעלה מכל הברכות השירות התשבחות והנחמות בעולם כרצונו ואמרו אמן שמיה דקדשא בריך הוא למעלה So too, in Castile in the 14th century, the customary reading was מכל הברכות...

In a second Genizah fragment  $^{43}$ , there is also a Hebrew honorific insertion יוצמח פורקניה) בחיי נשאנו ראש הגולה ובחיי ראש הישיבה בחיי כל כל (!) ישראל ישראל; and the concluding words אייכון פריב מענלה ובזמן קריב may also be intended for Hebrew—note כל ,בענלה ובזמן קריב , דכל for קריב , דכל pfor קריב , דכל as in the former fragment. So too of the honorific insertions  $^{44}$  יובחייכון ובחיי דרבנא משה בר מיימון ובחיי דכל בית  $^{45}$  סרל בחייכון וביומיכון בחיי נשיאנו ראש גלות ובחייכון ובחיי דכל בית  $^{45}$  בחייכון וביומיכון בחיי נשיאנו ראש גלות ובחייכון ובחיי דכל בית  $^{45}$  וביומיכון בחיי נשיאנו ראש גלות ובחייכון ובחיי דכל בית  $^{45}$

It will be noticed that in nearly every case, the transition of language between word and word is facilitated by a proper name or some other word or words common to both Aramaic and Hebrew פל בית ישראל, הוא, ובחיי etc., and between phrase and phrase it is generally effected after a pause.

The question arises whether the Kaddish ever existed in a completely Hebrew form. In Massecheth Soferim 46 a prayer said while the roll of the Torah is taken from the Ark is given as follows: על הכל יתגדל ויתקדש וישתבח ויתפאר ויתרומם ויתנשא ויתעלה ברוך הוא ויתהדר ויתהלל הנכבד והנורא שמו של מלך מלכי המלכים הקדוש ברוך הוא בעולמות שברא העולם הזה והעולם הבא כרצונו וכרצון כל יראיו וכרצון כל עמו בית ישראל תנָּלה ותַראה מלכותו עלינו במהרה ובזמן קרוב והוא יבנה ביתו בימינו ויחון פלימתנו ופלימת עמו ישראל בהמון רחמיו וכרוב חסדיו בשלום בחן בימינו ויחון פלימתנו ופלימת עמו ישראל בהמון רחמיו וכרוב חסדיו בשלום אמן . ובחסד וברחמים המקום הוא יעשה עמנו בעבור שמו הגדול ואמרו אמן

<sup>41</sup> Head of the Jews of Egypt in the second half of the 11th cent. See D. Kaufmann, Jahrbuch für jüd. Gesch. u. Literat. Berlin 1898 p. 149f.

<sup>42</sup> Brit. Mus. Or. 5866 a 14th cent. MS. Gaster, Isach Hassan MS. Laur. II 16. Tur Orah Hayyim 56.
43 GDK. Hebrew part p. 54.

<sup>44</sup> Sefer ha Yuḥasin ed. Filipowski p. 219.

<sup>45</sup> Ib. at the election of the Exilarch.

<sup>46</sup> Sof. 1412 text according to Müller p. 196.

is clearly an expanded Hebrew version of a formula similar to the Kaddish, in style later than the more simple and direct language of the Kaddish. Note for instance the Midrashic expansion of העולמות into העולם הוה והעולם הוא The occurrence of the Hebrew form of the response יהי שמו הגדול מבורך לעולם ולעולמי עולמים in Midr. Eccl. Rabba p. 25c to 9 14f. (D) and 23 times in Eliahu Rabba and Zutta, cannot be urged as a proof of the existence of the Kaddish in a Hebrew version. M. Friedmann 47, however, concludes from this that the Kaddish was originally in Hebrew and was only later translated into Aramaic. But this judgment is based upon the early date (3rd cent.) to which he assigns this Midrash against the views of all other authorities e. g. RAPOPORT (Nathan b. Jehiel), ZUNZ G. V. 112/119, GRAETZ, DEREN-BOURG, GÜDEMANN, BACHER etc. who assign it to 968-984 C. E. (about 974). This date on the other hand is probably far too late, it being perhaps that of the copyist, and the compilation of the Midrash should perhaps be assigned to the 5th or 6th century. Moreover both in Midr. Eccl. and in T. B. E. R. and Z., this Hebrew version of the response occurs in a Hebrew text, and is therefore naturally in Hebrew in harmony with the rest of the text. We shall see later that in T. B. E. R. and Z. it is not correctly described as the response to the Kaddish, and also that the formula was used equally in Aramaic and Hebrew. Furthermore the occurrence of the Aramaic form in Hebrew texts, 48 would support just the opposite assumption of the originality of the Aramaic text as the Kaddish response. The old traditional name of the prayer would also point to an Aramaic original (Appendix A Page 100). Furthermore, if a literal Hebrew equivalent of the Kaddish did ever exist, and we know of no complete one, the probability would be that it, like the version given above from Soferim 14 12, was a younger rendering of the Aramaic version of the old Aggada doxology. For in most cases where a prayer or formula exists both in Hebrew and Aramaic, we may assume the Hebrew version to be the less original. The formula כל נדרים בל is probably older than the formula לברים, 49 as the tendency was always towards excluding the use of the vernacular from the service and replacing it by the more sacred tongue. Solomon Adereth does not disapprove of the partial translations into Hebrew made of the Kaddish in his day. As the sermon doxology, the Kaddish was naturally in Aramaic. But in the liturgy the tendency would be to translate the Kaddish, the "holy praise" par excellence into Hebrew in accordance with the principle that the holy language may be used for treating of ordinary subjects, but must be used for holy matters: דברים של סותר לאומרן בלשון קדש, של קדש אסור לאומרן בלשון חולס.

&lt;sup>47</sup> Introduction to TBER. and Z p. 78 ff. Cf. Hamburger, Real-Encyclopädie II 605.

 $<sup>^{48}</sup>$  Ber 3a  $_5$  (B, p. 8) Shab 119b  $^{26}$  (K, p. 43) Midr. Prov 14  $_{28}$  (C, p. 8) Se'udath Gan 'Eden (F, p. 9). In the first two cases Abudarham quotes the text as Hebrew. The objection is always possible that in these cases the form of the response has been adapted to later custom.

Thus we may well assume the Aramaic of the Kaddish to be original. The explanation given by Zedekiah b. Abraham (13th cent.) in the Shibbole Haleket that it was translated from an original Hebrew text during a time of persecution to disguise the forbidden praise from the persecutors, and afterwards retained in Aramaic, is probably only an etiological explanation. But there may be the echo of the persecutions in the Byzantine Empire under the Emperor Justinian in the 6th century behind it. In 553 C. E. in his Novella 146 περὶ Ἑβραίον, following the example of Hadrian, he forbade the recital of the Shema' and the Trisagion and κενοφονίαι (nonsense) and ἄλογοι ἑρμηνείαι (senseless expositions), definitely prohibiting all Aggadic preaching τὴν δὲ παρ' αὐτοῖς λεγομένην δευτέρωσιν ἀπαγορεύομεν παντελῶς. 51 This prohibition would extend naturally to the Kaddish, the doxology of the Aggada.

Is the Kaddish Babylonian or Palestinian? It is usually assumed to be Babylonian. To answer this question more correctly we must endeavor to ascertain the date of its origin.

&lt;sup>49</sup> The Tur Orah Hayyim 619 quotes the Aramaic formula for the first words as known to R. Natronai Gaon 710 CE, and half Aramaic and half Hebrew as known to Seadya Gaon d. 942. Cf. Mahzor Vitry. Amram I 47a, Seadya and the Roman Rite use the Hebrew form. Zunz, Ritus 96.

<sup>50</sup> Shab 40b 10 Abaye 320-375 CE.

&lt;sup>51</sup> Graetz, Geschichte der Juden V pp. 20 360. Phrases like ברוך המקדש שמך in the Jewish prayer book are usually taken as implying some such persecution.

It is first referred to under the name of קדיש and definitely quoted in Massecheth Soferim. But as this work also knows later expansions of it—the קדיש לחדתא and על הכל (p. 18), it certainly goes back to far earlier times. The Talmudic and Midrashic references 52 to the response יהא שמיה רבא מברך which need not imply the existence of the Kaddish at all, do nevertheless, as is invariably assumed, probably refer to this prayer (p. 50). The comparative silence of the Talmud about the Kaddish is explained by the fact that in early times it was not made the subject of Halacha as were the Shema' and Shemone 'Esre. 53 The absence of all reference to Jerusalem and the destroyed Temple, (contrast the later לחרתא), its simple eschatology, plain, unmystical language, straightforward form, agreement in wording and its anonymity, all point to an early date. The first two considerations would seem to set it before 72 C. E., and the fact that its wording, except for one or two minor additions in some cases, agrees exactly in all rites, would support an early date. And in fact, the Paternoster implies that a Kaddish-like prayer was in existence at the period of the rise of Christianity [Appendix D. Page 111]. Hence we may conclude that the Kaddish of the Aggada is based directly on an old formula that goes back into pre-Christian times. 54

Of the two versions of the Paternoster, Luke 11 1 preserves a better tradition of the historical occasion than Matthew 6 5. One of the disciples asked Jesus to teach them to pray even as John taught his disciples. John the Baptist, if not a regular Essene, at least belonged to the same ascetic school as the Essenes, and frequent prayers, in part replacing sacrifices, especially prayers for the advent of the Kingdom of Heaven, and praises and sanctifications such as the Trisagion developed among the later mystics, were as characteristic of him and his disciples 55 as of the regular order of

&lt;sup>52</sup> Ber 3a <sub>4</sub> (B, p. 8) 21b <sup>21</sup> (H, p. 43) 57a <sup>5</sup> (I, p. 43) Shabb 119b <sup>26</sup> (K, ib.) Succa 39a <sup>2</sup> (L, p. 50) Sota 49a <sub>26</sub> (A, p. 8). Midr. Pr. to 14 <sub>28</sub> etc. (C, p. 8). Midr. Eccl 9 <sub>14</sub> f. p. 25c (D, p. 9.). Alphabet of R. Akiba etc. (E, ib.) TBEZ. 20 (F, ib.).

&lt;sup>53</sup> It is not mentioned in Meg. 43 as requiring ten persons present for its recitation for this reason. It belonged at that period entirely to the Aggada.

<sup>54</sup> So I. Schwab Year Book of American Rabbis 1905, but on quite other grounds. The response יהא שמיה רבא מברך, as we shall see, is of far higher antiquity, it going back to Biblical usage in direct tradition.

55 Luke 5 33 11 1.

the Essenes. Jesus was certainly not an Essene, <sup>56</sup> in fact he taught some strongly anti-Essene doctrines. But the early connection of Jesus with John; the many Essenic influences in his life and teaching, such as voluntary poverty, discountenancing marriage, the neglect of provision for earthly food and drink, the importance attached to lustrations, communistic meals and manner of life, healing the sick, <sup>57</sup> the gift of prophecy, aversion to taking an oath, the prominence given to eschatological ideas and speculation; and the comparison with John's prayers in the disciple's question, all point to the fact that the prayer with which he answered is ultimately to be traced back to Essenic circles.

HARNACK,58 through a brilliant combination of the form of the prayer in Luke with Acts 19 2-6, comes to the conclusion that the prayer for the Holy Ghost, found according to some of the oldest MSS., Gregory of Nyssa (4th cent.), Marcion (c. 140) etc. in the version of Luke instead of the prayer for the Kingdom, was inserted expressly to differentiate the Paternoster from the prayer of the disciples of John: "Durch die Bitte um den heiligen Geist soll sich das Vater-Unser von dem Gebet der Johannesjünger unterscheiden" (l. c. p. 206). In proving this he rejects the historicity of the occasion of the giving of the prayer as recorded in Luke, but gives us in its stead a far more certain Johanno-Essenic origin for the New Testament version of the prayer. It is true however that he understands the Paternoster as consisting originally of only the word "Father" and the 4th, 5th and 6th phrases, while the 1st, 2nd and 3rd phrases in Matthew's version which are parallel with the opening words of the Kaddish, he regards as in all probability not original (p. 202f.), but, like all the prayers of the earliest Church, borrowed from the traditional Jewish liturgy, 59 and added

<sup>56</sup> As Graetz supposes l. c. III 276f. 699 et seq. 284 et seq.

<sup>57</sup> Essene from אָסָיָא But see E. Mittwoch, Zeitschrift für Assyriologie XVII (1903) p. 76 ff. who rejects also the suggestion of Graetz 'אסחאי 'the Baptists', and the ancient identification with "seers'.

<sup>58</sup> Ad. Harnack, Die ursprüngliche Gestalt des Vaterunsers. Sitzungsberichte der Königlichen Preussischen Akademie (Philos.-histor. Klasse). Berlin, 21 Jan. 1904 p. 204. Also printed separately.

<sup>59</sup> Zunz, GV. 384 et seq. on the high antiquity of the groundwork of the synagogue prayer book.

to the short prayer in very early times, perhaps as early as the times of the Apostles (p. 205). Even when assuming the correctness of this supposition, a pre-Christian date is assured for the origin of the Kaddish, and this traditional Jewish prayer may nevertheless have an Essenic origin. For we shall see later that there are probable traces of Essenic thought and mysticism in the amplification of the prayer to its later form. The institution of repeating the Kedusha (p. 8, note 39) is unmistakeably Essenic, 60 and KAUFMANN Kohler 61 ventures to derive all the early Jewish prayers, including the Kaddish and Paternoster, from Hassidean or Essenic circles in a direct chain of tradition. Similarly Heidenheim 62 supposes the old Hebrew prayers of the Samaritan liturgy to be of Essenic origin. So too, it may be more correct to say that the early Church derived its prayers from the Essenes,63 than, as is always stated, from the Pharisaic synagogue. In the course of time, one part of the Essenes attached themselves to the new religion, the other became absorbed in Pharisaic Judaism. To the former we would owe the Paternoster, to the latter the Kaddish. 64

We have therefore to qualify the statement that the Kaddish is Babylonian. In origin it is Palestinian. Its application as a doxology to the Midrash may also be Palestinian, 65 as the home of the Targum and Midrash was Palestine (Judea). In the course of

<sup>60</sup> Massecheth Soferim ed. MÜLLER p. 228.

<sup>61</sup> MGWJ XXXVII (1893) pp. 489—493 497. JQR. VII 1895 604—6.

<sup>62</sup> Die Samarit. Liturgie. Heft 1. p. XXXII.

<sup>63</sup> Max Friedländer, Zur Entstehungsgeschichte des Christentums. Vienna 1894 esp. Ch. 4 for the connection of Essenism and early Christianity.

<sup>64</sup> Comparison with early Church liturgies reveals so many general parallels with the Kaddish in its praises, responses, prayer for the teachers and the teaching and for peace, and in its general phraseology, that they are of very little value. The simple expressions of prayer and praise, when scattered, are common property, and it is impossible to see in them direct borrowing from either side [see for example Ferd. Probst, Liturgie der 3 ersten christlichen Jahrhunderte; Liturgie des vierten Jahrhunderts. J. E. Field, The Apostolic liturgy etc.]. Samaritan formularies show no traces of the Kaddish in the late form in which we possess, them. The same is true too of Mandaic literature. See for instance ZDMG. LXI 1907 358 note 1, 360 note 1.

<sup>65</sup> Aaron ha Cohen of Lunel (fl. 1300) dates the prayer from the Mishnaic period.

time, with the transference of the centre of Jewish life from Palestine to Babylonia, the Kaddish also was carried over, as was the Targum. And as the (Onk.) Targum there received its distinctive literary form, so too did the Kaddish and all the paragraphs later added to it. 66 Together with most of the surviving prayers of the Jewish liturgy it has been handed down to us through the Babylonian schools. No ritual appears to preserve for us a purely Palestinian version; as even those lands that stood under the influence of Palestine in their ritual, preserve only the Babylonian form that held sway since the early middle ages. Even the version of Maimonides (and Yemen) is probably more Spanish-Babylonian than Egyptian-Palestinian.

In the following pages the texts are separated according to various rituals. 67 For the first two paragraphs this has its absolute value, as, except for the quite insignificant variant ימלוך and ימלוך in the Yemen ritual, every ritual is uniform within its own confines. The paragraph לודותא also appears in a settled form in each local class. But for the paragraphs שלום, יהא שלום, יהא שלום, and על ישראל there is little consistency among the MSS. belonging to the same ritual, especially in those of Yemen, where each text presents variations from every other. In other rituals, Spanish, German, Roman etc., the variation is slighter and the printed editions have fixed the text more definitely. It is not always practicable therefore to take note of all the variants in the numerous texts collated, and peculiarities of orthography and vocalisation have been regarded only when strongly attested or when indicating real difference of reading.

The orthography and sublinear punctuation found in the manuscripts is chaotic, every scribe (סופר) or punctuator (נקדן) going his own way and making a law for himself. The printed texts are but little better. They show no unity of system and are strongly hebraized. Some "errors" that recur constantly in manuscripts of a particular rite, clearly point to a local difference in pronunciation. The value given to the signs at different times and places varied; the use of the divers signs is not constant and the grammatical forms also vary with the locality and period. It is therefore impossible for any one scheme of vocalisation to represent completely the many shades of pronunciation intimated by the diverging methods of pointing in the manuscripts.

<sup>66</sup> Dalman, therefore (Grammar p. 26) comes to the right conclusion that the Kaddish is a Babylonian prayer of Palestinian origin, although the reference to Sifre 132b on which he bases this result has nothing to do with the case. See p. 49 note 39.

&lt;sup>67</sup> For the endless varieties of ritual see Zunz, Ritus. In brief Encyclopaedia Britannica, Art. Mahzor.

The superlinear vocalisation, although in many ways defective, is far more selfconsistent and rests on an old and comparatively unvarying tradition of the pronunciation of Aramaic that reaches down to the present day. 68 For the Jews of Yemen still use the Targum in the synagogue service, and the Kaddish in view of its origin must have the same vocalisation as the Targum. Therefore BAER's emended punctuation on the basis of the Masoretic text of Biblical Aramaic, is, as Buxtorf's punctuation of the Targum on the same system, entirely at fault in principle.

I have therefore based the vocalisation in the following pages on the superlinear system. Very numerous inaccuracies and many variants have crept into the texts through the combined use of matres lectionis and vowel points. Among the inaccuracies arising from this cause is to be reckoned the lengthening of short vowels such as אָמָלָא מָן for אָלֶעלא, probably the use of Šureq for Qibbus in לְעלא מָרְנִיה מְּרִנְיה מְּרַנִיה and בּוֹרְתָנִיה for עוֹבְּרַנְיה although the use of Šureq for u is almost regular enough to justify itself. The use of Vav as a vowel letter in Aramaic inscriptions is more frequently found in the later than in the earlier inscriptions. As variants due to matres lectionis may probably be reckoned הוומלוך מועתא חוימלון, מועלון מומלון הוומלון אימלון הוומלון מומלון הוומלון אימלון הוומלון אימלון הוומלון אימלון מומלון אימלון וומלין מועלא וומלין וומלין for וומלין probably also the relative ין for ד, affixed being later read as a separate word.

In punctuated texts, forms like רְוְוֹחֹא , עלמייא , שמייא , שמייא , עלמייא , רוְוֹחֹא etc. that often occur in the manuscripts are inadmissible, as are also לעילא , הינא etc. The suffix of the 3rd person masc. sing. must be, as always in the Aramaic inscriptions, without Yod בלכותה, שְׁמַה (בּיִה שָׁמָה בּרֹי, even though the Yod is largely used in all texts to express the vowel ê. So too הָּבִין must give way to הָּבִין. In spite of the evidence of Biblical Aramaic, רְבָּא is better than the form commonly found in the MSS. רְבָּה, and the difference between דשמיה and דשמיה for דשמיא. As a Hebraism must be reckoned the invariable וְאִמְרוּ בּרְהמין. The difference between הוא and ברהמין and להדוָה and להדוָה is to be traced back to a confusion of sound. אַשבּהתא is probably a vulgarism for הַשבּהתא.

<sup>68</sup> ADOLF NEUBAUER, JQR. III 604-622 esp. p. 605 on the old tradition of the Jews of Yemen.

THE ORIGINAL KADDISH.

The original Kaddish of the Aggada consisted of the first paragraph and the following response. The first paragraph runs as follows: יַתְנַדְּל וְיָתְלַדְּשׁ שְׁמָה רַבָּא בְּעֶלְמָא רְבָרָא כִּרְעוּתַה (A) יְתְנַדְּל וְיִתְלַדְּשׁ שְׁמָה רַבָּא בְעֶלְמָא רְבָרָא כִּרְעוּתַה (בֹּא בִעְלְמָא רַבְרָא בִּעְלְמָה הַבּיּא בִּעְלְמָא רַבְרָא בִּעִיּתַה הַיֹּי

בְּחַיֵּיכוֹן וּבְיוֹמֵיכוֹן וּבְחַיַּי<sup>(O)</sup> דְכָל־בֵּית יִשְׂרָאֵל בְּעֲגַלָא וּבִוְמֵן קָרִיב [ואמרו] אָמֵן.

(A) Yemen ימלוך or וימלוך.

(B) Abudarham adds ויצמח פורקניה ויבא קץ משיחיה וישכלל היכליה. So Modern Spanish for New Year's service. Mod. Span., Corfu, Romania, Lille add מויצמח פורקניה ויקרב משיחיה.

Seadya adds ויצמח פורקניה. So Genizah fragment G. D. K. 54. Maimonides, Yemen, Carpentras עמיה ויפרוק משיחיה ויקרב משיחיה ויפרוק עמיה (ויכנש גלוָתא Persian MSS read ויקרב (מלכות) משיחיה ויפרוק (ית) עמיה (ויכנש גלוָתא). Chinese omit the bracketed words.

This reduced to its simplest form resolves itself into two sentences ימלַך מלכותיה בענלא and ממַלְך מלכותיה בענלא, thus agreeing with the ruling of the Talmud,² that in the composition of prayers, there must be the mention of God הזכרת הזכרת מלכות, exemplified in the traditional blessing-formula ברוך and in the Paternoster (Matth 6 of.), the prayer of Tobit³ etc.

Great care was bestowed upon the composition of the דרשא in choice language 4, and the language of prayer in particular was minutely weighed. The Kaddish, agreeing with all norms of prayer composition, is also worded with studious care. A characteristic of its oldest parts יתגדל מתקבל is the synonymous doubling of expressions e. g. צלותהון העברן בחיכון וביומיכון, יתגדל ויתקדש, recalling very strongly the method of aiming at emphasis common in the period after the forceful power and incisiveness of the language of the early prophets had been lost, so frequently found in the book of Daniel.5

&lt;sup>1</sup> Amram. [Vitry 64 BAER 129 Roman 13a Provence etc.].
<sup>2</sup> Ber 40b<sub>24</sub> Rab 219—257.
<sup>3</sup> Tobit 13<sub>1</sub> ed. LAGARDE.

These words form a Messianic prayer growing out of Ezek 38 23, in the manner of an אפטרתא, the opening words of which were usually borrowed from a Biblical passage (פְתּוֹבְ בְּּלָהְיָּא בְּלָהִיאָ בְּּבְּלִהְיִא בְּבָּלִהְיִא בְּבִּלִּהְא (בְּתִּוֹבְ בְּבָּלִהְיִא Ezekiel's eschatological ideas of the final redemption at the end of days are very vivid, and the circumstantial account of the war with Gog and Magog, depicted in chapter 38, gave rise to an important chapter of Messianic teaching. The wars with Gog and Magog are regularly regarded in apocalyptic works and the Aggada, as ushering in the Messianic era. 6 The victory over the godless nations will result in the hallowing of God's Name in the world world in the Kingship will then be fully revealed כוּלְיִתְּיִי מִלְּכִוּתִיה, His Kingship will then be fully revealed מוֹלְיִינְתִיּיִבְּיִי מִּיִּרְיִי מִינְרִינְתִיּיִה בּיִנְלִּיִּתְּיִי מִינְרִיִּתְּיִי מִינְרִיתִיי מִינְרִיתְּיִי מִינְרִיתְּיִי מִינְרִיתְיִי מִינְרִיתְּיִי מִינְרִיתִיי מִינְרִיתְיִי מִינְרִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְרִיתְּיִי מִינְרִיתְיִי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִּינְיִיתִּי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתְיִי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיִיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתְיתִּי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִּי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתִיי מִינְיתְיי מִינְיתְיי מִּי מְּיִיתְיי מִינְיתְיי מִינְיתִי מִּיְי מִּיְי מִיי מִינְיי מִיי מִּיְי מִינְיתִיי מִיי מִינְיי מִיי מִיי מִּיְיִי מִּיְי מִּיְי מִּי מִּי מְּיִי מְיִי מְּיִי מְיִּי מִּיְיִי מִּיְיִי מִּי מְּיִי מִי

However simple the words of this paragraph may appear, their sense is difficult to express adequately. The Catechismus Romanus issued by the Council of Trent understands the first half of the Paternoster thus:

Hallowed be Thy Name
Thy Kingdom come
Thy Will be done

Thy Will be done

&lt;sup>4</sup> Aboth 1<sub>11</sub> the ררשן Abtalyon utters the warning חכמים הוְהרו ברבריכם. Cant. Rab. to 4<sub>11</sub> נפת תשפנה ed. Wilna p. 28a similar warnings from the second and third centuries.

<sup>6</sup> Revel. 20 8 Sibyllines 3 319 ff. 512 ff. Jer. Targ. to Ex 40 11 Num 11 26 24 17 Deut 32 39 I Sam 210 Isa 33 22 f. LXX to Num 24 7 has Γωγ for Σικ and to Amos 71 for Σιλ.

7 Obad 21 Ps 103 19 145 11—13 146 10 Dan 2 44 7 14.

and F. H. Chase 8 is inclined to accept this as the original meaning. Without doubt, the Kaddish must be construed similarly according to the predominant thought and not strictly according to the order of the words. בעלמא must be joined in sense both backwards and forwards יתגדל ויתקדש שמיה רבא בעלמא בעלמא וימליך מלכותיה the variant reading of the Yemenite rite ימלך for ימלך giving direct support to this. In the same way, although it is not necessary to separate כרעותיה from דָבָרָא, it belongs more truly to the thought of the two main clauses, as we shall see:

יתגדל ויתקדש שמיה רבא בעלמא דברא וימליך מלכותיה

In this way the number of possible combinations of the words is very large. 9 But the thought in the mind of the one who recited this prayer, although incompletely expressed, certainly extended the force of בעלמא and כרעותיה over both clauses, whether we regard it as a spontaneous prayer inadequately brought to expression, or as a carefully constructed form of words the full meaning of which could be brought out by the tones and emphasis of the speaker. The pregnancy of the construction can be only approximately suggested in a translation: -- "May He, according to His Will, reveal in the world which He has created, the greatness and holiness of His great Name and His sovereignty . . . . ".

יתנדל ויתקדש Very many MSS. and some edit. treat יתנדל ויתקדש as also the 7 praises . . יתנדל ויתקדש as pausal, pointing יתנדל. Ibn Ezra seems to have regarded these two words as Hebrew 11 as does the Mahzor Vitry. But although יתרבי would be more purely Aramaic, <sup>8</sup> F. H. Chase, The Lord's Prayer in the early Church (Texts and Studies) p. 40f. The ancient Opus Imperfectum, Westcott-Hort, English Parliamentary Papers 1903 no. 53 und Nestle are of the same opinion. See Nestle Zeitschrift f. neutest. Wissenschaft 1905 p. 107.

<sup>9</sup> Reading ימליך 10 combinations are possible; reading ימליך there are very many more. 10 Deut 32 3 Sirach 43 28.

<sup>11</sup> Ibn Ezra ספר מאונים 1140 writing on the sibilants, אותיות השרקים סצ"ש: אם יהיה ראש הפועל סמך או שין יתאחר תו התפעל כי דרך תו התפעל להתקדם כמו יתנַבְּל ויתקַבָּש (ed. Venice 1546).

e. g. Ez 38 23 Targ., in the language of the Targum יתגדל would pass muster as Aramaic. The form with Pathah could very well be Hebrew. Kimhi 12 reads in Dan 11 36 יתגדל אותרומם ויתגדל where our Masoretic text has Sere (cf. ibid. 11 37 יתגדל אותר שם הכותב והמגקד הגדל ליניתא). Brit. Mus. Bible MS. Or. 4445 dating from the middle of the 9th cent. has on folio 40 the note (אל שם הכותב והמגקד יתגדל ליניתא) hence the scribe and punctuator must have had יתגדל יתג

"אַקרַד" We cannot translate these two Ithpaals as pure passives "May His great Name be magnified and sanctified . .", like the 7 praises . ." "May be blessed". They are medial "May there be revealed the greatness and holiness..." The order of the two words is thoroughly traditional in this form or as adjectives בא וקדוש. גדול וקדוש.

Dan 2 20 4 16 as the inscriptions better than שַּמֵה of most MSS. and edd. The medieval explanation 14 that saw in שמיה the equivalent of שמיה, although having no philological justification, offers a correct interpretation. Namely, in connection with Exod 17 יד על כם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 16 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 17 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 18 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 18 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 19 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 19 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' בעמלק מדר דר 19 ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' לכם ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' לכם ליד ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' לכם ליד לכם ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' לכם ליד לכם יה מלחמה לה' לכם ליד לכם

On the form Dw, see Barth N. B. § 2c no. 7 p. 7. LAGARDE, Übersicht 159 8 160 10. D. G. 200.

A direct Name of God in the Kaddish is obviously avoided, שום, אום (Dan 4 5 Ezr 5 1; Mandaic), שמא (קודשא בריך הוא הוה את בריך הוא being used instead. Leaving out of account the difficult passage Deut 28 אל הוא הוה את השם הנכבד והנורא הוה את ה" and the exceptional passage Lev 24 11 אלהיך את השם הייסול מייסול מייסול אלהיך את השם הייסול מייסול מייסול

<sup>12</sup> David Ķimķi (1160-1235) Michlol p. 76.

<sup>13</sup> Lev 22 32 Isa 29 23 Mal 1 11 (Targ.). Sirach 36 4 Luke 1 49 Koran 2 28.

<sup>14</sup> Pesikta Rab. Ch 12 p. 51a Mahzor Vitry p. 8 Tosafoth Ber 3a etc. etc. 15 Compare Targ. to 24 16 and Sanhed 7 5 המנדף אינו חייב עד שיפרש השם.

&lt;sup>16</sup> Ben Jakob, Im Namen Gottes p. 167. Compare the usage in the Assouan Papyri with that of Ezra and Nehemiah.

to be seen in verses like אלהים בשמך הושיעני Ps 54 3.17 By the third century B. C. the Tetragrammaton was certainly regarded as a "nomen ineffabile". The book of Daniel avoids it and אדני except in the prayer chap. 9 and 1 2 (אדני). In the books of Esther and 1st Maccabees these Names do not occur at all, "Heaven" replacing them in the latter work. The old term שם המפורש for the Tetragrammaton, according to Bacher 18 equivalent to "the distinguished, preeminent Name", although most probably to be understood as "the Name distinctly pronounced", 19 is explained by M. Grünbaum 20 as "the separated, secret Name". אמר (באלם (באלם 15) was homiletically interpreted as המללם (סר לעולם 15 און די שמי לעלם 15 און די שמי לעלם 15 בכל 11, read by the LXX and Vulg. as המללם ביסולם ב

It was spoken in the Temple in the Priestly Blessing <sup>21</sup> until, according to one tradition, the death of Simon the Just, 270 B.C., and ten times on the Day of Atonement, <sup>22</sup> whereas outside the Temple the name אדני was used in its stead. With the destruction of the Temple, the distant way of speaking of God evidenced everywhere <sup>23</sup> became the rule. E. Landau<sup>24</sup> enumerates 57 usual expressions (בנויים) used in designating God. <sup>25</sup>

In the Mishna occur phrases such as הבשר לשם (Shek 6 6), אחד (Shek 6 6), הבשר לשם (Yoma 4 1). 26 In the Jer. Targumim מתוב עליו לשם

18 ETT. pp. 159f. 186f. ETA. 218.

20 ZDMG. XXXIX esp. pp. 543-572.

22 T. Yoma 21 1831 Yoma 39b.

<sup>24</sup> Die den Raume entnommenen Synonyma für Gott in der neuhebr. Literat. Zürich 1888 p. 6 ff.

26 Similar to the usage in Acts 5 41 3 John 7.

 $<sup>^{17}</sup>$  Compare the remarkable phrase Isa 30  $_{27}\,$  סמרחק. Further Ps 7  $_{18}$  9  $_{3}$  92  $_{2}.$

<sup>19</sup> Munk, Guide des Egarés I 267, Geiger, Urschrift p. 264, Dalman, Der Gottesname Adonaj 52f., Bacher, ETT. 159f.

<sup>21</sup> Num 6 22-27 Sota 7 6 and p. 38a 18 Tamid 7 2 Sanh 101b 22.

 $<sup>^{23}</sup>$  LXX χύριος Matth 6  $_9$  10  $_{28}$  Luke 12  $_5$  . Specially characteristic of the Targum.

&lt;sup>25</sup> Jacob Ba'al ha Turim (fl. 1300) to Num 11 <sub>16</sub> enumerates 70 Biblical designations of God, reproduced ZDMG, XXXV 167. Moslem theologians reckon 99.

<sup>27</sup> Gen 22 19 J I, 25 22 Eccl 3 11 (not ed. LAGARDE), Cant 2 17.

more fully ייקירא ויקירא מא רבא ודחילא א ייקירא פרט. ממא רבא ויקירא ייקירא א ייקירא ודי א בער הייקירא א ייקירא ודי א בער הייקירא הער הער הער הער א ייקירא ודי א ייקירא ודי א בער הער א ייקירא ודי אייקירא ודי אייקירא ודי א ייקירא ודי א ייקירא ודי אייקירא ודי א

The other designations of God occurring in the Kaddish אברך הוא, בריך הוא ממיא, noticed later, are similarly nothing but the most commonly used of the more distant designations of God. In the Mishna Aboth, in which tractate the Name of God has most occasion to be mentioned שמא שמש occurs once, הקרוש מכנוד הוא בריך הוא בריך הוא בריך הוא בריך הוא פופאל () דבשמיא אבר () שבשמים () שבשמים eight times. The other appellations not occurring in the Kaddish are המקום five times, occurring in the Hebrew version of the Kaddish in Soferim 14 12 (p. 18) and השכינה once. Mishna Yoma has הקב"ה, המקום once each, והשמים in prayers and "in Biblical passages. 32 as seen above, is the usual adjective qualifying שמא when used to designate God. It goes back to Biblical usage like 33 שמך הגדול זו סידול סידול הגדול זו (Jer 44 26). In the corresponding Hebrew Kaddish of Soferim 14 12 it appears as שמו הגדול. It is of very general occurrence in the oldest prayers.

<sup>28</sup> J I Exod 4 20 16 25 32 25 Lev 16 21 24 11 Deut 9 19.

<sup>29</sup> J I Deut 9 19 28 58. 30 J I Exod 28 30 Num 31 8.

&lt;sup>31</sup> J. H. Petermann, Samarit. Gram. 1878 p. 78. Abraham Geiger, Nachgelassene Schriften III 261.

<sup>32</sup> DWJ. 159. On the whole question of the use of DW etc. see M. Grünbaum, ZDMG. XXXIX 543-572, XL. Nestle ib. XXXII 468 500 506. G. Dalman, Der Gottesname Adonaj (Studien zur biblischen Theologie) Berlin 1889 p. 36 et seq. Ben Jakob, Im Namen Gottes. Berlin 1903. E. Landau, Die dem Raume . . . . Schürer, Jahrbuch für Protest. Theologie II 1876. 168 ff.

<sup>33</sup> Josh 79 I Kgs 842 Jer 106 Ezek 3623.

must be construed also with בעלמא in sense. The simple meaning is "in the world", a meaning עלמא does not bear in Biblical Aramaic but which is found quite early in Rabbinical writings. 34 A very strong tendency exists to expand it on all occasions possible into בעלמא הדין ובעלמא. In the Hebrew version of Soferim 14 12 we find it as העולם הזה והעולם הוה and in the burial Kaddish as given in the Mahzor Vitry (p. 247) דאמירן בעלמא is expanded into דאמירן בעלמא הדין ודאיתאמרן בעלמא. This tendency is constantly met with in the Targumim 35 and is naturally compared with the supposed lengthening of מן העולם ועד to מעולם through the antagonism of the Sadducees (p. 53). On the other hand the implied antithesis to the word בעלמא here would appear to be בשמיא i. e. the praise of the angels who are 36 מקרשין with the thrice "Holy". God's Glory and Kingship are fully revealed in Heaven. The prayer is for their full revelation upon earth (בעלמא). בעלמא is of course better than בעלמא of the edd. and MSS. cf. עולם, בלשל. The punctuation אילם is apparently a Hebraism to avoid a long vowel in a closed syllable. 37 On the form, see ZDMG XLIV 1890 p. 685 note 3, LAGARDE, Übersicht 115f. On the meaning E. LANDAU, Die dem Raume p. 3.

7 The short form הוא is better than הי as a separate word. It is true that the testimony of the oldest versions and MSS. usually gives הוא דיברא הו דיברא, ביברא הו דיברל, and היברל but the Yod is a mater lectionis of הוא דיברא reated as an independent word. ™ Biblical Aramaic recognises only in common with Nabatean. Palmyrene, ™ as Mandaic, ™ uses both

 $<sup>^{34}</sup>$  DWJ. 138 ff. Cf. de Vogué 73  $_{\rm 1}$  etc. Assyr. ullû means far away, long ago in time.

<sup>35</sup> Isa 63 Cant 13 Ps 4114 89 53 90 2 106 48 1 Chr 16 36 29 10 Exod 15 18 J I. 36 TBER. 7 34 17 84 29 156 163. Compare the old Kedusha בקרש את שמך בעולם הקב"ה בעולם כולו הקרש שמו של הקב"ה בעולם כולו הדרא המולם ועד מופר . שברא מסוף העולם ועד סופר . שברא מסוף העולם ועד סופר . שברא בעולם כולו שברא Similarly 12 58 omitting.

<sup>37</sup> In East Syriac closed syllables with long vowels are frequently shortened e. g. جاهني for جاهني

<sup>38</sup> Jacob b. Zebi Emden 1697—1776, the באר הימב to the Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 56 2, Baer etc.

<sup>39</sup> RECKENDORFF, ZDMG. XLII. 1888 p. 389. LIDZBARSKI 267.

<sup>40</sup> Nöldeke, Mandäische Grammatik § 84.

ד and ה. According to Dalman (Grammar 116) Rabbinic Aramaic makes an almost exclusive use of ה. The earlier ה, not to be confounded with היה in the Palestinian Talmud, is preserved only in the fragments from an earlier period 41 and sometimes as an archaism in the Jerusalem Targum. 42

This qualification of בעלמא, differing from the one in the paragraph לחדתא, is not very closely related to the context, the connection being contained in phrases such as ארום בשמי רבא אתברי (Exod 20 7 JII) and in the idea of creation itself being the one grand witness to the glorifying of God's Name on earth יתרומם (P. R. El. 3 beg.). Of, in the prayer 'Alenu, שמו של הקב"ה בבריותיו שברא מסוף העולם ועד סופו יתגדל שמיה רבא) — לתת גדולה ליוצר בראשית, need not and cannot bear the future meaning "that He will create" 3 as the revelation of the greatness and holiness of His Name will take place in this world. On ברא בא See ZAW. I 1881 247.

<sup>41</sup> Megillath Ta'anith T. Sanh 2 6 416 30 32 Gitt 9 3.

<sup>42</sup> J I Gen 12 5 24 5.

<sup>43</sup> PHIL. BLOCH, MGWJ. XXXVII 1893, p. 264, note 5.

<sup>44</sup> The very opposite idea is not infrequently found e.g. in the following comparison מלך בשר ודם בוגה פלמין אינו בונה אותה מרעת עצמו אלא מרעת אומן. והאומן (πίναξ) ופינקסאות (διφθέρα) שינו בונה אותה מרעת עצמו אלא ריפתראות (διφθέρα) ופינקסאות (πίναξ) הוא עושה הדרים היאך הוא עושה פשפשין: כך היה הקב"ה מבים בתורה ובורא את העולם "An earthly king who wishes to build a palace, procures the services of a contractor who constructs it from plans according to scale. So also the Holy One, blessed be He, in creating the world consulted the Torah and created the earth in accordance with it." Gen. Rab I 1 Yalkut I 2 II 942 PREI. 3. So R. Hoshaya (mid. 3rd cent.). Bacher. Die Agada d. Paläst. Amoräer I 107 traces this conception of the creation according to an archetype of an ideal world back to Philo "De opificio mundi" § 4. In Ber. Rab 8 God is figuratively spoken of as taking the righteous into council about the creation of the world.

 $<sup>^{45}</sup>$ ר' ברכיה בשם ר' יהורה בר סימון אמר בלא עמל ובלא יגיעה ברא הקב"ה את עולמו אלא בר ממלח (Ps 33 6) "נברבר ה" '' וכבר "שמים געשור '' Gen Rab 12 10 Yalkut I 18. Mechilta to בשלח 10 p. 43b (במאמר). Aboth 5 1 בר העולם ברא העולם. Sirach 42 15 Wisdom 9 1 4 Esdr 6 38 Ḥag 14a  $^{14}$  (בובר) etc. Compare the constantly recurring designation of God as האמר והיה העולם Ps 33 9 Kid 30b  $_1$  31a  $^2$  Sanh 19a  $_2$  105a  $^{25}$  Sota 10b  $^5$  Erub 13b  $^6$  Shab 139a  $^{11}$  Meg 13b  $^4$  Midr. Prov 10 3 TBER and Z con-

The idea of praise, especially that arising from prayer or study, which hastens the approach of Messianic times, <sup>47</sup> being acceptable to God and according to His Will, is one that continually recurs. <sup>48</sup> Especially noteworthy are three passages:

- (1) The second paragraph of the Kaddish in the Genizah fragment (G. D. K. 53) יתברך האמירן מכל ברכתא שירתא מכל העילא מכל העלמא כרעותיה ואמרו אמן and in the Hebrew fragment similarly האמורות בעולם כרצונו ואמ' אמן.
- (2) The saying B (p. 8) from Ber. 3a: בשעה שישראל עושין רצונו של מקום ונכנסין לבתי כנסיות ולבתי מדרשות ועונין יהא שמיה וג'
- להקהיל קהלות בכל שבת ושבת ולכנום :ויקהל 408 to להקהיל למר בכל שבת ושבת ולכנום :ויקהל סדר מדרשות ללמַד ולהורות לישראל דברי תורה איסור והיתר כדי שיהא שמי הגדול מתקלם . . . אמר משה אם אתם עושים כסדר הזה הקב"ה מעלה עליכם הגדול מתקלם . . . אמר משה אם אתם עושים כסדר הזה הקב"ה מעלה עליכם "To gather assemblies every sabbath and to come together in the study houses to teach Israel the words of the Torah, what is forbidden and what allowed so that My great Name may be praised . . . Moses said: 'If you carry out this restantly. Zunz GV $^2$  p. 389e. במימריה (e. g. Gen 21 33 J II, Deut 33 27 Onk) is the regular Aram. of במאמרו etc. Bacher, ETA. 36 on דבור.

<sup>46</sup> Hebrews 1 2 δι' οδ καὶ τοὺς αἰῶνας ἐποίησεν.

&lt;sup>47</sup> According to a general belief the time for the Messiah to reveal himself had long arrived, but his appearance was kept back until the people should be worthy of him e.g. Micah 48 Targ. איי מאר משיהא רישראל רמטיר מן קרם חובי כנישהא RÉJ. XXXV 1897 282ff. Schürer, GJV. II 618f. and literature there given.

gulation, the Holy One, blessed be He, will regard you as making Him sovereign in His world'." These three passages leave little doubt that the true construction of ברעותה is with the two main ideas of the paragraph, ימליך מלכותיה and ימליך מלכותיה occurs in the late Aramaizing Hebrew of Ecclesiastes as "longing, striving" in the frequent phrase רעות רוח, and in Biblical Aramaic (Ezra 5 17 7 18). It is in its various forms רְעוֹת רְעוֹת (בְעוֹת גְּאַרְעוֹת (בְעוֹת בְעוֹת (בְעוֹת הוֹת (בְעוֹת הוֹת (בְעוֹת הוֹת (בֹעוֹת הוֹת (בֹעוֹת הוֹת (בֹעוֹת הוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בּעוֹת (בּעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בּעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בּעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בִית (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בֹעוֹת (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בֹעוֹת (בִית (בִית (בּעוֹת (בִית (בִית וימלִיך, not the invariably occurring Hebraizing form וימלִיך. The second Yod is again only a mater lectionis, very often inserted in unpointed texts to indicate an E sound e.g. מַקְבֵּיל ,ידבִיק etc., here especially to avoid reading זימלך, a reading found consistently 49 in the Yemen MSS. It is true that in sound triliteral verbs in Biblical Aramaic, only forms with the Ḥirek מַשְׁפָּל , תְהנוְּק , יְהְשִׁפְּל prevails over that with Sere such as תַּמֵל . But in Rabbinical Aramaic the second characteristic vowel of the Afel is, according to all traditions. Sere.

The Yemenite reading וימלוך is hardly defensible, whether מלכותיה be taken as a locative "in His Kingdom" or as an added cognate accusative strengthening and specifying the verb "מליך "as to His Kingdom". It is defended 50 by the supposition that the Afel would mean "cause some one else to reign". The Yemen texts vary between מלוך and וימלוך. 51

לבוֹתָה 'His Kingship', not as Bousset, Schürer 53 etc. 'His political, physical Kingdom'. This is plain from Biblical verses, 54

<sup>49</sup> A solitary instance of יְימלין in the Kaddish de Rabbanan occurs in Or. 1479 no doubt under the influence of other rites. The Peal form may either have arisen from a wrong punctuation of ימלך, or from a confusion of Vaw and Yod in תכלאל Jerus. 1894.

ימלף for instance is read by Or. 2227 2418, DWJ. one text etc. אין מלף Dr. 1479 1480 2389 Gaster 321 A etc.

<sup>52</sup> DWJ.75—83, Schürer, Jahrbuch für Protest. Theologie II 1876 p. 175 et seq. Schürer, GJV. 2 628 f. gives literature.

&lt;sup>53</sup> Bousset, Religion d. Judenthums 199 et seq., Schürer, GJV. 2588 et seq. <sup>54</sup> Jer 10 7 10 Obad 21 Ps 22 29 47 3 8 98 6 103 19 145 11—13 146 10 Dan 244 7 14 1 Chr 29 11 f. etc.

the language of the oldest prayers,55 the apocalyptic and apocryphal literature, 56 and from repeated passages in the Targum and Rabbinic idiom generally. 57 Hence ימליך מלכותיה must be translated "may He reveal His Sovereignty", not as usually "may He establish His Kingdom." The corresponding phrase in the Hebrew version of Soferim 1412 runs תְּנֶלָה וְתַרָאָה מלכותו. For in the Jewish view, God's Kingship over Israel and the world is and always has been established, but only after the Messianic kingdom will it be for the first time fully revealed. 58 Zach 14 9 והיה ה' למלך על כל הארץ appears in the Targum as ותתגלי מלכותא דה' על כל יתבי ארעא. Isa 52 ז אומר לציון) מלך והיתה לה' המלוכה Obad 21 אתגליאת מלכותא דאלהך is translated, according to the old reading given by Kimhi ותתגלי מלכותא דה' בקריב על כל יתבי ארעא ותהי מלכותא דה' לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא In Esther II 1 1 beginning, occur ה' צבאות דבענלא תתנדל מלכותיה מלן and עלן באות דבעגלא תתגלי מלכותיה על כל דיירי ארעא. So too in the Midrash constantly גלה e. g. Cant Rab 17c to 2 13 (ref. to 2 12 תניע ומנה של מלכות שמים שתגלה (עת הומיר הניע. The Arabic loan word מלכות used only of divine rule is borrowed from מלכות used in this sense without further qualification.60

The added words in Maim., Yemen, Abud., Mod. Span., Cochin,

ישמחו במלכותך (Amram 29b) ישמחו במלכותך; the very old New Year 'Amidah לפניך כל הברואים ויעשו כלם אגדה אחת לעשות רצונך בלבב שלם 'Amidah בלה זס וישתחוו לפניך כל הברואים ויעשו כלם אגדה אחת לעשות רצונך בלובן שלינו מהרה the old Kaddish like prayer (Amram 9a Vitry 67) בעולמך יחד מלכותך בעולמך יחד מלכותך (Sabbath Kedusha (Amr. 10b) עינינו תראינה במלכותך 'Alenu (probably much earlier than Rab 230 CE. See Jewish Encycl. Hamburger, Real Encycl. Suppl. 2 6) לתקן עולם במלכות שדי ויקבלו עול מלכותך ותמלך עליהם לעולם ועד כי המלכות שלך היא ולעולמי עד עולם במלכות שדי ויקבלו עול מלכותך ותמלך עליהם לעולם ועד בניך phrases like תמלך בכבוד, phrases like מלכותך ראו בניך phrases like מלכותך היא ולעולמי עד

<sup>56</sup> E. g. Tobit 13 11 et seq. 146.

&lt;sup>57</sup> E. g. שמים מלכות שמים Ber 2 2 5 etc. is the confession of belief in God's unity and dominion.

קד שלא בא 'Sifre Deut 32 10 p. 184b has the following significant Midrash: אביגו אברהם לעולם בּבְיַכוֹל לא היה הקב"ה מלך אלא על השמים בלבר שנאמר (Gen 24 ז) ה׳ אלהי אביגו אברהם לעולם בּבְיַכוֹל לא היה הקב"ה מלך אלא על השמים בלבר שנאמר הארץ שנאמר השמים אשר לקחני ... אבל משבא אביגו אברהם לעולם המליכו על השמים ועל הארץ שנאמר (Gen 24 3) "Before the time of Abraham God was, as it were, King of heaven alone (with reference to Gen 24 7 'God of heaven'), but since his time, He has been King over heaven and earth (with reference to Gen 24 3 'the God of heaven and the God of earth')." Cf. Targ. Jer. Gen 24 3.

<sup>59</sup> Compare Targ. to Isa 31 4 40 9 Ezek 77 10 Mic 47.

<sup>60</sup> ABR. GEIGER, Was hat Mohammed p. 59.

Carpentras, Romania, Corfu etc. go back in part to a very early variant in the text and may possibly be attributed to the difference between the Palestinian and Babylonian recensions.

אנמח לובית At least ויצמח פורקניה would seem to be original to one early recension (? Palestinian), the doubled expressions characterising the style of the prayer favoring its originality. The root יושני is used with a directly Messianic meaning. אַמָּח is a traditional designation for the Messiah for the Messiah and the verb ממד is constantly used with אין סי וושעה) in a Messianic connection. The intimate relationship of the two ideas מורקן מורקן לבית is exemplified by Targum paraphrases such as אינים פורקן לבית ישראל (Ezek 29 21) becoming אינים פורקן לבית ישראל or ישראל (Ezek 16 7) being turned as עירן פורקן כנישתכון seeming עירן פורקן כנישתכון אינים פורקן לבית סיים אינים פורקן כנישתכון אינים פורקן פורקן כנישתכון אינים פורקן פורקן כנישתכון אינים שונים אינים א

On the form SARTH N. B. § 194 p. 318 p. XXIX note 1

ABR. Geiger, Was hat Mohammed 55f. D. G. 174.

<sup>61</sup> J. Ber 2 4 5a 13 Isa 4 2 Targ. Jer 23 5 33 15 Zech 3 8 6 12.

ביומא דפורקנא דישראל וביום is expanded by the Targum to וביומא דפורקנא דישראל וביום ביומא למהוי מליך. אוים דימא דמר בר דוד דהוא An additional Targ. to Gen 4918 Cod. Oxf. 2305 (Ginsburger, Fragmenten Targ. p. 74) reads בר דוד דהוא בר דוד דהוא לפורקניה רמשיה בר דוד דהוא Ps 13217 Jer 3315. Amram 58a Soferim 199 (New moon blessing), Karaite marriage blessing בימינו Shem. 'Esre 2 Palest. version המלך המשיה יצמה ברימינו Shem. 'Esre 2 Palest. version לנו הצמיח קרן ישועה לנו הצמיח קרן ישועה לנו הצמיח קרן ישועה בינינו Shem. 'Esre 15 Babyl. version, Soferim 1313 Amram I 29b JRH. 46 59c 22 Haftarah blessing ממיח קרן ישועה מהרה הצמיח הביננו DWJ., Anhang 304 Babyl. את צמח דוד מהרה הצמיח עברך צמיחת קרן לדוד עברך ביומר קרן לדוד עברך דומנא ארים ימינך ואצמח פורקנך Shem. 'Esre לודר עברך לווצמח פורקניה בחייכון סום פרקנא 132af. לודר עברך ייצמח פורקניה בחייכון סום פרקנא 132af. וביומיכון וצמח פורקניה בחייכון 132af. וביומיכון is a technical term used somewhat indefinitely for the consummation of this world, the Messianic period, either as the advent of the Messiah e. g. Gen 49 1 J I קיצא דעתיד מלכא משיחא למיתי איתכסי מיניה, or as the Messiah's year of battle with the godless nations, as in the long paraphrase added to Targ. Isa. 10 אני עתידין 13 מון עתידין סיתי עם גוג ומגוג כד ישלם עלמא קיציה למתפרקא, or for the end of the Messianic period when it gives way to the מלכות שמים, as in Exod 15 18 J II ליליא רביעאה כד שלים עלמא קיצא למתפרקא נירי פרזלא יתברון ועבדי רשעא ישתיצון . . . ויימרון בני ישראל דה' הוא מלכותיה בעלמא הדין דאתי דיליה הוא. The term is frequently found in the New Testament and in apocalyptic literature.64 The Messianic prophecies of the Old Testament were deeply studied, especially by the Hassidim (Dan 9 2) and Essenes; and prophecies fixing limits such as the 70 years of Jer 25 11 29 10 or the "weeks" and "times" of Dan 9 24 ff. 7 25 12 4 12 were made the basis of calculation to discover the "End".65 Hab 2 3 הכה המהמה חכה לקץ ולא יכוב אם יתמהמה חכה למועד ויפָח לקץ ולא יכוב אם מחשבי and similar verses were applied by these מחשבי קיצים "reckoners of the End" (Sanh 97b 26) to fix the קיצים. Since their calculations often brought disappointment on the people, the עבר קציר כלה קיץ ואנחנו לוא נושענו 20 Jer 8 עבר קציר כלה קיץ ואנחנו לוא נושענו appears in the Targum as עדא וימנא שלים קיצא ואנחנא לא מתפרקין. (Of.

לְּקְרֵב A Pāel, hebraizing, is often found with לְקְרֵב A Pāel, hebraizing, is often found with קרב א קר.63 Abudarham and Mod. Span. ritual for the New Year following him, read יובע קץ משרחיה. In the burial Kaddish, Vitry reads ויבע משרחיה as Kohut's Yemen text. Other Yemenite texts read ייבע קץ מלכות משיחיה or simply ויקרב משיחיה.

<sup>63</sup> Merx, Chrestomathia Targumica.

<sup>64</sup> Matth 246 (= Mk 13 7 Luke 21 9) 24 14 τὸ τέλος. Compare εἰς τέλος Matth 10 22 (= Mark 13 13) 24 13, Matth 13 39 24 3 συντέλεια τοῦ αἰῶνος. Syriac Baruch 27 15. Assumption of Moses 1 18.

קץ סיסין 9 Dan 12 13 9 26; קץ קיסין 12 13 9 עת קץ 12 13 9 עת עון קץ 12 63 9 12 9 (אין קיץ 11 27 9 13 9 14 9 למוער Ezek 21 30 9 34 9 55.

פר Sanh. 97b 26 Derech Eres Rabba 11 אין לו הלק אין לו הלק די יוסי אומר הנותן את הקץ אין לו הלק

Amos 8 2). For the true time of the γp is hidden. In the account of the Jer. Targumin to Gen 49 1 Jacob wished to reveal the פיציא נכייא דו J I, קיציא נכייא דו J II Gen 49 1 2, to his sons, but at that moment it was hidden from him. 67 According to the Talmud Meg 3a 17 Jonathan b. Uzziel was not allowed to furnish the Hagiographa with a Targum משום ראית בה קץ משיח, and the discussions (Sanh 97b—99a) about the expected advent of the Messiah do not come to any definite conclusion.

The expressions עקב יומיא (סוף יומיא although sometimes used in the sense of אף e. g. Exod 40 9 J I ומלכא משיחא דעתיד למפרק ית ישראל (cf. 40 11 J I), Gen 3 16 J II בסוף יומיא ביומוי דמלכא (cf. 40 11 J I), Gen 3 16 J II בסוף יומיא משיחא as a rule bear a less definite meaning and correspond more with the vague אחרית הימים. 68

A close and instructive parallel to the two readings here, is again offered by the prayer מלכנו אלהינו (p. 36, note 55), which, as a closing prayer, shows a striking similarity with the Kaddish in both thought and expression. Amram I 9a reads there פויקרב משיחיה (ייקרב משיחיה) as does the old Genizah variant of the closing prayer ויקרב משיחיה (ייבע קץ משיחיה) In the later work, the Maḥzor Vitry the expression is amplified to קרב קץ ביאת משיחיה (ייבע קץ משיחיה). The elaborate Kaddish of the Cochin prayer book (p. 23a) contains a paragraph before עושה שלום opening הגואל ההאלהים יחיש הקץ וימהר followed by an answering paragraph הגואל.

קשיתה The popular belief in a personal Messiah dates from the time of Herod. The absence of any reference to the Messiah in the "Messianic" Kaddish in its simple form, would support the early date assigned to this paragraph. For the ordering of the ideas, the advent of the Messiah (ויפרב משיחיה) and the redemption (ויפרוק מלכותיה) mentioned after ימליך מלכותיה would seem to stamp all except מליך מלכותיה as a later amplification.

לעוה"ב. The plural of נים in later Hebrew is לאוה"ב as in פחשבי קצים; Biblical Hebrew only recognises קצות.

 $<sup>^{67}</sup>$  Compare Tanhuma ibid. p. 108b. Midrash Eleh Ezkera, Jellinek, BH. II 73 etc.

<sup>68</sup> Num 24 14 OJ. Deut 31 29 Isa 2 2 etc.

<sup>69</sup> Published by GASTER, GDK. p. 239.

The ninth kingdom, heralded by the redemption, is that of the Messiah, the tenth and last is the kingdom of God.<sup>70</sup>

On the word משיחא, the Galilean original of the Greek μεσσίας (μεσίας) John 1 41 4 25, Lagarde, Übersicht 93—99 108f.

See page 86. וישַׁכְלֵל הֵיכְלָה

בתייכון וּבְיוֹמֵיכוֹן בּמְלּמִיכוֹן addressed to the congregation. The suffix shows that the doxology was not taken up by the congregation. Kohut's Yemen text in the burial Kaddish reads . בחיינא ובחייכון. The medieval commentators read a special meaning into these words by referring them to the woes of the Messianic advent (חבלי המשיח) from which only few will survive (Mal 3 2 Dan 12 1 p. 97). On the form אום ZDMG. XL 1886 p. 721 Nöldeke. Ib. XLI 1887 p. 632 f. Barth. Barth, N. B. § 2c no. 5 p. 6.72

 $<sup>^{70}</sup>$  Esth II  $^{11}$  PREl.  $^{11}$  end. Exod  $^{17}$  if  $^{16}$  J I רעלמא ומרא דין ומרא דין ומרא דאתי TBER.  $^{18}$  93 וואל לעולם הבא  $^{109}$  לא בעולם הזה ולא לימות המשיח ולא לעולם הבא  $^{109}$  Les. Pes. Rab.  $^{159}$ b ביות המשיח הוא לעתייב So TBER.  $^{3}$  14. TBEZ.  $^{4}$  180. TBER.  $^{6}$  29 on Hos  $^{6}$  2 יחיינו מיומים זה העולם הזה וימות המשיח וביום השלישי  $^{71}$  ZDMG. XVIII (1864) p.  $^{65}$ 6 Geiger,  $^{12}$ 767.  $^{55}$  267.

<sup>72</sup> The word יום in Rabbinical Hebrew sometimes seems to bear the meaning "sun", recalling the Assyrian sign ≼ ↑ ûmu day or šamšu sun, e. g. Sanh 103 end, Yoma 62b<sub>15</sub>. It forms its plural regularly ימוח, the less common form in Biblical Hebrew, just as, for instance, קרבוח has in New Hebrew חרבנות p for its plural as against the masc. form in Biblical Hebrew. יום is used in the plural regularly for period, era e. g. משוח לימות המשוח in the time of the Messiah.

Even private prayer according to one opinion<sup>73</sup> should be framed so as to include the whole congregation, and from an extension of the same principle the prayer of a congregation is usually made to include the whole congregation of Israel.<sup>74</sup>

Maim. and Yemen read with the redundant possessive suffix ובחייהון דכל. This construction, occurring even in Onkelos, is in the Kaddish especially characteristic of Maimonides and Yemen in their readings בעותהון דכל (p. 66), קהלהון דישראל (p. 70). Otherwise קהלהון דישראל (p. 70) מריה דשמיא וארעא is the only example in the Kaddish.

speedily, literally: in haste. Hamanhig, Carpentras and Lille and some old MSS (Gaster, Cod. 73, Laur. II 52, Commentary of Peres Cod. Montefiore 53) read בַּעַבֶּל (cf. Job 20 5 Targ. Syr. בַּעַבל התנדל מלכותיה Gen 18 6) Esth II 1 ed. Lagarde reads דבענל תתנדל מלכותיה ti is frequently coupled with

כן e. g. Amram I 52b the first אמותא השתלה מתחלה פול e. g. Amram I 52b the first אמותא השתלה מתחלה המול פעילא ובומן קריב ואמרו אמן בעילא ובומן קריב ואמרו אמן ובומן קריב וכמן קריב וכמן קריב וכמן קריב וכמן קריב מהרה ובומן קריב וווו פו as in the Genizah fragment quoted above (p. 18). In the Hebrew version of the Kaddish of Soferim 14 12 it appears as

ימן is better than אָדְי. The best texts in Dan 2 16 7 12 (ed. Strack) have the Pathah and although Biblical Hebrew only testifies to the pausal form אָדְי, here also אַדְי is probably the correct ground form of this Aramaism, rather than the usually accepted form אָדָי. אָדִי of the superlinear punctuation is an error for אָדָי. It occurs in Arabic as a loan word both as

'בּישׁי and 'בּישׁי 'אַר.

קריב, used of place and time, 77 is usually so punctuated in both systems. It is really a Hebraizing vocalisation, as is ייַכָּרב.

does not appear in Amram, Carpentras, old Castilian

&lt;sup>73</sup> Abaye (d. 339) Ber 29b איניש נפשיה בהרי ציבורא בורא.

&lt;sup>76</sup> Nöld., Mand. Gram. 152 § 127. DG. 79 146.

<sup>77</sup> Targ. to Deut 32 35 Isa 13 22 Ezek 368 etc.

and many old MSS, 78 where it is wanting also in the later paragraphs; but it may nevertheless have been supplied in actual recitation. The invariable punctuation found is the Hebrew one אַמְרָּוֹ, just as occurs at the end of the Aramaic prayer יְקִּים פֿוּרְקּן (p. 90). In spite of the commonness of the word that could well have made it a fixed term common to both Hebrew and Aramaic, and the similarity of sound between the Hebrew and Aramaic אַמְרָּוֹן it is probably more truly read as Aramaic as is also יְּמְּמֵרוּ וּנְאִמֶרוּ. Biblical Aramaic would require יְּמְמֵרוּ (Dan 2 9). The superlinear vocalisation usually has אֹמֹרְיּ and this form probably should be read here in the Kaddish. All three forms (Hebr. and Aram.) are written in unpointed texts דובר properly Hebrew meaning 'verily, truly' Barth, N. B. 5c. 7b. It is also a naturalised loan word in Aramaic and cannot therefore support the vocalisation אַמָרוּ. As a response, it is used liturgically in the Old Testament 79 and, a fact of special interest here, to seal closing doxologies.80 It was taken over very freely by the Christian Church and occurs 119 times in the New Testament. The Tanna R. Jose b. Zimra 81 distinguishes three uses of מבלה acceptance and אמנה faith. It was used constantly in daily life 82 and in the synagogue service,83 and great importance was attached to it as a response,84 since it is equivalent to saying the whole blessing. Therefore every doxology required an אמן, the congregation responding אמן, the congregation responding אמן, the congregation responding אמן, the congregation responding אמן.

&lt;sup>78</sup> Or. 5,866 Add. 18,690 19,667 27,086 Laur. II 16, 52 etc.

 $<sup>^{79}</sup>$  Deut 27  $_{15}-_{26}$  (12 times) 1 Kgs 1  $_{36}$  Neh 5  $_{13}$  Jer 11  $_{5}$  28  $_{6}$  Num 5  $_{22}$  Neh 8  $_{6}$  .

<sup>80</sup> Ps 106 48 = 1 Chr 16 36; אמן ואמן Ps 41 14 72 19 89 53.

<sup>81</sup> J. Sota 25 18b 3 Shebuoth 36a 23. Cf. ib. 29b Midr. Ps 89 4 Ps 106 end Deut. Rab. Ch 7 beginning, of R. Jehuda b. Simon. Bacher, Agada der Paläst. Amoräer I 112f. Jose b. Ḥanina.

s² The mosaic inscription of Kefr Kenna ends תהי להון ברכתא אמן Ldzb., Ephemeris I 314.

<sup>83</sup> On the notice אין עונין אמן במקדש see page 46 f.

<sup>84</sup> Ber 88 1 Cor 14 16 Vitry p. 97 Ber 53b 8 Ber 47a 21 DS. the manner of answering ນາເ Shab 119b Soferim 21 6 Midr Ps 31 8 Sanh 110b 1111a 1, Alphabet of R. Akiba 1st recension Jell., BH., III 27 (connected with Isa 262) the importance of ນາເ

יָהָא שְׁמָה רַבָּא מְבָרַךְּ לְעָלַם וּלְעֵלְמִי עֵלְמַיָּא

Great importance is attached to this response in the passages ABCDF (page 8f). In addition the following may be quoted (H) Ber 21 b 21 D. S.; the question in dispute is whether one who is saying the Shemone 'Esre should interrupt his recitation to give this response: איבעיא להו מהו להפסיק ליהא שמיה רבא מברך? כי אתא רב דימי אמר ר' יהודה ור"ש תלמידיו דר' יוחגן אמרי לכל אין מפסיקין חוץ מן יהא שמיה הגדול מברך שאפילו עוסק במעשה מרכבה (Ezek 1) פוסק ועונה ולית הלכתא כוותיה. "When the question was asked as to whether one should interrupt or not, R. Dimi reported a 2nd century tradition that one should interrupt the recitation of the Shemone 'Esre only for this response, for even the mystic study of the chariot (Ezek 1)1 should be interrupted for it. The ruling however is not so." Further (I) (Ber 57a 4) [בחלום מברך רבא מברך מובטח לו שהוא בן העולם הבא. "It is a sure omen of salvation when one gives this response in a dream." And again (K) (Shab. 119b 26) אמר ר' יהושע בן לוי כל העונה יהא שמיה רבא מברך ככל כחו קורעין לו גזר דינו של שבעים שנה . . . ר' חייא בר אבא אמר ר' יוחנן אפילו יש בו שמץ של עבודה זרה מוחלין לו. "R. Joshua b. Levi says that the evil decree is annulled for him who utters this response with complete devotion. R. Yohanan adds that even if he has leant towards idolatry, he is forgiven."

The reason for this importance must be something more than the implied presence of the people in the synagogue and lecture room (Appendix B), and to get a clear idea of what this response is, it is necessary to go back a little.

The expression <sup>2</sup> קרא בשם ה<sup>2</sup> apparently means to use the Name of God in prayer, and the Talmud (Sota 10a 1), with true insight, understands ויַקריא (Gen 21 33) as ייַקריא (he made others call upon and praise God.' This inducing others to utter praise to Heaven was always considered especially meritorious, and the use of a summons 3 and response 4 in the Old Testament is far more frequent than would appear at first sight. Of the old method of reciting the Psalms we know very little, but we can work backwards from the scattered notices of later times to obtain some results.

&lt;sup>1</sup> The מעשה ברכבו Ezek 1 and מעשה Gen 1 were made the subjects of mystical and theosophical speculation, that was to be entered into only by those exceptionally qualified, and then to be studied intensely and with the utmost care and gravity.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Gen 4 26 12 8 13 4 21 33 etc.

In the various notices as to how the Song of Moses may have been sung at the Red Sea, we learn incidentally that there were various ways in which the Hallel (Ps 113—118) was recited, the Minhag differing in different places and on various occasions. The Mishna 5 tells us that there was some sort of doubling. The Tosefta 6 seems to refer to two methods, in one the congregation repeats the opening words, in the other they complete the verse started by the leader. The Talmud 7 makes the congregation repeat the opening phrase and so on. The construction of the Hallel Psalms shows traces of various forms of recitation. In Ps 118 1—4 the response $<sup>^3</sup>$  E. g. ברכו את ברכו Neh  $9\,_5$  Jud  $5\,_2$ . The congregational הללויה Psalms, הללויה being the summons (in Ps 106  $_48$  it really belongs to Ps 107  $_1$  cf. Pes 117a  $_8$  הרקא.

<sup>4</sup> אמן and the various responses to כי לעולם חסרו, הללויה Ps 118 1—4 29 Ps 136 1 Chr 16 34 41 2 Chr 5 13 etc. 5 Succah 3 11.

כגדול שהוא מַקרא את ההלל בבית הכנסת ועונין אחריו ענין ראשון. 303 ושראל אומרין עזי משה אמר אשירה לה' וישראל אומרין אשירה לה'. משה אומר עזי וומרת יה וישראל אומרין אשירה לה'. משה אומר או ישיר משה וישראל וומרין. משה אומר או ישיר משה וישראל אומר זה אלי ואנוהו. משה אומר ה' איש אומר אשירה לה'. משה אומר עזי וומרת יה וישראל אומר זה אלי ואנוהו. משה אומר ה' שמו מלחמה וישראל אומר ה' שמו.

 $<sup>^7</sup>$  B. Sota 30b  $^{20}$  אשר אמר פרןים. משה אחריו האשי פרןים. משה אחריו המקרא את הלל והן עובין אחריו ריבא היה לה'. (משה אומר כי נאה נאה והן אומרים אשירה לה'). משה אומר לה' אמר רבא הילכתא ניברתא  $^1$  Similarly B. Succa  $^38b$   $^1$  עוי וומרת יה והן אומרים אשירה לה' איכא למשמע ממנהנא דהלילא הוא אומר הללויה והן אומרים הללויה (מכאן שאם היה גדול מקרה אתו עונה הללויה). הוא אומר הללו עבדי ה' והן אומרין הללויה (מכאן שאם היה גדול מקרה אתו עונה אחריו הללויה). הוא אומר הודו לה' והן אומרים הודו לה' (מכאן שמצוה לענות ראשי פרקים). עובן מקרה אותו עונין אחריו מה שהוא אומר. הוא אומר אנא ה' הצליחה נא והן אומרים כך (מכאן מקרה אותו עונין אחריו מה שהוא אומר. הוא אומר ברוך הבא והן אומרים בשם ה' (מכאן מקרה אותו עובין אומרים באם ה' באלויה להול הוא אומר מנהנות משונות (הללויה Gr. Simeon b. Yoḥai p. 57. Maimonides, Yad ha Ḥazaḥa (Hilchoth Ḥanucah  $^3$  6 end) says that the invariable response of old used to be אבל בומנים אלו ראיתי בכל המקומות מנהנות משונות (מריאתו ובעניית העם ואין אחר מהם דומה לאחר (סריאתו ובעניית העם ואין אחר מהם דומה לאחר (סריאתו ובעניית העם ואין אחר מהם דומה לאחר (סריאתו הולל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלן 12 (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלן 12 (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלן 12 (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלן 12 (סריאתו הפריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלו (סריאתו המלל הן הולבין אצלו והוא אינו הולך אצלו (סריאתו המלל הן הולבין אצלו והולך אצלו הולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והולך אצלו (סריאתו המלל הן הולבין אצלו הוא אינו הולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו והולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבין אצלו הוא אינו הולך אצלו (סריאתו ההלל הן הולבים הלבים הל

was the second half of the verse כי לעולם חסרו as in Ps 136.8 But from verse 5 onwards, the doubling of the verses seems to point to antiphonal recitation of the parallel verses [Appendix E p. 112]. Applying this last scheme to Psalm 113 we get the summons of the reader (מַקרא) in verse 1 הלו עברי ה' הללו את שם ה' and in answer to this summons to praise God's Name, the response יהי שם ה' מברך מעתה וער עולם ה' מברך מעתה וער עולם מורך ברוך מורך אלהיך ברוך ברוך 2 Chr 9 אלהיך ברוך ברוך אלהא מברך מע ה' מבורך להוא שם ה' מבורך (Dan 2 20 cf. Tobit 9 5) the Aramaic form of it לָהַוְא שׁמָה וער עַלְמא וער עַלְמא . ה' האלהא מברך מן עַלְמא וער עַלְמא

<sup>8</sup> Psalm 135 and 136 are the same Psalm constructed for two differing forms of response. Further 1 Chr 16 34 41 2 Chr 5 13 Ps 118 29.

<sup>9</sup> Sifre Deut 6 4 p. 72b Pes 56a 20 Gen. Rab 98 to יודי, beginning, Tanhuma ib. p. 109a Deut. Rab 2 Jell., BH. II 73 Genesis 49 1 J II Deut 6 4 J I and J II.

Deut 6 4 J II יהא שמיה רבא מברך לעלם Gen 49 1 J I has the synonymous. So Deut 6 4 J I ושמיה רבא ישריה לעלמי עלמין 10 שמיה רבא. So Deut 6 4 J I שמיה רבא ישריה.

<sup>11</sup> GES.-KAUTZSCH, Hebr. Gram.27 135 n.

 $<sup>^{12}</sup>$  Cf. בכוד מלכותך Ps  $145\,_{11}$  שמא רבא ויקירא, שמא רבא ויקירא, שמא רבא ויקירא, שמא פלכ. p. 30f. Exod 33 בכרי כברי.

 $<sup>^{13}</sup>$  רבא (גדול), יקרא (כבור) (קרוש) etc. Cf. L. Blau,  $R \not E J$ . XXXI 1895 p. 188 f.

We are now in a position to see the identity of this response, at bottom made up of 3 parts 14 (1) ברוך (2) ה (3) in the various liturgical passages in the Old Testament in which it occurs.

Temple Response	Kaddish	Dan 2 20	Ps 113 2	1 Chr 29 10	Ps 106 48 1 Chr 16 36	Ps 41 14	Ps 72 19	Ps 89 52
ברוך	יהאמברך	להוא מברך	יהי מברך	ברוך אתה	ברוך	ברוך	ברוך	ברוך
שם כבור מלכותו	שמַה רבא	שמַה די אלהא	שם ה'	ה' אלהי ישראל אבינו	ה' אלהי ישראל	ה' אלהי ישראל	שם כבודו	'ה
לעולם וער	לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא	מן עלמא וער עלמא	מעתה וער עולם	מעולם וער עולם	מן העולם וער העולם	מהעולם וער העולם	לעולם	לעולם

Even the form of summons is sometimes of the same type: Ps 145 21 ויברך (כל בשר) (β) שם קרשו (α) or Neh 9 5 את ה' אלהיכם ( $\gamma$ ) מן העולם וער העולם ( $\alpha$ ) It is here seen that all the doxologies closing the books of Psalms, perhaps also recited after every Psalm,15 are substantially the same, and that this one type of blessing runs through the liturgical Psalms and prayers of the Old Testament. It seems not improbable that a formula of this type may be meant by the enigmatic ברכת השיר (Pes 10 7) recorded as said over the Hallel, the meaning of which was no longer known to the Tannaim of the second century. The formula is a simple blessing of God('s Name). In the Psalm doxologies it was said by the leader, the people responding (Ps 106 48 = 1 Chr 16 36 with (ואמר כל העם) with (ואמן) אמן (ואמן) So too in the ancient fast day service 16 the leader said the blessings or Psalms and closed with the doxology ברוך ה' אלהי ישראל מן העולם ועד העולם (Ps 106 48 1 Chr 16 36) to which the congregation in the Temple answered ברוך שם כבוד אמן (ואמן) in the synagogues, מלכותו לעולם ועד.

The difference between the Temple and synagogue responses is due to the fact that within the Temple, the Tetragrammaton was spoken, outside its pronunciation was avoided. This prepares us for the fact which we learn from other sources, 17 that ברוך שם

<sup>14</sup> Similar to the frequent Palmyrene dedication לבריך שמה לעלמא. The Mechilta 16 p. 19b gives the response of the people as ברוך ה" המבורך לעולם.

<sup>15</sup> So GRAETZ, MGWJ. 1872 p. 481 ff.

<sup>16</sup> T. Taan 1 10-14 215 26 ff. B. Taan 16b.

<sup>17</sup> Yoma 38 4 1 2 62 Ta'an 2 5 T. Ta'an 1 10 f. 13 215 29 216 3. Mechilta l.c. Gen.

שנד מלכותו לעולם ועד was a response to the utterance of the Tetragrammaton in the Temple. Bearing this fact in mind, we shall arrive at a clearer understanding of the nature of the Kaddish response.

In the Tanna d'be Eliahu Rabba the phrase יהי שמו הגדול סכנורך לעולם ולעולמי עולמים occurs 23 times, in the Tanna d'be Eliahu Zutta once. Ten of these are tacked on to הקב"ה, 18 9 to (צונו) אבי(נו מישב על כסא שופט צדק 20 to יושב על כסא שופט צדק and one each to ה' אלהיך, מלך מלכי המלכים ברוך הוא and מלך מלכי המלכים ברוך הוא 21. הקב"ה מלך מלכי This insertion of the praise at a mention of a name of God is not for special emphasis, but occurs quite sporadically and after designations that already contain the interjection ברוך הוא, and there seems to be no reason why it should be limited to just these cases. There is every reason to think that the response was often used in one form or another as an ejaculated praise at the mention of God's Name. For we have seen that it is the equivalent of ברוך שם כבוד מלכותו לעולם ועד, which is unquestionably a response to the Name, and both are in form simply blessings of the Name. Moreover we have direct evidence that responses were given at every mention of God, as in the later phraseology of Rabbinic writers ברוך הוא וברוך שמו are added. Deut 32 שם ה' אקרא הבו נדל לאלהינו 32 was interpreted as "When I mention the Name of the Lord, ascribe greatness to our God". 22 Prov 10 ז ברכה ז was taken as prescribing a at the mention of the Righteous One.23 Hence the added מכנורך according to R. Ishmael Ber 7 3 in the formula opening a service ברכו את ה' Rab 98 l.c. of Jacob's response אף הוא פירש בשפתיו ואמר ברוך שם כבוד מלכותו לעולם ועד בשפתיו ואמר ברוך שם כבוד מלכותו לעולם ועד means uttered the שם המפורש—the Name distinctly pronounced, the Tetragrammaton. This explains the otherwise enigmatic notice אין עונין אמן און עונין אמן  $T.Ber 7 22 17_{11} T.Ta'an 1_{11} 215 28 J.Ber 9 5 14c <math display="inline">^{12} B.Ta'an 16b_{12} Sota 40b^{1}$ . In the Temple the longer formula עולם וער מלכותו לעולם וער was used, in the synagogues (אמן (ואמן) אמן (ואמן)

יו TBER. 2 11 7 32 8 39 18 109 20 113 25 136 27 143 29 156. TBEZ. after מלך

מלכי המלכים הקב"ה 4 180.

&lt;sup>19</sup> אבי שבשמים <sup>19</sup> TBER. 10 51 11 53 17 83 18 100 20 121 29 157. אבינו שבשמים <sup>19</sup> 20 115 (not immediately). <sup>20</sup> TBER. 5 25 12 56. <sup>21</sup> TBER. 4 18 17 84 84.

 $<sup>^{22}</sup>$  Sifre to Deut 32  $_3$  306 p. 132b towards end, Rashi. Cf. Ber. 45a. Mechilta l. c. reads כי שם ה" אקרא. זה המברך. הבו גדל לאלהינו, אלו העונים אחריו. ומה הן עונין לעולם כי שם ה" המבורך לעולם.

<sup>23</sup> Yoma 37a 10 Yalkut to Prov 107 Mechilta l. c.

המבורד (p. 51). The custom that these verses were made to support was not regarded as tedious,24 for various responses were given,25 sometimes inordinately heaped up such as (TBER. 17 84) אבל הקרוש וברוך הוא מלך מלכי המלכים ברוך הוא יהי שמו הגדול מבורך לעולם ולעולמי שנתגלה מלך מלכי המלכים הקדוש ברוך or TBEZ. 4 180 עולמים] אינו כן הוא יהי שמו הגרול מבורך לעולם ולעולמי עולמים. The response to the opening summons ברוך ה' המבורך לעולם ועד was ברכו את ה' המבורך and ברוך שם כבוד מלכותו לעולם ועד (Sifre, Mechilta l. c.). The response in the grace after meals was ברוך המבורך DS. (Texts ברוך ומבורך, Tosafoth ברוך הוא ומבורך) Ber 45b . The frequent designation המקום (Aboth 5 4), especially in the blessing ברוך המקום, has almost invariably ברוך הוא tacked on to it; and when it occurs without it, the praise was certainly added in actual recitation and is merely omitted in writing to avoid repetition, just as in early Church writings the doxology closing the Paternoster is often left to be supplied in reading, and as, according to GRAETZ (l. c.), doxologies were recited after each Psalm, but written only at the end of whole books. In this way we can explain the rare cases where קודשא or הקדוש occurs without an added praise.26 It occurs with added praises as follows:

קודשא בריך הוא = הקדוש ברוך הוא (1) (blessed is, or rather blessed be He)

27 קודשא יהא שמיה מברך (2)

28 קודשא בריך הוא יהא שמיה משובח (3)

29ימא יהא שמיה מברך לעלמי (4)

30 קודשא בריך הוא יהא שמיה רבא מברך ומשבח לעלם (5)

<sup>24</sup> Deut 27 15—26. Cf. the 123 הללויה responses p. 44 note 7.

<sup>25</sup> Romans 1 25 and (?) 95.

<sup>26</sup> Exod 32 19 JI Num 23 20 JI Deut 32 3 JII Lam 3 38 Cant 4 11. In these cases however מיוד could be genetive in place of the adjective e.g. Deut 32 3 JII שמיה דקורשא equal to שמיה קרישא as commonly in Aramaic. אב פום קורשא מי קרש as in Exod 32 19 JI is the translation of the commonly occurring שמיה שנא used to avoid הי. (See the examples collected by Bacher, ETT. 168 f. and Addenda ETA. p. 254.) But for this also מי הקב"ה occurs.

<sup>27</sup> Exod 20 2 3 J II Num 16 2 J I.

<sup>28</sup> Exod 15 18 J I 24 18 J I Num 21 34 J II Deut 3 2 J II.

<sup>29</sup> Exod 15 3 J I.

<sup>30</sup> Exod 20 2 J II.

31 עלמא (6) אלהא דעלמא יהא שמיה מברך לעלמי (שלמין)

32 קודשא יהא שמיה רבא מברך לעלמי עלמין (7)

33 קודשא יהא שמיה רבא מברך לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא (8)

(9) הקרוש ברוך הוא [מלך מלכי המלכים ברוך הוא] יהי שמו הגדול מבורך לעולם ולעולמי עולמים 24

35 הקדוש ברוך הוא יתברך שמו לעולם ולעולמי עולמין

לעולם ולעולמי ברוך הוא שיתברך שמו של הקדוש ברוך הוא לעולם ולעולמי (11) מולמים 36

etc. etc. 37

These examples leave no doubt that it was customary to respond at the mention of God's Name with a blessing, varying in form, but at bottom composed of the same three elements as the Biblical responses examined above with the Kaddish response, namely (1) בריך (2) שמיה (3) שמיה (3). These are all responses to a אוכרה , הוכרה , וברה א אוכרה , שמיה (3) שמיה a mention of God's Name, given by the reader and the congregation. It is clear therefore, that this response in the Kaddish is the liturgical response of the Bible, and the praise ejaculated in the synagogues and study houses after every mention of God's Name.

 <sup>31</sup> Gen 35 9 J II Haftarah Targum blessing Lagarde, Proph. Chald. 1872
 p. 493 no. 8.
 32 Gen 49 1 J II Ex 15 18 J II edd.

<sup>33</sup> Exod 15 3 J II as in the Kaddish. 34 TBER. 1784 and p. 47 note 18.

<sup>35</sup> TBER. 18 108. 36 TBER. 28 149.

<sup>37</sup> Compare Chase (The Lord's Prayer in the Early Church p. 168 et seq.) for the various ways in which the doxology σοί [ἐστιν] ἡ δόξα εἰς τοὺς αἰῶνας was expanded in the Christian Church. Ps 113 2 appears as a response in the early Church liturgy e. g. in the Mass of St. Chrysostom Brit. Mus. Add. 14497. Cf. Probet, Liturgie des vierten Jahrhunderts, p. 443.

<sup>38</sup> Exod 23 א תוכירו לדר דר לדר דר 25 Exod 3 ולים אחרים לא תוכירו 15 ולים 15 "Exod 3 ולים 15 "ברי לדר דר לדר דר לדר דר 15 "Exod 3 ולים 15 "הם שמי לעלם ווה זכרי לדר דר לדר דר 15 "Exod 3 ולים 15 "הם 15 "הם 13 "הם 15 "הם 15 "הם 15 "הם 15 "הם 15 "הם 15 "הוכרה במם 17 ואוכרת השם 18 וויים 18 הוכרה במם 18 הוכרה במם 18 השם 1

<sup>39</sup> Dalman, therefore, Gram. p. 26 is at fault in finding a sign of the Palestinian origin of the Kaddish in the quotation of the response in the Palestinian Sifre l. c. The response is, as shown above, Biblical. Hence also Friedmann is totally mistaken in writing of this response (Introd. to TBE. p. 79 bot.) בראה שעניה בימיהם ושבחוה כדי להרניל בה הצבור i. e. in the time of Joshua b. Levi and Jose (3rd cent. CE.).

According to the Sifre l. c. מנין לאומר יהא שמיה. מנין לאומר יוסי אומר. מנין לאומר יהא שמיה? תלמום? רבא מברך שעונים אחריהם לעולמי ולעולמי עולמים? תלמור לומר כי שם הי רבא מברך שעונים אחריהם לעולמי ולעולמי עולמים, the leader added the first half of the praise to an utterance of God's Name and the congregation followed it up with 'לע' ולע' על' ארי ארי על'. Assuming the text here to be correct, 41 it would nevertheless seem that the final response in the Kaddish doxology was given in toto by the congregation, the leader prompting אמן יהא שמיה רבא.

There is no mention of God's Name in the Kaddish to occasion this response other than יתנדל ויתקדש שמיה רבא. The emphasis however is on this magnifying and hallowing of the Name through the redemption, 42 and in response to this as a finale, the whole response is given in full by the assembled congregation. To magnify it above the other (less complete?) responses given throughout the discourse, the Midrashic amplification of it . . יתברך וישתבה was added.

There is one more Talmudic reference to this formula. In Succa 39 a <sup>2</sup> (L) Raba (280—352) says one should not separate &lt;sup>40</sup> אמה רבא דאנדתא Sota 49a <sub>26</sub> Compare also C D E F page 8 f.

&lt;sup>41</sup> Note however אומר (Sing.) and אחריהם (Pl.) — "after these mentions"?; לעולמי (!) ולעולמי עולמים Aramaic and לעולמי (!) ולעולמי (!) Hebrew.

&lt;sup>42</sup> The intervening מלכות clause is not felt as interrupting; compare TBER. 20 116 אבינו שבשמים, ששמינו כשמו ושמו נאה לו והכל שלו והכל מעשי ידיו יהי שמו הגדול, מבורך מבורך.

מברך from יש"ר, but should utter the four words יש"ר together: לא לימא אינש יהא שמיה רבא והדר מברך אלא יהא שמיה רבא מברך בהדדי. This is apparently directed against a scheme of response: Reader יהא שמיה רבא —Cong. יהא ש' ר' מברך לע' ול' על', similar to the summons of Akiba (Ber 7 3) ברכו את ה' To these were preferred the schemes: Reader יה' שמ' רב' מב' לע' ול' על' Cong. יהא שמ' רב' מברך and Reader ברוך ה' המכורך לעולם ועד Cong. ברכו את ה' המכורך לעולם ועד 43 emphasising the importance of responding to the utterance of the Name.

The relationship of the Kaddish and the summons ברכו which we find as interchangeable in various passages 44 is, as we now see, the relationship of their responses to each other. The two responses לע' ול' על' and ברוך ה' המבורך לעולם ועד both of which are supported from Deut 32 3 in the same way, are similar in form and are responses to the mention of the divine Name. For the response ברוך ה' המבורך לעולם ועד is not the answer to the summons to prayer, but a response to the utterance of the Name contained in the summons.45 These considerations help towards understanding the importance attached to these responses.46 They not only imply the presence of the congregation in the synagogue or study house, but are the praise of God offered after every blessing,41 after every mention of His Name and after the final doxology of the lecture house.

The response must, from the analogy of the various Biblical and Rabbinical forms adduced above, end at עלמיא Through a misconstruction and to preserve the number seven of 'the seven praises', many texts 49 include also the יתברך of the following paragraph

&lt;sup>43</sup> R. Ishmael Ber 7 <sup>3</sup> Sifre l. c. Ber 50a <sub>14</sub>.

<sup>44</sup> Soferim 10 <sup>8</sup> p. 153 בין ברכו בין קריש 18 <sup>8</sup>. The Akiba legend (Appendix B note 3 p. 102) where the son says קריש או ברכו. Compare the Kaddish like prayer added as a meditation to ברכו in almost all prayer manuals.

<sup>45</sup> The text of Sifre l. c. emphasising Dw in Deut 32 3 makes this clear. This answers the doubt expressed by Dr. Elbogen JQR. XIX 1907 p. 235.

אמן יהא שמיה רבא עריף מפי : (באר הימב) 3 Shulḥan Aruch Oraḥ Ḥayyim 56 47 Sifre I. c. מנין שעונים אחר המבורה.

 <sup>48</sup> So Seadya, Asheri, Rashi, Mahzor Vitry, Maimonides, Kol Bo etc.
 49 Amram, Orhoth Ḥayyim, Shulhan 'Aruch Orah Ḥayyim 56 3, Spanish, many Yemen MSS. (Or. 1480 etc.). The legend in Derech Eres Zutta as cited in Shibbole ha-Leket 8. Ha-Manhig Ch. 4 etc. The Cabbalists Joseph Gikatilla, Bahve ben Asher and Recanate quoted in Matteh Moshe 74.

in the response. This reading is construed as two sentences אים מברך לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא יתברך ממרה רבא מברך לעלמי עלמיא יתברך ממרה ולעלמי עלמיא ולעלמי עלמיא ולעלמי עלמיא ווא יתברך הוא יתברך הוא יתברך in a Genizah fragment, 50 and certainly that of the Italian 11 and Provençal 52 reading ילעלמי עלמיא ולעלמי עלמיא ולעלמי מברך לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא ולעלמי פריך הוא. ישתבח ... ישתבח בריך הוא. ישתבח ... עלמיא יתברך שמיה דקודשא בריך הוא. ישתבח יהא שמיה רבא מברך. לעלם לעל עלמ' עלמ' and the Maḥzor Vitry אווי יתברך מברך מברך מברך הוא יתברך יהא שמיה רבא מברך obscures the true meaning of the verse.

Superlinear wrongly הא, perhaps from the influence of the irregular א, (usually standing for â), in place of the expected Yod (from the root הוה חסד הוה Barth, ES. 1893 71f.) that as mater lectionis implies an î or ê. The א is perhaps also used here to avoid reading the Hebrew form יהי. Nabatean and Biblical Aramaic generally write tertia א in the 3rd sing. impf. of tertia א, י and ז. In later Aramaic יהי and א יהי occur indifferently.

The superlinear texts read here איה. In the paragraph על they read almost invariably . יהוי שלמא and again ישראל. There is no apparent reason for this regularly occurring variation in form.<sup>54</sup>

לאלם ולעלם ולעלם אלמין Thus in the Kaddish response, 55 or without the connecting Vav. The readings עלמין for עלמין in Kohut's Yemen text 56 and לעלמא for לעלמא in two Genizah fragments 57 and in the Yemen text of Maimonides' reading 58 are exceptional. The numerous variations shown above (p. 48f.) could easily be multiplied from

<sup>50</sup> GDK. 54.

&lt;sup>51</sup> Luzzatto 40b. Or. 2736 Add. 18,230, 26,957, 27,072 etc. for the sabbath morning service.

<sup>52</sup> Cod. GASTER 701. 53 Tosafoth Ber 3a.

<sup>55</sup> Cf. Ber 28b 23. Targ. Exod 15 3 J II. 56 Targ. Ps 45 18.

<sup>57</sup> GDK. 53. 54 and Chinese MSS. Cf. Isa 45 17 Cod. Reuchl. Targ.

<sup>58</sup> Or. 2227 p. 18b.

Biblical usage, 59 Aramaic inscriptions, 60 the Targum 61 and other sources. In view of these differences, the notice of the Mishna and Tosefta is instructive "ער עולם " ער שבמקדש היו שבמקדש היו "ער עולם משקלקלו המינין ואמרו אין העולם אלא אחד התקינו שיהו אומרים "מן העולם "The final words of the Temple blessings used to be 'for ever'; but in opposition to the sectaries who denied the existence of a second world, the formula was expanded to 'for ever and to all eternity." This notice can hardly be wholly true historically, as both the simple מון) (ה)עולם (ו)עד (ה)עולם השולם and the fuller מון) ה)עולם (ו)עד (ה)עולם ה occur in Biblical doxologies. The sectaries (מינין) meant must be Sadducees (or Samaritans?) as the existence of the Temple alone precludes any later reference. The Sadducee Sirach uses the form מעולם ועד עולם (39 20). But the oldest Samaritan texts have only מן העולם ועד העולם אולם The double reading however מן העולם ועד העולם (T. Ta'an 1 11 215 28) used in the Temple is always reproduced traditionally in the Targum as מן עלמא הדין ועד עלמא. And a comparison of this notice of the Mishna and Tosefta with a passage like the Targ. to Isa 41 4 (אני ה' ראשון ואת אחרנים אני הוא) – אנא ה' ברית עלמא shows the transference of meaning מבראשית ואף עלמי עלמיא דילי אינון from עלמא eternity to עלמא world, and makes clear the traditional reference to the present eternity-world and the future world-eternity expressed in the formula לעלם ולעלמי עלמיא . . .

 $<sup>^{59}</sup>$  Ps 72 19 90 2 41 14 145 2 etc. Dan 2 20 מן עלמא 10 דער שלמא 7 מן שלמא עד עלמא עלמא עלמיא.

<sup>60</sup> Palmyrene לעלמא. Savce-Cowley Egyptian Aram. ער עלם 9 times. Ldzb. 342 לעלם עלמין.

<sup>61</sup> Isa 63 edd. בעלם עלמיא. Cod. Reuchl. בעלם עלמיא. Abud. Amr. Sead. Kimhi אינס עלמיא. Abraham ibn Ezra, עלמי עלמיא.

<sup>62</sup> Ber. end. T. Ber. 7 21 17 8 חותם is a noun, pl. cstr. of חותם, not of החות.
The Mishna text reads less suitably היו מן העולם.
63 Ps 72 19 89 53.

<sup>64</sup> Ps 41 14 106 48 1 Chr 16 36 29 10. Compare Dan 2 20.

<sup>65</sup> E. g. Add. 19,651 שמו לעולם וברוך אלהי(נו) לעולם ברוך אלהי(נו) לעולם וברוך שמו לעולם הברך ברוך אלהי(נו) לעולם וברוך אלהי(נו) Heidenheim X Samarit. Liturgie Heft 1. Geiger Urschrift 128 ff.

ן יְתְבֶּרַךּ (2) וְיִשְׁתַּבֵּח (3) וְיִתְבָּלֵּא (6) וְיִתְבַּעָּא (6) וְיִתְבַּעָּא (6) וְיִתְבַּעָּא (6) וְיִתְבַּעָּא (7) וְיִתְבַּעָּא שְׁמַה דְּקְדְשָּׁא בְרִיךְ הוּא לְעַׂלֶּא מִבֶּל־בִּרְכָּתָא שִׁירָתָא (7) וְיִתְּעַלֶּה (8b) וְיִתְקַלֵּס (8b) וְיִתְקַלַּס (8b) וְיִתְקַלַּס וּאמרו צָּמַן.

Yemen reads 1 2 3 4 7 6 8a 5. Roman, Romania, Corfu and Provence 1 2 3 4 5 7 6 8a, and Chinese 1 2 3 4 7 5 6 8. Rashi, Yemen, Chinese, Roman and Provence לעלא לעלא and so German from the 1st to the 10th of Tishri.

Stripped of its richness of wording this paragraph may be reduced to יתברך שמיה דקדשא ב"ה לעילא מכל ברכתא, and it is seen to be a florid Midrashic working out of the response יהא שמ' רב', apparently suggested in form by the opening words יתגדל, intended to magnify the finale and make it more impressive.

This paragraph is therefore younger than its original. Phil. Bloch dates it from the Gaonic period, the style, according to him, pointing decidedly to the mystics known as the מיורדי מרכבה as the authors of this addition. In proof of his theory he refers to the manual of these mystics—the work היכלות רבתי that contains many passages of heaped up synonyms of praise more or less similar to those in this paragraph. Their relationship cannot be gainsaid. But in the היכלות רבתי they show a mystic extravagance and unclearness of expression that is foreign to the Kaddish paragraph. Many of them are expansions of expansions like the acrostic one in Amram (I 3b) מי לא יהום למלך המהות. מי לא יהום למלך המהות. מי לא יהום למלך המהות. מי לא יהום למלך המהותם. מי לא יהור למלך המהותם מי לא יהום למלך המהומם. מי לא יהום למלך המהומם מי לא יהום למלך המהומם. מי לא יהום למלך המהומם מי לא יהום למלך המהומם מי לא יהום למלך המהומם. מי לא יהום למלך המהומם מי לא יהום לא

&lt;sup>1</sup> MGWJ. XXXVII 1893 p. 264 et seq. <sup>2</sup> Jell. BH. III 83—108.

With far more right could the author of the TBER be fixed upon as author of our paragraph. For in that work instead of praises sometimes over 80 in number piled one upon another as in יברך וישבה וירומם ויגדל , we get the more modest phrase יברך וישבה וירומם ויגדל in different variations over and over again.4

The almost complete agreement in the wording of the paragraph in every ritual points to its having been old and traditional long before the Gaonic period [7th-11th cent]. The subsequent paragraphs dating from late Talmudic or Gaonic times, show many variations in their traditions. Of this paragraph there is only one tradition and that is shared by every rite. And this early date is borne out entirely by the praises on which Bloch bases his theory. Hechaloth Rabbathi itself contains elements far older than Gaonic. BLOCH himself refers to the case mentioned in both Talmuds 5 where a synagogue reader in Tannaitic times is blamed for departing from the traditionally fixed form by heaping up praise designations over and above הגרול הנכור והנורא incorporated by the Men of the Great Synagogue in the Shemone 'Esre. This, if it shows nothing else, proves that the tendency towards piling up synonyms of praise existed earlier than the Gaonic יורדי מרכבה. The same is attested by the rain blessing twice given in the Palestinian Talmud' beginning . . יתגדל (ו) יתקדש (ו) יתברך, by the Mechilta of R. Simeon b. Yohais וישראל מפארין ומרוממין ומשבחין ומקלסין ומהללין ... ומהדרין) ונותנין שיר ושבח גדולה ותפארת ונצח והוד למי), by the Mechilta of R. Ishmael מרומם ומשבח ונותן שיר ושבח והודאה וגדלה מפארים ומרוממים ונותנין שיר ושבח וגדולה ותפארת למי.. or ותפארת והוד והלל...

&lt;sup>4</sup> TBER. 5 22 6 31 3 1, 15 69 16 81 18 96 97 (6 times in twelve lines) 103. Compare further 18 89 29 157 19 110 6 27 17 83 20 113 28 154 18 100.

 $<sup>^5</sup>$  B. Ber  $33\,\mathrm{b}_{\,12}$  B. Meg  $25\,\mathrm{a}^{\,21}$  Jer Ber  $9\,\mathrm{t}$   $12\,\mathrm{d}_{\,31}$  Midr. Ps  $19\,\mathrm{2}$  ed. Buber p. 163.

 $<sup>^6</sup>$  Deut 10  $_{17}$  Neh 9  $_{32}$  Ber 33 b  $_{12}$  Meg 25 a  $^{21}$  Yoma 69 b  $_{16}$  J. Ber 9  $_1$  12 d  $_{31}$  Sifre 343 ed. Friedmann p. 142 b Midr. Ps 19  $_2$  p. 163.

&lt;sup>7</sup> J. Ber 9 3 14a 8 J. Ta'an 1 3 64b <sup>12</sup> Ber Rab 13.

<sup>8</sup> Mechilta of R. Simeon b. Yohai ed. Hoffmann to Exod 14 8 p. 45, to Exod 14 14 p. 47.

Mechilta of R. Ishmael (ed. FRIEDMANN) to Exod 14 15 end p. 30 a, to Exod 14 14 p. 29 a. See Zunz GV<sup>2</sup> 387 note ii.

to say nothing of Biblical examples 10 such as חמרומם ומרומם ומרומם ומרומם והגבות והגצח והגצח והגבות הגבורה והגבורה והמתנשא לכל לראש...

The very maxim of R. Meir (139—165). "few should be the words man utters to God" (Ber 61a 1 Eccl 5 1), of R. Yoḥanan (Job 37 20) המספר בשבחו של הקב"ה יותר מראי נעקר מן העולם שנאמר (Job 37 20) היספר לו כי אדבר "he who gives God immoderate praise, destroys himself" and other similar sayings, must be understood as showing that the opposite tendency was prevalent, and against it they warn.

The Mishna Pesahim 10 5 in our Babylonian editions contains the following words לפיכך אנחנו חייבים להורות להלל לשבח לפאר לרומם לפיכך אנחנו חייבים להורות להלל לשבח לפיכך .... לרומם or in the Palestinian text לפיכך .... לרומם Rabbinowicz in his Dikduke Soferim mentions other old readings, but all are agreed in reading heaped up praises usually seven or eight in number. 12 This Mishna has practically the same tradition as our paragraph, since להודות cannot be turned into the Hithpael without giving it the meaning of "confess" 13, and יתברך, corresponding with לברך, is in the Kaddish transposed to the beginning, as being the connecting link of the whole paragraph.

From these and similar examples, it is clear that the Gaonic mystics, the יורדי מרכבה are not to be held as the authors of this paragraph. In the language of the mystics there is an unvarying tradition, and the two works with the most frequent echoes of the seven praises are the mystic היכלות רבתי containing many old elements and TBER. and Z. also containing many very early traditions,

<sup>10</sup> Page 27 note 5 doubled expressions in Daniel. This heaping of synonyms of praise is very common in apocryphal works e.g. The Song of the three Holy Children and in the early Church liturgy. Carl Michel Gebet und Bild in frühchristlicher Zeit Leipzig 1902 p. 3. Apostolic Constitutions VIII 35. Even the prayer book of the Falashas shows the same style—Joseph Halevy Paris 1876 p.21, <sup>11</sup> Daniel 4 34. In Daniel, the earliest extant work of the mystic school, expressions of all kinds heaped up 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 or 8 fold are a marked feature of the style e. g. 2 27 4 4 5 7 11 magicians; 3 1 3 27 6 8 satraps (compare Jer 51 57); 3 4 7 29 31 5 19 6 26 7 14 peoples; 3 5 7 10 15 musical instruments; 2 37 4 33 7 27 kingdom; 5 11 14 wisdom; 5 4 23 gold etc. 3 21 clothes; etc.

<sup>12</sup> Tosafoth to Pesahim ib. Amram.

&lt;sup>13</sup> 2 Chr 30 22 is questionable; and if it does not mean confess, it has at least a semi-active meaning "to give thanks", here unsuitable. In Rabbinical Hebrew the Hithpaal always means confess.

so that this heaping seems to be a special characteristic of the mystics as Bloch has pointed out. The origin of Jewish mysticism is usually traced back to the Essenes and the literature of the cosmogony, angelology, esoteric speculation and mysticism in general took its rise among them. We are therefore justified in seeking the origin of this paragraph among the mystics, most probably among those who followed and carried on the traditions of the old Essenes, the predecessors of the Gaonic יוודי מרכבה. Many prominent Rabbis belonged more or less to this (Essenic) mystic school, such as R. Simeon b. Yoḥai and Joshua b. Levi, and there is nothing against seeking the origin of this paragraph somewhere between the second and fourth centuries of the common era.

The Hebrew form יתנדל ויתקדש וישתבה ויתפאר reads יתנדל ויתקדש וישתבה ויתבאר הכל דיתהדל ויתרום ויתנשא ויתעלה ויתהדר ויתהלל, the order of the terms agreeing with that in the Roman ritual (Shibbole ha-Leket), the Yemen tradition and the Genizah fragment (GDK. 53). Out of two dozen instances taken from TBER. and שבה ברך, היכלות רבתי are coupled 18 times, דדל and דדש 11 times. Very many prayers both old and more modern contain echoes of these praises, often in a Midrashically expanded form. 15 In the prayer book examples 16 ישתבה ויתפאר ויתרומם is a traditional order.

In the early middle ages fanciful explanations were given to the numbers of the terms of praise whether reckoned as seven, 17 eight 18 or ten 19 (including יתגדל ויתקדש). In the Kaddish the praises are usually joined with Vav. 20

<sup>14</sup> Page 18, Soferim 14 12 text as edit. MÜLLER.

<sup>15</sup> E. g. in the grace after meals הרחמן הוא יהרחמן ובארץ הרחמן ובארץ הרחמן הוא יתברך בשמים ובארץ הרחמן הוא ישתבח לדור בנו לעד ולעולמי עולמים לדור בנו לעד ולעולמי עולמים.

 $<sup>^{16}</sup>$  במקהלות Amram I 27 b, Vitry 154, ברוך שאמר Amram I 2b, תתברך צורנו Amram I 27 b etc.

&lt;sup>17</sup> Amram, and most authorities follow him, connects them with the 7 heavens.

<sup>18</sup> Mahzor Vitry, Orhoth Hayyim, Kol Bo equivalent to the 7 heavens and the expanse above the Hayyoth. Differently Eleazar of Worms, the 8 words of Moses.

&lt;sup>19</sup> The 10 words (מאמרות) by which the world was created (Aboth 5 1), Rashi, Shibbole ha-leket (Zedekiah b. Abraham). Differently his brother Benjamin: God's 10 garments of justice and vengeance.

&lt;sup>20</sup> In the old Genizah fragment (GDK. 53) only the last two are connected with Vav. So too Yemen Ms. Or. 2227 (1540 CE.) p. 18 b. Or. 2418. Cod. GASTER 321.

It is impossible to regard the words as anything but Hebrew. 21 Almost all old authorities recognise their Hebrew character and many are at pains to account for the change from Aramaic. 22 Abudarham gives the reason quite correctly that these words cannot be forced to take on an Aramaic dress כי השבח לא היו יכולין לשנותו ללשון על דא יתברך וישתבח שמיה even though we find passages like תרגום רמריה כולא (Vitry p. 172). יתעלה and יתעלה are purely Hebrew forms; מהדר can only mean "to return, go around" etc. in Aramaic, and and יתהלל are not used in Aramaic at all. The Ithpaals are used, as often the Nithpaal, as the usual new-Hebrew passive. Probably under Aramaic influence the Hithpaal form, preserving the original a vowel that is very common in classical Hebrew,23 is used as far as we can tell from early punctuated new-Hebrew texts almost to the exclusion of the Hithpael, especially, as here, in cases of words in rapid connection. It is as unnecessary then to point with many editions יתפאר, יתברך etc. as it would be to point ישתבּח. Most of the old MSS. and editions point the words as pausal, although for what reason it is difficult to see, unless it be to ensure their deliberate recitation.

ּרְבְּרַךְּ Amr. Maim. and many MSS. treat it 24 as part of the response requiring an אָמן after it. Vitry etc. read יְתִבּרַן.

וֹיְשְׁתְּבָּח in Biblical Hebrew apparently late and borrowed from Aramaic. The usual Targ. to יתהלל is יתהלל is here used as the pass. of the Pael "to be lauded", not as "to boast".

מְלְּבְּאַר a favourite root in Ben Sirach (48 4 50 20 ...). It is nowhere used as Aramaic. BARTH E. S. 21.

וְיְתְרוֹטְם Ithpalal, Hebrew, but in Aramaic not necessarily a Hebraism—Dan 4 34 (11 36). <sup>26</sup> Barth E. S. 14. This word is almost

<sup>21</sup> BAER treats them as Aramaic, as did Solomon b. Adereth.

&lt;sup>22</sup> Rashi Pardes, Maḥzor Vitry (p. 8) explain the change into Aramaic after them as an avoidance of the שם in Hebrew. So ארחות חיים and כל בו which also, as Rashi, give as a reason of their being in Hebrew that there is no occasion to conceal these praises from the angels.

<sup>23</sup> Ges.-Kautzsch<sup>27</sup> § 54 k.

<sup>24</sup> Also Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 56 2. Isserles ib. Tur Orah Hayyim 56.

&lt;sup>25</sup> So Kautzsch, Aramäismen im Alten Testament p. 87. On the Rabbinical use of שבה Bacher ETA. 212.

&lt;sup>26</sup> Nöldeke, Göttingsche Gelehrte Anzeigen 1884 1016.

always pointed ויתרומָם in old MSS. e. g. Amram Or. 1067, and the editions.

ויתרומם perhaps coupled with ויתרומם under the influence of Isa 33 ויתרומם עתה אָרוֹמֶם עתה אָנְשֵׁא Isa 6 ו 57 וַנְשָּׁא זוֹם.

ויתהדר ויתעלה usually pointed ויתהדר ויתעלה.

So Amram, Seadya and Schechter's Genizah fragment (GDK. 53). Later texts ייתהלל. Cf. Mishna Pes. 10 ה לקלס (p. 56). From a responsum of Abraham Maimonides ייתהלל (p. 56). In Amram's time already the custom varied and he notes that while some say היתקלס the custom varied and he notes that while some say ייתקלס, others do not. The reason for the change from ייתקלס was because of its double meaning. In Biblical Hebrew the verb קלס and its derivatives means only to mock, scorn, scoff, and קלס 'derision' is always parallel to הרסה. In Ben Sirach too (114) it bears the same meaning, but also (probably) in the Piel to sing praises התקלום שירה ותקלן 47 וז. In Rabbinical Hebrew the verb is commonly used in the sense of to jump, leap, spring on an Aramaic; and as long as Aramaic was the ruling language, this latter meaning would

&lt;sup>27</sup> Beginning of the חובץ מעשה הרמבם, מעשה הרמבה 51b. c.

<sup>28</sup> Ha-Manhig (Tefilla 28).

&lt;sup>29</sup> See the Wiener Zeitschrift f. Kunde d. Morgenlandes XVII 1903 p. 165 ff. Prof. A. Büchler.

 $<sup>^{30}</sup>$  J. Shab. 16, 15c  $_{34}$  Sof. 16  $_{11}$  (p. 222) the 147 Psalms of the book of Psalms connected by Graetz (Psalmen p. 9) with the triennial circle of reading the Pentateuch, are called מילוסין לחקב"ו Midr. Ps 89  $_{1}$  p. 381 מיקלסני ... לברך ולקלס לבוראנו Ber. Rab. 1  $_{1}$ , Yalkut II 835, 941. Sota  $^{40}$ a  $_{26}$  יחקלס עילאה PR. El. 3 etc. etc. Bacher ETA. 190 f.

<sup>31</sup> Büchler l. c. finds the root meaning of bbp in the signification "leap, jump". From the leaping at weddings or funerals that accompanied words of praise he derives the meaning "praise", and from stamping the foot, that of "scorn, deride" etc. He thus rejects the usual derivation of bbp praise from the Greek—Payne Smith χλέος fame, Levy TWB. χλείζω, Fleischer, Nachtrag to Levy TWB. 576, Kohut, Aruch, Fränkel, Aram. Fremdwörter 284, Dalman, Gram. 183 χαλώς, χαλός, Κrauss, Griech. v. Lat. Lehnwörter im Talmud II 547 χελεύσαι, Wellhausen (quoted by Bevan) a denominative from χλήσις. A.A. Βεναη agreeing with Levy NHWB., compares the double meaning of bb (Gesenius, Brown Lexicon) praise, and Syriac Afel al mock, both from the root meaning to cry out. Orientalisehe Studien Theodor Nöldeke zum 70. Geburtstag gewidmet 1906, Vol. 1, p. 581 f.

present itself first. Later when Aramaic was no longer the vernacular, the Biblical meaning was again brought to the front; and in scrupulous avoidance of all ambiguity, ייתהלל was not allowed to stand and was replaced by ייתהלל. Yehudai Gaon (760 C. E.) (Shibbole ha-Leket) preferred ייתהלל on this account. Amram however defends ייתקלם denying that the Biblical use is exclusively unfavorable. It is purely a dernier ressort when Hai Gaon [939—1028] gives to ייתקלם the meaning "behelmed".32

מְיְתְהַלֵּל as in Prov 31 30 the passive of the Piel, not to boast. Old MSS. and many editions ויתהלל.

בריך הוא לַרִיךָ הוּא בִּרִיךְ הוּא כּריךְ הוּא בּרִיךְ הוּא בִּרִיךְ הוּא בִּרִיךְ הוּא בִּרִיךְ הוּא שמו של מלך מלכי see above p. 48. One of Schechter's Genizah fragments (GDK. 53) reads שמו של מלך מלכים ברוך הוא דוה דוה המלכים ברוך הוא המכים ברוך הוא המכים ברוך הוא המכים המכים המכים המכים המכים הקדוש ב"ה The designation ברוך הוא נהבורה שכינה שכינה, הקדוש ב"ה the Aramaic term using the abstract noun "Holiness", as the abstracts שכינה, שכינה שכינה מעלה, הגבורה שכינה מעלה etc. are used as names of God, the Hebrew the adjective noun "the Holy One", based on Biblical usage such as קרוש ישראל to the adjective אליות של עליון ,רחמנא etc. מון של עולם sometimes joined with an abstract noun such as בבור של עולם של על , ברוקו של על , מובתו של על , רומו של על , מרומו של על , בדיקו של על , עתיקו של על , עשירו של על , יחירו של עולם .

as a Name of God is of very frequent occurrence 35, and it is here impossible to split it up construing as two sentences ... ויתהלל שמה דקדשא. בריך הוא לעילא מכל ברכתא ... as several prescribe. 36 For Seadya and Maimonides prescribe an בריך אמן, and the paragraph is ultimately based on Neh 9 5 ויברכו שם 5 9 אוא a helmet, Fleischer l. c., Krauss l. c. p. 507 κῶνος; Levy TWB. D. Gr. 186 κορύς. Bὔchler R'EJ LIV 1907 p. 194-199 thinks by is the Palestinian reading, adopted in the academy at Sura, but rejected at Pumbaditha.

33 Compare ὁ εὐλογητός Mark 14 61.

<sup>35</sup> E. g. Sanh 39 a <sub>15</sub>. Ber 3b <sub>11</sub> 7a <sup>18</sup>. Keth 77 b <sub>17</sub>. JI Gen 22 i 25 21. Num 21 34. Deut 1 i. Burial Kaddish.

<sup>34</sup> E. Landau, Die dem Raume entnommenen Synonyma für Gott, Zürich 1888 p. 6 et seq. gives 57 Rabbinical designations of God. On הקרוש ב'ה) Schürer, Jahrbuch f. Protest. Theologie II 1876, p. 171.

<sup>36</sup> אור זרוע אור מנן אברהם quoted by מנן אברהם Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 56 7 and Isserles to Tur ibid. followed by Baer, Abodath Israel p. 130.

במקהלות: מודר ותהלה במקהלות: as is the parallel passage in במקהלות: ... במקהלות: Moreover לעלה ולקלס על כל דברי שירות ותשבחות דוד בן ישי... Moreover לעלה ולקלס על כל דברי שירות ותשבחות דוד בן ישיה דקדשא alone occurs very exceptionally (e. g. Deut 32 3 JII) even though שמיה is, in accordance with Aramaic idiom, usually used with a sa Genitive instead of the adjective עדרשא. In such cases too איד מדיך הוא or some such response was almost certainly added in actual recitation. The sense of the passage is obviously יתברך שמיה דקב"ה לעילא מכל ברכתא ישתבח שמיה דקב"ה לעילא מכל תושבחתא

סרן מִן־כָּל or מִן־כָּל or מִן־כָּל or the contracted form ישָׁ is quite as indifferently used in the old versions as in Biblical Aramaic where מון אנשא poccur together Dan 4 22, and מַּמָשׁ and מַּמְשׁ occur together in the one verse Ezra 6 14. On the whole however in Biblical Aramaic is more often unassimilated. According to Dalman (Gr. 227) מוֹן in the Palest. Talmud and Midrashim often remains unassimilated, so also in the Jerus. Targumim. In Onkelos, according to MS. Socin 74 מוֹן מִוֹן is almost without exception assimilated, but never in מוֹן מִוֹן מוֹן, and in Mandaic 40 the וְ is not assimilated—at least orthographically not.

see on ונחמתא p. 62.

שׁיְרָתָא וְתְשְׁבַּחְתָא belong intimately together. Hence שירתא, not שירות ותשבחות שירתא ותשבחתא is a usual expression for Psalms. 41 שירין ותושבחן becomes in the Targum שיר השירים, while

&lt;sup>37</sup> Dan 6 3. Nabatean (Ldzb. 341) Egyptian Aramaic Sayce-Cowley A. 5 10 11 13 etc. Several MSS. e. g. Add. 26,954.

<sup>38</sup> Most MSS. and almost all editions. Targum Sabionetta etc. Dalman.

<sup>39</sup> Amram Ms. Or. 1067. Or. 2736, 2389. Add. 18,230.

<sup>40</sup> Nöldeke, Mand. Gram. § 158.

<sup>41</sup> Of David Ber 3b <sub>17</sub> 7b <sup>24</sup> Sanh 92b <sub>7</sub> Midr. Ps 22 1 p. 180. Of Solomon Targ. Cant 1 1 4 11 Midr. Ps 22 1 p. 130. Biblical הפלוח e. g. Ps 72 20. Cf. Mechilta to Exod 15 1 p. 34a, Tanhuma ibid. Harkavy, Responsen der Geonim 30 f.

שירה שירה appears regularly as תושבתא, תושבתא  $^{42}$  which are also the regular Targum equivalents for מומור, often for ההלח  $^{43}$  and even for מומור  $^{44}$  מנגוח  $^{45}$  למנגוח  $^{46}$  etc. Both words are therefore used synonymously for every kind of song of praise.

י נְתְּמָתָא <sup>49</sup> נְתְּמָתָא <sup>49</sup> נְתְּמָתָא <sup>49</sup> is better than איז <sup>49</sup> יוֹנְתְמָתְא <sup>50</sup> or the word here cannot mean consolations offered to God, although the medieval commentators interpreted it so with the aid of various Midrashim. <sup>52</sup> Nor have we any authority to correct the reading to אָנְמָתְא or to anything else. <sup>53</sup> With as little suc-

<sup>42</sup> JI Exod 15 1 Num 21 אירה equals שירה.

<sup>43</sup> Ps 51 17 100 4 106 47 145 1 149 1. 44 Ps 42 5. Compare Jonah 2 10.

<sup>45</sup> Ps 11 1 54 1. 46 Ps 55 1 61 1 76 1

&lt;sup>47</sup> Wright, Comparative Grammar of the Semitic languages. Cambridge 1890 p. 77. Dalman's Grammar 171 and 87 and older literature there given.

<sup>48</sup> Amram Or. 1067, REUCHLIN, MERX, DALMAN, Yemen.

<sup>49</sup> BAER just as NDYD Dan 63 ed. BAER, etc.

<sup>50</sup> Many editions e. g. LANDSHUTH. 51 JASTROW, many editions.

<sup>52</sup> Rashi in Shibbole ha-Leket, Nissahon § 113 understand praises offered for consolations about to be given. Hai Gaon, Maḥzor Vitry, the Zohar to שמפטי refer it to the comforts of the future when God's Name will be perfect. Rashi Pardes (ed. Amsterdam p. 7b), Orḥoth Hayyim, Tur Oraḥ Ḥayyim 56 etc. refer to the comfort of the Midrash Ber 3 a (B. p. 8).

<sup>53</sup> Even המנתא, 'Hymns' (!) has been suggested by Z. F. Vidaver in Hamagid 33, 1889 p. 11. It is well known that the gutturals were locally smoothed out so as to be all of the character of the א. Cf. Frankel, Vorstudien zu der Septuaginta 1841 p. 101, 110. Mechilta to Exod 12 13 p. 8a ושפעהי (Bacher ETT. 175). Sifre to Deut 32 24 p. 137b בהמות is interpreted by בהמות (Bacher ETT. 175). In Erub. 53 b 11 the cry of a Galilean (למאן אמר) is understood as הממר, המר דס עמר, ברכתא שירתא מושבחתא occurring otherwise in this meaning only in היכלות רבתי p. 101. There is there attributed to God in a list of over 80 attributes . . . נחת מנוחה ונחמה שלוה השקם ושלום שאנן במח . . The word here, if it means anything at all—and the text of היכלות רבתי is notoriously very imperfectly preserved—must in connection with its neighbouring words obviously be a synonym for "rest, peace, quietness". This it cannot mean; and it is either inserted as inappropriately as many other words in the list, for the anagrammatic play on מנוחה or is more simply still a corruption of מנוחה.

נחמתא, in addition to its general meaning of comfort, consolation for mourning and sorrow, often means the comfort of the future Messianic life. Gen 49 1 JII קין ברכתא ונחמתא קין means this. In the Targum to Isa 18 4 God promises to bring בירכן ונחמן upon Israel. So too in Joel 2 14 Targ. the repentant sinner will receive בירכן ונחמן. In a similar sense of the future promise מבן ונחמן often occur together. 55

נחמתא in the sense of the Messianic comfort again often seems to be identified chronologically with the resurrection.  $^{56}$  Hosea 6 2 יחיינג ליומי becomes in the Targum יחיינג ליומי becomes in the Targum יחיינג ליומי ביום השלישי יקימנג Among the seven things hidden from man are גחמתה ויום הנחמה  $^{57}$  But גחמתא is more often used generally of the comforts of the Messianic promise, just as the Messiah is called מנחם Sanh 98b  $_{5}$ .  $^{58}$  Jer 31  $^{5}$ ,  $^{5}$  Sam 23  $^{4}$  לפוף עלמא ליומי Gen 1  $^{21}$  JI.  $^{2}$  Sam 23  $^{1}$  speaks of ליום נחמתא דעתידין למיתי למתי גחמתא דעתידין למיתי Taan 11a  $^{15}$  .  $^{5}$  A formula of cursing, perhaps also belongs here.

The oath אראה בנחמה "may I not see the comfort if .." in the

<sup>54</sup> MGWJ, XXXVII 266.

<sup>55</sup> Gen 45 28 J I and II J. Sanh. 10, 28 b 33 Num 23 23 J II.

<sup>56</sup> But not as Merx, Chrestomathia Targumica, Nestle, Philologica Sacra 5 Note 2 on philological grounds. Cf. Peshitta John 11 24.

 $<sup>^{57}</sup>$  Pes,  $54\,\mathrm{b}$   $^2$  Mechilta to משלח Exod 16 32 p. 51 a. Gen Rab 65 to Gen 27 2 Yalkut 114.

&lt;sup>58</sup> J. Ber 2 4 5 a <sup>14</sup> notes that the חושבנא—the numerical value—of מנחם (138) is the same as that of מנחם, also a name of the Messiah. See p. 37 note 61.

mouth of Simeon b. Shetaḥ (fl. 90—76 B. C.) <sup>59</sup> or of his contemporary Jehuda b. Tabbai <sup>60</sup> would also seem to refer to the comfort of the future life. On the other hand when said by R. Eleazar b. Zadok (fl. 2nd cent. C. E.) <sup>61</sup> the consolation of Jerusalem is probably meant. This special consolation is often the meaning of נחמתא: Isa 33 20 נחמת ירושלם, Isa 4 3 יחזי בנחמת ירושלם. Compare Isa 51 3, J. Ber. 5 8 d <sup>22</sup> בנחמות ירושלם היו עוסקין

But המתא here can mean neither ordinary comforts for mourning, nor the consolation of Jerusalem; neither the comforts of the Messianic time, nor of the resurrection. It is used here in the transferred meaning of "glorifying consolations", books, prophecies, sermons, praises, songs etc. containing and dealing with these future comforts. The passages themselves are called נחמתא from their chief contents. Thus in Ber 48b 20 the passage מות (נחם) in the grace after meals is called נחמה. In the arrangement of the canonical books, books dealing with calamity are put together and books with the note of consolation are made to follow one another: ישעיהו כוליה Again סמכינן חורבנא לחורבנא לנחמתא לנחמתא לנחמתא the book of Isaiah is one long paean of consolation (Targ. to Isa 40 1). In 2 Macc 15 9 occurs "he comforted them out of the law and the prophets; (ver. 11) armed with comfortable and good words". Messianic prophecies, especially those of Isaiah 63 were called נחמתא and these, read as the הפשרה, became particularly identified with גרומתא 64

ברכתא., or rather גרכתא., therefore, here means the praises and Messianic consolations brought by the preacher in his Aggada. R. Levi and R. Isaac (4th cent.) complain of the neglect of the

&lt;sup>59</sup> T. Sanh 8 3, 427 19 Sanh 37 b 9 Shebu 34 a <sub>18</sub> Macc 5b <sub>16</sub>.

<sup>60</sup> Hag 16b 8 J. Sanh 6, 23b 3. 61 Keth 67a 5. Cf. Matt 5 35 b.

<sup>62</sup> See p. 84 note 33.

 $<sup>^{63}</sup>$  שעיה כוליה שאמר שעיה מוליה החמות אם BB 14b  $_{10}$ . Tanhuma to Deut. 1 כל הנחמות שאמר שאמר כל הכלים הם

<sup>64</sup> On the meaning of בתמתא Schwally, Idioticon d. christl. paläst. Aram. 54f, Merk, Chrestomathia Targumica. DWJ. 71. Rapoport כרם חמר III 45. 'Erech Millin art. אנרה p. 8 col. 2 followed by Zunz GV. 335 note f. 372 note f. David Oppenheim in Kobak's Jeshurun 4 p. 57—63. K. Kohler Appendix to Kohut's Aruch p. 59. Graetz MGWJ. 1872 486f. Plessner נחלים מן לכנון p. 71.

Halacha 65 ועכשו ו. . אין מבקשין לשמע אלא דברי ברכות ונחמות is here used in the specialized sense of the praises of the Aggada as in 66 כותבי ברכות כותבי ברכות האחד שהיה כותב ברכות האמר היהושע בן לוי שורפי תורה . מעשה באחד שהיה כותב ברכות . . אמר ר' יהושע בן לוי שורפי תורה . הדי אנדתא הכותבה . . אנא מן יומאי לא אסתכלית גו ספר דאנדתא בעדי האונים בערכה שירתא ותושבחתא and ברכתא . ונחמתא may thus originally have referred to the Aggada of the preacher. מצינו בנביאים הראשונים היו חותמין את דבריהם בדברי שבח ובדברי נחמות whole paragraph is that God is praised and exalted far above all the praises and glorifying words that can be uttered in this world.

בעלמא דאתי in conscious contrast to בעלמא דאתין בְּעֵלְכְאָּא as Cant. 1 1 Targ. עסרתי שירתא איתאמרו בעלמא הדין . In the burial Kaddish as given by Rashi 68 it is expanded to אַתאָמָרן can give sense only by referring to the perf. בעלמא דאתי מון כמון כמון כמון כמון כמון כמון בעלמא דאתי בעלמא דאתי that will be said, or at least בְּמִתְאַמְרָן is the more correct reading. The Perf. 3rd pl. fem. sometimes ends in יו the Jer. Targ., sometimes, as in Onkelos in — (DG. 255). The Ithpeel is better than the Ithpaal.

ואמרו אָמֵן See above pp. 41f.

יְּתְקַבֵּל צְלּוֹתְהוֹן וּבְעוּתְהוֹן דְּכְלּ־[בֵּית] יִשְׂרָאֵל קָרָם אֲבוּהוֹן דְּבְשְׁמִיָּא וּאמרוּ הַתְּקַבּל צְלּוֹתְהוֹן וּבְעוּתְהוֹן דְּבְלִּים יְאַרָּהוֹן יִּבְעְּמִיָּא וּאמרוּ So Amram I 13b, Vitry 64. Old Castilian, Abudarham, Old Roman, Genizah. With בית modern Spanish and Roman. Tripoli reads בילותְנָא וּבָעוּתְנָא וּבָעוּתְנָא Carpentras<sup>2</sup> and Lille<sup>3</sup> as Tripoli adding

 <sup>65</sup> Cf. Pesikta 12 p. 101b ed. Buber, Cant. Rab. to 25 p. 15b. Soferim 164.
 66 J. Shab 161 15c 34 Shab 61b 17 115b 4 Soferim 154 1610 Temurah
 14b. Cf. Exod Rab 477.

 $<sup>^{67}</sup>$  J. Ber  $5\,8d$   $^{27}$  Ber  $^{31}a$   $^{28}$  T. Ber.  $^{3}$   $^{21}$   $^{8}$   $^{10}$  and text notes. Pesikta  $^{11}$ 6a כל הגביאים פתחו בחובות Again. כל הגביאים פתחו ברברי תוכחות וחתמו ברברי המנות .

<sup>68</sup> Maḥzor Vitry p. 247. 69 Ps 103 20 148 2 Gen 32 27 JI etc.

&lt;sup>70</sup> Ps 19 2 Job 38 7 Megil 10b , Hag 14a <sup>10</sup> etc. Apostol. Constitut. II 56.

<sup>1</sup> Quoted by Mordecai b. Hillel of Nürnberg, d. 1298, to Taanith 635.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Add. 19,667. The printed edition reads as the Spanish and Roman rites.

<sup>3</sup> MS. GASTER 164.

.. עם צלותהון ובעותהון דכל בית. Corfu 4 so, omitting אָבוּנָא with אָבוּנָא for אבוהון.

תּתְקַבֵּל צְלּוֹתְהוֹן וְתִּתְעֲבֵד בָּעוּתְהוֹן וּצְלּוֹתְהוֹן וּבְעוּתְהוֹן דְּכָל־בַּית־יִשְּרָאֵל קֵּדְם הֹת תּתְקַבֵּל צְלּוֹתְהוֹן וְבְעוֹתְהוֹן וְבְעוֹתְהוֹן בְּלְשִׁכְיִּאוֹ Maimonides. 5 Yemen and Chinese read for the first regularly for בעותהון בעותהון or עם בעותהון also appears in Yemen texts אָבוּנָא or בעותהון ובעותהון ובעותהון המושל and אָבוּנָא מון בעותהון ובעותהון ובעותהון ובעות מובים מובים תתקבל צלותנון ותתעביד בעותכון: אמן: וצלותהון ובעותהון דעמא כל בית ישראל קדם מאריה דבשמיא בכל זמן ובכל עידן ועידנא הדין לחיים מובים תתקבל צלותנא ותתעבד בעותנא regularly regularly מון בעל צלותנא ובעותהון דכל בית ישראל לקדם מרן דבשמיא וארעא ואמרו אמן דעם צלויתהון ובעותהון דכל בית ישראל לקדם מרן דבשמיא וארעא ואמרו אמן .

According to Maimonides this verse was added by the people; hence the absence of ואמרו אמן in his version.

It is a closing formula for the end of a service and was perhaps the old dismissal formula of the synagogue in use before the Kaddish was introduced into the synagogue. The terminology of it is so natural and traditional, that, excepting the response 'ה' שמ' . . 'ב', it is probably the oldest verse of the Kaddish. The 16th blessing of the Shemone 'Esre is fully parallel to התקבל in that it comprehends all the preceding paragraphs in one prayer that they may be heard יוְבל . . הפלתנו . שומע הפלות ותחננים The short Tefilla (Shemone 'Esre) is given by R. Jose (139—165) as שמע הפלת מהרה בקשתם שמע הפלת מהרה בקשתם עובר שמע הפלת מהרה בקשתם עובר עובר שומע הפלת מהרה בקשתם מהרה בקשתם מהרה בקשתם מהרה בין יקבל צלואתכון מי אנה אוני בעואתכון מי אנה אוני בעואתכון מי אנה אוני בעואתכון מי אנה אוני בעואתכון מי אנה as indeed almost any liturgy could show parallels

<sup>4</sup> MS. GASTER 155.

<sup>5</sup> Maimonides MS. GASTER 173 reads as Amram.

<sup>6</sup> Ber 29b 12 DS T. Ber 37 616. In the Tanhuma to אתחנן beginning (ed. Buber 3), תשלה תשלה מעקה are among the ten expressions of תשלה. In Sifre to Deut 3 23 (p. 70b) ניפור is not reckoned, but מלותא occurs as in the Tanhuma list. All three words could possibly be turned into Aramaic as עלותא. Cf. Deut Rab. 2 beginning.

&lt;sup>7</sup> Cod. Brit. Mus. Add. 19,017 p. 55b quoted in S. Rappoport, La Liturgie Samaritaine 1900.

This addition to the original Kaddish of praise, and the following ones are in perfect accord with the rule that praise should precede prayer יס יחבר אדם שבחו של הקרוש ב"ה ואחר כך יתפלל; and in this respect the Kaddish just as the Paternoster is divisible into one half of praise and one half a prayer for needs.

קבל תתקבל, editions often Hebraized קבל, as distinct from to hear, listen with the ears, means to hearken to, accept, receive, hear. <sup>11</sup> Gen 16 2 Onk.

9 Spanish Minhag for the 10 days between New Year and the Day of Atonement (1—10 Tishri) founded upon Amram II 21b.

11 On אם see Kautzsch, Aramäismen im Alten Testament 76.

12 Isa 65 24 Jon 2 3 Ps 120 1.

14 1 Kgs 8 45 49 = 2 Chr 6 35 39 Ps 65 3.

&lt;sup>8</sup> Compare the prayer used by Augustinus at the close of a sermon. Ferd. Probst, Katechese und Predigt p. 161f.

&lt;sup>10</sup> Ber 32a 4 AZ. 7b 10 R. Samlai (cf. Ezra 2 46 Kethibh). Sifre 343 p. 142 a to Deut. 33 2 Ber 31a 8 Deut Rab. 2 to Deut 3 23.

<sup>13</sup> Deut 267 Ps 187 = 2 Sam 227 2 Chr 30 27. שמע אל Deut 9 19.

<sup>15</sup> Ber 17a 14 18 Pes 117b 16 18 22. 16 1 Sam 1 17 27.

<sup>17 2</sup> Sam 22 7 = Ps 18 7 Ps 39 13 40 2 145 19 Lam 3 56.

&lt;sup>18</sup> 1 Kings 8 30 38 54 = 2 Chr 6 29 35 39 Ps 6 10.

&lt;sup>19</sup> Jon 23 Ps 187 = 2 Sam 227 Isa 65 24.

 $<sup>^{20}</sup>$  1 Kings 8  $_{28}$  30  $^{2}$  Chr 6  $_{19}$  33  $_{13}$ . 'אַהָּה, when not equivalent to 'alas!', is invariably (10 times) 'קביל בעותי ה'' (Jud 6  $_{22}$  ed. Prätorius אָנָה) as is also אָנָה 2 Kgs  $_{20}$  3  $_{3}$  Isa 38 3 Jon 1  $_{14}$  4 2.

and the words בעותא and בעותא are used practically synonymously,<sup>21</sup> either paired together with the one verb ב<sup>22</sup> or with the two מבל and אבר<sup>23</sup> Abudarham quotes the Jerusalem Targum to probably suggested by בחרבי ובקשְׁתִּי (Gen 48 22) as במלותי ובקשְתִי ובקשְתִי ובקשָתִי), a reading not found in our editions.<sup>24</sup> and the analogy of the Syriac show. The editions (Baer, Ginsburg) of Daniel and Ezra give בלותנא בא.

On the redundant בעותהון דכל see above p. 41.

סְרָבָּי, occurring 42 times in Biblical Aramaic and frequently in inscriptions 25 is best written with Ḥaṭef-Ḥameṣ. Compare Mandaic אָרָבָּי, Syriac פָּֿבּי, superlinear בּוֹבָּי. According to the Masora to Onkelos Exod 6 5 3 9, the school of Sura there reads אַרָבָי, that of Nehardea אָרָבָי. 26

אבוהון דְּבְשְׁמַיְּאָ On the occurrence of the 1 before suffixes Barth ZDMG. XLI 1887 609 ff. אבוהון מחל and אבונא are both accented on the penultimate syllable. In Onkelos and the Targum to the Prophets the suffix of the 1st pers. plur. is regularly אבוהון הישמיא, in the Jer. Targum it varies between אבוהון השמיא בוהון דישמיא perhaps a slip. But אבוהון דישמיא occurs in Exod 15 12 JII perhaps also a lapsus calami, and another variant אבוכון אבונא, אבוכון בשמיא occurs Gen 21 33 JII. The simple

חפלה מפרפרון אור פון פון אלותא פור פון אנות מעותא וור פון בעותא פון אנות בעותא וור בעותא פון אנות בעותא וור פון בעותא וור פון בעותא וור בעותא וור פון בעותא וור בעותא וורר בעותא וור בעותא וור בעותא וור בעותא וורר בעו

&lt;sup>22</sup> 1 Kgs 8 28 45 49 = 2 Chr 6 19 35 39.

 $<sup>^{23}</sup>$  Ps  $^{187} = ^{2}$  Sam  $^{227}$  Isa  $^{65}$  24.

&lt;sup>24</sup> GINSBURGER J I and J II and BERLINER'S (Sabionetta) Onkelos have not this reading. It occurs however in some editions of Onkelos. Cf. BB 123a <sup>12</sup>. <sup>25</sup> LDZB. 360.

&lt;sup>26</sup> Berliner Onkelos II 143f. Merx, Abhandlungen des fünften Orientalissten-Congresses I p. 166. D. Gr. 46. 75. 156. 230.

<sup>27</sup> אבוגן regularly in JII Gen 181 21 33 28 10 49 2 18 21. But 49 18 in Cod. Oxford 2305 אבונא. Onkelos on the other hand regularly has אבונא Gen 19 31 f. 31 1 14 16 42 13 43 28 Num 27 3. So too JI in these passages, whereas in Exod 36 33 Lev 22 28 Deut 6 4 31 14 JI reads אבונן.

אביכם אביכם אבינו) was hardly ever used of God without some expression such as אבינו סד מלכנו סד אבינו) being added to make the usage totally unambiguous. It is true that Biblical usage employs אב alone without further qualification for God, but in every case the usage is quite clear. In the New Testament too 'Aββã 29 occurs alone, but the more regular usage is seen in expressions like δ πατήρ δ ἐν οδρανοῖς: 30 The designation אבו ( ) אבו ( ) אבי ( ) אבו ( ) אבי ( ) אבו ( ) אבי ( ) אבו ( ) אבי (

A confused and incorrect reading is found in many editions and manuscripts אבוהון דבשמיא וארעא. The addition of אבוהון under the influence of phrases like מרן דבשמיא מריה שמיא וארעא is against all usage and cannot be translated either as 'on earth' or 'of earth.'

א דְּבְשְׁמֵיְא better than די בשמיא (Page 32). שמיא here corresponds with the article; compare תשמע מן השמים. 33

יְהַא שְּלֶּכֶא רַבָּא מִן־שְּׁמֵיָא וְחַיִּים [מוֹכִים עֻלֵּינוּ וְ]עֵל־כֶּלּ־יִשְּׂרָאֵל ואמרו אָמָן. Amram 13b. Old Roman adds ומובים ו Modern Roman (24b) as Maḥzor Vitry p. 64 adds עלינו ו. German adds עלינו ו.

יָהַא שְּלֶּכֶא [רַבָּא ]מְן־שְׁמֵיָא (ו)חִיִּים וְשָּׁכָע וִישׁוּעָה וְנָחָמָה [וְשַׁוָּבָא וּרְפּוּאָה וּגְאָלֶּה (רָבָּא וֹנְחָמָה וֹנְקָּמָה וֹנְשָּׁרָא וּנְאָלֶּה וֹלְכָּרְיִשְׁרָאֵל וְאִמְרוּ וּגְאָלֶּה (לְנוּ וּוֹלְכְלּ־יִשְׁרָאֵל וְאִמְרוּ אָמַן Amram 55a ( ). Abudarham, Mod. Spanish, Romania, Corfu, Genizah fragment [ ]. Carpentras 2 so up to ונחמה ולכל ישראל ואמרו ולכל ישראל ואמרו ולכל ישראל ומרו ולפואה שלימה וכפרה ורפואה שלימה שלימה וכפרה ורפואה שלימה ולמה שלימה ורפואה שלימה והצלחה לנו ולכל ולכל. . וגאולה לנו ולכל . . והצלה לנו ולכל . . והצלה השלימה והצלחה שלימה באלחה שלימה והצלחה שלימה וושבלה שלימה וושלה לנו ולכל . . .

<sup>28</sup> Isa 63 16 64 7 Jer 31 19 etc. 29 Mark 14 36 Rom 8 15.

<sup>30</sup> Matth 5 45 48 6 9 16 17 etc. in Matthew in all 20 times. DWJ. 150 et seq. 31 J II to Exod 1 19 Num 23 23 Deut 32 6 Esth II 1 1 ed. David p. 26 13 16 Yoma 8 9 Sota 9 15 Aboth 5 20 Kil 9 8 TBER. and Z. constantly etc.

<sup>32</sup> E. g. Mahzor Romania Cod. Gaster 157. Corfu Cod. Gaster 155.

<sup>23 2</sup> Chr 6 21 23 25 27 30 33 39.

<sup>1</sup> Or. 2736 Add. 27,072 etc.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Add. 19,667. The printed edition reads as Abudarham adding יני ולכל) עמו (... לכל) עמו Cod. Gaster 164.

<sup>4</sup> So, in part, Landshuth בקור חולים p. LXI. Rappoport נרם חמד III 46 sees in it a parallel to the congregational יקום פורקן. But there seems to be nothing to favor this.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Taan 24 b  $_{21}$  ... שלם מר. ... שלם מר. ... The greeting to non Jews בשלום ישראל שלום עליכם J. Shebi 4 3 35 b  $^{30}$  Git 62a  $_{18}$  Ber 55 b Gen 43 27 1 Sam 25 5 f 2 Kgs 4 26. In letters Ezr 4 17 5 7 Dan 3 31 6 26 Luke 24 36. Sayce-Cowley Egyptian Aram. N I. Gen. Rab. § 100 p. 187c במנהג מקומנו 24 שלום עליכם כמנהג מוה הוא מנהגכון אלא שלום עליכם כמנהג מקומנו was current everywhere. On greetings generally Zunz, Zur Geschichte 304 et seq. D. Gr. 244 155 Aboth 4 15 Ber 17 a  $_{15}$  3 a  $_{15}$  J. Ber 21 4 b 24 J. Shek 26 47 a 15 Ldze, 376.

 $<sup>^6</sup>$  Exod. 4 <sub>18</sub> Jud 18 <sub>6</sub> 1 Sam 1 <sub>17</sub> 20 <sub>42</sub> 25 <sub>35</sub> 29 <sub>7</sub> 2 Kgs 5 <sub>19</sub> 2 Sam 15 <sub>9</sub> Mark 5 <sub>34</sub> Luke 7 <sub>50</sub> Acts 15 <sub>33</sub>. For more elaborate greetings at parting from the study house Ber 17 <sub>a</sub> (Life etc.) Yoma 71 <sub>a 10</sub> (Life etc.) Ber 64 a <sup>16</sup> (Peace).

frequently during every service, but especially at the end.7 Particularly instructive are the dismissal words addressed by the priests to the people at the festival of the water drawing (T. Suc. 49 1992) כשהיו נפטרין זה מזה מה היו אומרין זה לזה? יברכך ה' מציון וראה בטוב (Ps 128 5 6) ירושלם כל ימי חייך וראה בנים לבניך שלום על ישראל (In the Masoretic text of the book of Psalms the dismissal greeting is added to the Psalm and has become an integral part of it. So too in Ps 125 the words שלום על ישראל been added to the Psalm and somewhat similarly in the last verse of Psalm 134. This gives analogy enough for the phenomenon of this final (mutual?) greeting, in form a prayer like all such greetings, becoming an integral part of the whole prayer here in the Kaddish.

Another strong tendency working towards this is the desire everywhere visible to close prayers, lessons, homiletic addresses and Halachic studies with words of שלום). The massed up praise of peace beginning אמר ר' אלעזר אמר ר' חנינא is used for closing many of the chapters of the Talmud.8 This tendency finds expression in such sayings as 9 גדול שלום שכל הברכות ומובות ונחמות שהקב"ה מביאן על ישראל חותמין בשלום, בקריאת שמע פורש סוכת שלום, כתפלה עושה שלום בברכת כהגים וישם לך שלום. "Great is peace, for all the blessings, promises of wellbeing and consolations that the Holy One, blessed be He, will bring upon Israel close with peace. In the blessing of the Shema' it runs 'who spreads His pavilion of peace'; in the eighteen benedictions 'who maketh peace'; the priestly blessing closes with and 'give thee peace'." It is possible that there is the double meaning of שלם (a) 'peace', (b) 'completion' to be traced at the bottom of this tendency. The words here may possibly also have served as a sign for the members of the family of Aaron to give the priestly blessing that closed the service (וישם לך שלום). 10

The addition of רבא is probably occasioned in this case of

&lt;sup>7</sup> Probst, Liturgie des vierten Jahrhunderts 162, 206, 443 etc. Didascalia II 55.

<sup>8</sup> Ber 64a Nazir 66b Yebam 122b Kerith 28b Tamid III 32b Megillath Ta'anith. Isa 54 13 Ps 122 7—9 128 6 119 165 29 11. The whole Mishna closes with שלום 'Ukzin 3 12.

&lt;sup>9</sup> Lev Rab 9 p. 14a. For the highest appreciations of peace see the מרפ Lev Rab 9 p. 13 c Num Rab to Num 6 26 Sifre p. 13a ib. Tanhuma ib. <sup>10</sup> J Taan 67b B. Meg 18a.

the Kaddish closing the exposition of the Law by the phrase שלום (Ps 119 165) and the very familiar Midrash of R. Ḥanina's לאהבי שלום בעולם המים מרבים שלום בעולם that was so often quoted at the end of the study. Otherwise the phrase שלמא רבא in a greeting does not seem to occur except in the guise of שלמבון ישנא in the formula heading a proclamation. 12 probably equal to 'from God'. שמים) in later usage is one of the most frequently used designations for God. Already in Daniel the metonymy is visible from a comparison of two phases of the change like עיני לשמיא נמלת (4 31) and תנדע די שלמן שמיא (4 23). שמים, (שמיא) is used for God almost entirely in combinations such as מלכות ש' ,כידי ש' ,ירא שמים , an exception being formed by the commonly occurring מן שמיא (מן השמים). The fact that מן always has the article as compared with the invariable use of שמים without the article otherwise in this connection, implies that in this combination with in the local sense was never really obscured. Therefore in phrases such as אשה שהקנו לו מן השמים Ned 10 6, חורה מן השמים Sanh 2 1, חורה מן השמים Sanh 10 1 (cf. Deut 30 12), אין מן השמים מוחלין להן (T. Shebu. 3 1 449 12), מרחמין עליו מן השמים (Shab. 151b 8) and שמיא עליה מן שרחמי עליה מן השמים Yoma 69b 25, לינורו עלך מן שמיא Ber 55b 21 Eccl. Targ. 11 3, שלה מן שמיא Deut 24 3 JI, תיתי עלך אוכחותא מן שמיא Eccl 7 9 Targ. (cf. 2 Macc 9 4), יהא שלמא רבא מן שמיא as well as in יהא שלמא רבא מן here, the local sense is best brought out by translating "from Heaven" (with H). 14 It is therefore possible to see here a reference to the peace subsisting in heaven referred to very often in the Midrash as furthered by the study and practice of the law. A connection with some well known Midrash such as 15 העוסק בתורה אלכסנדרי כל העוסק

<sup>11</sup> Compare Sanh 98a 16.

&lt;sup>12</sup> Dan 3 31 6 26 R. Gamliel's letter T. Sanh 2 6 416 29 31 33 Sanh 11b 7 J. Sanh. 1 18d <sup>15</sup> 17 <sup>20</sup>.

&lt;sup>13</sup> Page 90. Compare I Macc 12 15 16 3 help from Heaven. 3 19 strength from Heaven. Matth 21 25 Mark 11 30 Luke 20 4 John 3 27.

<sup>14</sup> On the name of God שמים, שמים Schürer, Jahrbuch für protestant. Theologie II 1876 p. 171. E. Landau, Die dem Raume entnommenen Synonyma für Gott (1888 Zürich) 14—28. DWJ. 178.

<sup>15</sup> Sanh. 99b 20 Num Rab 13 p. 54d. See further p. 77.

לשמה משים שלום בפמליא של מעלה ובפמליא של ממה שנאמר (Isa 27 5) או מו משים שלום בפמליא של מעלה ובפמליא של משה שלום לי שלום יעשה לי "All who busy themselves with the Torah for its own sake make peace in the heavens above and on the earth beneath" (with reference to Isa 27 5), would also help to explain very aptly the general tendency towards closing the study of the law with words of peace.

On the plural form שמים, שמים Barth, ZDMG. XLII, 1888, p. 341 f. D. G. 201.

דרומים This paragraph shows the tendency towards expanding prayers in full play. Amram's version contains 11 words and of those the Hebrew 6 are probably a later addition. We have the ancient prayer אבינו מלכנו in forms ranging from two verses to a litany of 53.16 Extreme multiplication has not infrequently been condemned. In the Tur a protest is recorded against adding to the condemned at the end of the grace after meals.17 The closing blessing of the Shemone 'Esre (no. 19), in character like the paragraph אהרא יהא שלמא, was originally limited to a prayer for peace. It contains in the modern Roman and German versions 5, in the Spanish, 7 words—. שים שלום) מובה וברכה חיים חן וחסר צרקה ורחמים.

added to the original prayer for שלום as seen in the old Palestinian version.

&lt;sup>16</sup> Two verses spoken by R. Akiba Ta'an 25b <sup>21</sup>, expanded to 3 Alfasi ibid., and 5 in Jacob ibn Ḥabibs 'Ain Ya'kob. In the liturgy they first appear as 19 verses, Amram (p. 45) 22 (25), the Old Spanish rite 23 or 27, Algiers and Constantine 28, Catalonia, Modern Spain (Gaster 37 ff) 29, Roman (p. 19b) 30, Avignon and Greece 34. Worms 35—38, French 38, 40 or 41, Polish 42, German etc. (Baer p. 109 ff) 44, Salonica 53, Zunz, Ritus 118 ff.

&lt;sup>17</sup> Tur Orah Hayyim 189 (c. 1300 CE.). In Maimonides they number 3, modern German 9, mod. Spanish (p. 61) 18, Roman (p. 101a) 22 etc.

<sup>18</sup> Compare 1 Kings 1 25 34 39 Ezek 16 6.

וְסֵיּעֶהָא. The form וּסִיּעָהָא may at bottom be a confusion of Vav and Yod as in וימלוך and וימלוך. The Yemen texts vary between סייעתא and סייעתא are very often coupled in liturgical Hebrew.

אָבֶע Judged by Biblical usage אֶבֶע would be better than the more usual שֶבֶע, which, except in Ps 16 11, is always used adverbially joined with 5.

מיוֹבְא an Aramaic (in the last instance Assyrian) word, the Targum equivalent of פלימה etc., affords a further instance of the manner in which common words in Hebrew and Aramaic were used indifferently in either language. In form it is an Infinitive; hence איינבא. 21

דְּכְּלּאָה The use of the sing.—which is not Biblical—in the sense of bodily healing—קאות in the Bible is always used figuratively—is quite general in later Hebrew.

Biblically only of technical monetary redemption as בُعَالَةُ Barth, E. S. 18; in new Hebrew used almost entirely of redemption in a general sense.

may perhaps have come into the prayer from the service of the ten penitential days (1—10 Tishri), just as many complete prayers, confessions and hymns have passed over from it into more general use. <sup>22</sup> Their absence from the Yemen texts lends color to this supposition. In Biblical Hebrew סליחה is used almost entirely in the Plural, only Ps 130 4 כי עמך הסליחה having the sing., and the abstract of ספרה ושבה Postbiblical Hebrew prefers מליחה and הפרה השבה, here also demanded for the assonance of the passage. סליחה 'forgiveness' in later technical use denotes a supplication for forgiveness, and as such has given its name to a large class of liturgical compositions. On כפרה sicht 230 et seq. Übersicht 230 et seq.

21 Jastrow שיובא.

20 BARTH ib. § 24b p. 37.

<sup>19</sup> BARTH NB. § 70a p. 105 LAGARDE Uebersicht 143 14.

בות וְהַצְּלְה Esther 4 14. On רָוַת BARTH N. B. § 80c p. 125. he regards (ib. § 60a p. 90) as an old infin. in â.

שלְנָא better than אָלָנא of the editions (Sabionetta Targum etc.). Biblical Aramaic אַלִינא BAER, אַלִינא GINSBURG.

סת להון הישראל On the redundant suffix p. 41. The use of עדה is apparently a Hebraism of the Targumist. עדה סנסת סר סניסת (συναγωγή) is in the Targum א כנישתא, while קהלא (ἐκκλησία) is sometimes קהלא, but more often כנישתא, כנישתא, but more often כנישתא, בנישתא קהלא קדישא (Ber 9b 20) and קהלא קדישא (Bar 9b 20) and א קדישתא קדישתא (Sanh. 109b 2) occur very similarly. According to Schürer, <sup>23</sup> συναγωγή (עדה , כנסת) is the assembled body, the actual congregation, ἐκκλησία (קהל) the congregation as standing before God.(?) On קהל in Onkelos, see the Masora to Onkelos Num 14 5. According to Lagarde <sup>24</sup> קהלא קדישרא סרובור (Rügegericht).

עשֶׁה שָׁלּוֹם בִּמְרוֹמִיו הוּא [בְרַחֲמָיו] יְצֵשָׁה שָׁלּוֹם [עֻלֵּינוּ וְ]עֵל־כָּל-יִשְׂרָאֵל

The simplest form: Amram, Seadya and Or. 1479. With []: Maḥzor Vitry, German, mod. Spanish, mod. Roman, Cochin, the printed Carpentras text etc.

Maimonides, 1 Carpentras MSS., Lille, Genizah fragments, Spanish

&lt;sup>1</sup> In the Shemone 'Esre. Spanish Shemone 'Esre.

ed. princ., old Italian ead as Vitry omitting ואמרו. Corfu and Romania add to Vitry's version ברחמיו, Romania also adding Ps 29 11.

The Yemen texts vary. Some e. g. Gaster 321 as Vitry omitting ואמרו אמן, Or. 2418 omitting also עלינו ו. Others of that, of 2418 omitting also עושה שלום במרומיו והוא ברחמיו וחסדיו יעשה שלום עלינו ועל כל בית ישראל אחינו וינחמינו בציון ויבנה ברחמיו את ירושלם בחיינו ובימינו בקרוב אמן ואמן אחינו וינחמינו בציון ויבנה ברחמיו הרבים Persian Codex Adler 23 reads עושה שלום במרומיו הוא ברחמיו הרבים ובחסדיו הגדולים יעשה שלום על כל זרע ישראל וברוך (?) מנחם ציון עמו הוא ובחסדיו הגדולים יעשה שלום על כל זרע ישראל וברוך (?) מנחם ציון עמו הוא בונה ברחמיו את עיר ירושלם ואמרו אמן.

A Genizah fragment 4 reads עושה שלום במרומיו יעשה שלום במרומיו ועליכם ועל כל עמו ישראל ואמרו אמן.

This Hebrew verse, in substance superfluous after the preceding verse . . שלמא , must have been added when the character of the latter as a prayer for peace was obscured by the addition of other words to שלמא, in accordance with the desire to close with שלום. It is similarly added to the Shemone Esre at the end 5 of the private prayer אלהי נצור appended to the last blessing, obscuring the character of the closing peace blessing in exactly the same way. It is added also at the end of the German and Roman versions of the grace after meals. In no case however is it an original element of the prayer; but of these three places of its occurrence the Shemone 'Esre knew it first, and thence it was carried over to the Kaddish with the insertion of ואמרו. Three steps backwards with accompanying inclinations to the left, right and forward, formed the respectful mode of retiring from a superior, as a pupil from his teacher, or as the priests and Levites retired from the service in the Temple. 7 This form thus became identified with the parting peace greeting,8 and was appropriately transferred to this verse, the concluding phrase of the Shemone Esre said while retiring from

&lt;sup>2</sup> Or. 2736, ברחמיו is added later. Add. 27,072.

&lt;sup>3</sup> Or. 1480 2389. Gaster 4, 249, a codex of 1760 etc. each with slight and immaterial variations. <sup>4</sup> GDK. 53.

&lt;sup>5</sup> In the Roman rite (p. 18 a) at the beginning of אלהי נצור.

&lt;sup>6</sup> Ber. 17a <sup>18</sup> the private supplication of Mar the son of Rabina, there given without this verse.

<sup>7</sup> Yoma 53a 7. 8 Yoma 53b 3. Cf. 53a 7, Shoher Tob to Ps 35 10.

the presence of God. These three steps backwards were then taken over into the Kaddish, together with the verse to which they had become attached. In accordance with this custom, some MSS. 10 read at the close of the Shemone 'Esre instead of this verse שלום שלום על כל ישראל תשים 11 Others again e.g. Add. 26.954 שלום שלום שלום שלום עלינו תשים or in the Romanian rite (Harl. 5583) שלינו על ימיני שלום על שמאלי שלום על ישראל ועל ירושלם עיר הקדש (The Spanish ritual ed. princ. reads עלינו וכן but concludes אמן אמן אמן 13

It is always assumed that . . עושה שלום is late. The following consideration will show that, though late in the Kaddish, it has yet as a concluding verse an old tradition behind it. It is based on the half verse Job 25 2b עושה שלום במרומיו. This was interpreted as referring to peace between the angels. In later scholastic times 14 it was applied to the peace prevailing between the angels, some of whom are of the nature of fire, others of water. In the Yemenite Targum to the Shemone 'Esre, discovered by Dr. Gaster 15, our verse is paraphrased דעביד שלמא בפימליא דילך בין מיכאל ונבריאל ואנת כרחמתך עביד שלמא עלנא ועל כל עמך ישראל. This idea is that already contained in the concluding prayer added to the Shemone 'Esre by R. Safra 16 יהי רצון מלפניך ה' אלהי שתשים שלום בפמליא של מעלה ובפמליא של ממה. It is clear that the verse עושה שלום is simply the same idea in more Biblical language, taking the place of R. Safra's prayer at the end of the Shemone 'Esre. The traditional explanation of the verse in this connection is therefore the original one. The same idea is also at the bottom of the Midrash quoted above (p. 72f.) משים שלום בפמליא של מעלה ובפמליא של ממה. The comparison of above and below is a common one in Jewish thought and prayer.

For some of the fancies that have grown up around these three steps see Vitry 18. 67. Ha-Manhig § 91. Shibbole ha-Leket 18. Matteh Moshe 158-160.
 Abr. Levysohn מקורי מנהנים 23.
 Baer p. 105.
 Yoma 53b 10.

<sup>12</sup> Compare 1 Sam. 256 1 Chr 12 18. Prof. Bezold draws my attention to the Assyrian šulmu, šulmu, šulmu. Carl Bezold, Die babyl.-assyr. Keilinschr. in ihrer Bedeutung für das A. T. (Tübingen '04), p. 59. J. Hahn, Siebenzahl und Sabbat (Leipzig '07) p. 65.

&lt;sup>13</sup> More reasonably than reading אמרו in a private prayer said in an undertone.

<sup>14</sup> Orhoth Ḥayyim, Kol Bo etc.

<sup>15</sup> MGWJ. XXXIX 1894 p. 90. 16 Ber 16b 1.

R. Eleazar prayed  $^{17}$  משה ליראיך מלממה כחת נחת עשה עשה עשה עשה. One introduction to the Kedusha  $^{18}$  runs בעולם בשול את שמך בעולם מרום שמקרישים אותו בשמי מרום.

Some similarity has been pointed out between this verse and the greater doxology of the Church, the Gloria in Excelsis Δόξα ἐν ὑπίστοις Θεῷ καὶ ἐπὶ γῆς εἰρήνη ἐν ἀνθρώποις εὐδοκίας (Luke 2 14), but it cannot be pressed, even though ἐν ἀνθρώποις εὐδοκίας be taken as the equivalent of פמליא של ממה in our version, in our version על כל ישראל. Both are doxologies praying for peace on earth. But the New Testament formula puts peace on earth supplementing glory to Heaven (Compare Ps 8 2). The Jewish formula wishes for peace on earth as it is in heaven (cf. Matth 6 10b). A variant reading due to confusion of sound is יברחמיו for וברחמיו און is a pregnant usage combining the Biblical עשה שלום.. על with the form common in greetings עשה שלום שלום שלום עשה שלום עשה שלום שלום משלום עשה שלום בעם with the form common in greetings עשה שלום בעם is usually construed with ב,19 sometimes with בין and in a different sense with בין.21

<sup>17</sup> Ber 29 b 14. 18 BAER p. 89 236. GASTER p. 31 117.

&lt;sup>19</sup> TBER. 1784 29156. <sup>20</sup> Yemen Cod. Gast 249. TBER. 29156.

<sup>21</sup> TBER. 18 106 29 157 etc.

ן) הַשְׁהָא בַעְנֵלְא וּבִּוֹמֵן קָרִיב ואמרו אָמוֹ

	her .	8	9	9)	p)	(e)	f)	8)	ф)	(i)	(;
(a)	AMRAM VITRY-RASHI MODEEN GERMAN (above) (below)	ה) יְתְּבַּדְל וְיְתְקַּדְשׁ שְׁמַה רַבָּא	d) בְעֲלְכָא רְהוּא עֲהִיר לאתחרתא לאתחרתא	<ul> <li>ולְאַדְאָר מִיתַיָּא ולְאַפְּקְא יָהְרוּוְ לְתַיִּי שְלְּמְא</li> <li>רולשכללא היבלא</li> </ul>	רְלְמִבְנֵי לֵרְהָּא דִירוּשְׁלָם רולמבני קרתא דירושלם	ולשקלא תיקלא בנוה	ז) ולְמִעְקר פּלְתָנְא נְבְּרָאָה מַצֵּרִע אַ	פּלְחָנְא פַּלְחָנְא רַשְׁמֵּנְא לְאַתְּרֵה 8) וּלְאָתְּבָא פִּלְחָן לִיּרְשָׁא רִשְׁמֵּנְא לְאַתְּרֵה פְלְחָנָא	<ul><li>d) וַמִּלֶר קְדְשָׁא בְּרִיךְ הוּא מַלְכוּתַה וִיקַרַה בְּמַלְכוּתַה</li></ul>	נופע משיחה ונאמח פרקנה בחייכון וקיומיכון וקחני ךכל פית ושראל	יין השפא רמילט יוומי מריר יטמרי טמי
(3)	MAIMONIDES YEMEN	יהפדל ויהקדש שְּמַה רַבָּא	בשְתִיר לְחַבְּתָא שֵלְמָא	ולְאַנְיְאָר מִיתַיְּא וּלְמִפְּרָק תַיֵּיָא	וּלְמִבְנֵי קַרְהָא דִירוּשְׁלֵם יְרוּשְׁלַם	וּלְשַׁבְלָלְא תַּיבְלָא קוּישָׁא [וִיִּפְּרָא]	וּלְמֹאמֹר שׁלְנוֹלָא לִכְרָאָנ מִּוֹאַרְאָא	ילאָתָבְא פְּלְתָנָא רִשְׁמָנָא לְאַתְרַהּ בְּהַּרְהּ בְּוִינִהּ רִשְׁמַהּ	יביקרה וימלך מלכיתה ויצמח פרקנה ויקרב וימלה	מְשְׁיחַה וְיִפְּלְק עַפָּה וְיִצְּפָח פְּרְאַנָּה בְּחַיִּכוֹן וּבְיוֹפֵיכוֹן ובחייהון דכל • • •	المالية
(',	ABUDARHAM MODERN SPANISH	יְתְּבֵּלְ וְיְתְקַרַשׁ שְׁמַה רַבָּא	רהיא שַתִיד לְחַבְּתָא שֵלְמָא	(פּ) ילְאַחָאָה מִיתִיּא וּלְשַׁבְלָלָא הַיִּבְלָא	(ס) גלְמִפְּרֵל חַיְּנְא גלְאַחָאָר מִיתַּיָּא	(p) וּלְמִבְנִי בַוְרְתָּא יִרוּשְׁלַם	ילְמָאֵמֵר פּלְטַנָּא לַכְרָאָר מַאֵרְאָא נְאָלָנְאָר מַאֵרְאָא	ולְאָתָבָא פְּלְתָנָא קַוִּישָׁא וִשְׁמַה לְנַוְרָה יִפְּרָא וִשְׁמַנָּא וְיֵוָה וְיַמְרָה		בְּחַיֵּכוּן וּבְיוֹמַיכוֹן י י י

A variant to ( $\alpha$ ) b is בעלמא דעתיד לחדתא of Soferim 19 12, and Tur Yore Deah 376 gives a version of ( $\gamma$ ) varying in details. Old English mostly follows Maimonides JQR IV p. 54.

This version, known as the burial Kaddish or Kaddish לחדתא) from the first characteristic word, is, broadly speaking, the older simpler Kaddish with the Messianic insertions b. c. d. e. f. g. For dating it, the termini are the destruction of the second Temple 72 C. E. and Massecheth Soferim 7th—8th cent. It is impossible accurately to fix a date between these two limits and the most one can venture to say is that it is hardly earlier than the third or later than the seventh century.

This elaboration of the Kaddish is also in origin the דברי שבה at the close of an Aggadic discourse, and very probably arose, if we need seek special grounds for its development, in differentiation from its simpler original, when the latter became an integral part of the synagogue service. When the older, simpler version had assumed its function in the synagogue with a definite place and meaning in the services, it was amplified in the study house with the comforting Messianic promises and hopes that recur again and again at the close of Aggadic study. And even the Halachic treatises of the Mishna often close with prayers for or references to the world to come<sup>2</sup>(b), the resurrection<sup>3</sup>(c), the rebuilding of Jerusalem 4 (d) and of the Temple 5 (e) and the approach of the Messiah 6 (h). This study-house use of the paragraph is undoubtedly original, although it was later applied as the graveside Kaddish and as the mourning Kaddish par excellence [Appendix F, p. 115].

Whereas the Hebrew prayer על הכל (Soferim 14 12) is strictly parallel to the ordinary Kaddish, the prayer יהי רצון corresponds in three of its four paragraphs with the contents of the three para-

&lt;sup>1</sup> Ber 31 a <sub>28</sub> T. Ber 3 21 8 10 (text notes) J. Ber 5 8d <sup>22</sup>.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Talmud Tamid 33b MK. 29a Hull. 142a etc.

<sup>3</sup> Sota 9 וה MK. 3 9 Tosafoth MK. 28b top בלע.

<sup>4</sup> Aboth 5 20 reading שתכנה עירך. Derech Eres Rabba.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Taan 48 Aboth 5 20 reading שיבנה בית המקדש. Derech Eres Zutta.

<sup>6</sup> Eduy. 87.

 $<sup>^7</sup>$  Amram I 24a ( ), 33a [ ] BAER 124 GASTER 113 Roman 23b. See further pp. 92 and 98.

graphs of this version of the Kaddish: עתיד לכונן (p. 97) and לקים (p. 97) and על ישראל לקים (p. 98). The form differs largely owing to the "Systemzwang" of the יהי רצון מלפני (הלהין השמים framework. The similarity is least clear in the first verse יהי רצון מלפני (הלהין השמים (מהרה בימינו) ואמרו אמן לרחם) (לרחם) (לרחם) לכונן את בית חיינו ולהשיב שכינתו לתוכו (במהרה בימינו) ואמרו אמן where only e. g. and j. are paralleled. The other two verses are far more closely related. The elaborate יקום פרקנא of the Yemen codex Gaster 243 f. 132a contains the phrase היכלא היכלא היכלא היכלא מלכנו אלהינו ((e) and (d)). Various closing prayers offer parallels to this paragraph; e. g. the יהי רצון added after counting the 'Omer and after the Shemone 'Esre, and the old מלכנו אלהינו by Gaster 10 שכלל היכלך (e) קרב משיחך (h) שכינתך תשב לבית מקדשך (c) הרחמן יזכנו לראות המשיח ולחיי העולם הבא (b) . . . (g)

The paragraph, itself an expansion of the simpler Kaddish, has in its turn been poetically amplified. Dr. Gaster has published <sup>11</sup> a Genizah fragment, dating from not later than the 9th or 10th century that appears to be a poetical expansion of it, phrase by phrase, perhaps for the fast of Ab. The following extract shows its construction:

- כמא דאמיר על ידי עבדוהי נבייא לאחאה מיתיא: . . . (c)
- (d) ולמבני קרתא ירושלם. למבני יתה בניין עלם . . . . . למבני קרתא ירושלם:
- שבינתיה . . . שבינתיה . . שבינתיה . . שבינתיה (e) היכלא היכלי לשכללא היכלא: להיכלא דקודשא כמא דאמיר על ידי עבדוהי נבו' לשכללא היכלא:
  - . . . אולמעקר פולחנא נוכרא. למעקר יתה מן שמיא ומן ארעא (f)
  - . . . ויתובון כל עלמא . . . לפולחנא דקודשא ברוך הוא . . . (g)
- ימל[ד] . . . ובכן ימל[ד] . . . . ובכן ימל[ד] . . . . . ובכן ימל[ד] מלכותיה וגו'.
  - (i) בחי[יכון] וכולי.

This text agrees on the whole most with version (a).

(b) The more explicitly dogmatic Messianic character of this version of the Kaddish is at once brought out in the qualification s Meg 20b Tosafoth כל הלילה end. TBER. 18 95.

<sup>9</sup> Amram I 9a Vitry 67 BAER 104 p. 36 note 55.

<sup>10</sup> GDK. p. 238. 11 GDK. 234 MGWJ XLVIII 1904 417ff.

(c) the resurrection.<sup>19</sup> This belief occurring sporadically in the Old Testament,<sup>20</sup> regularly in the New Testament<sup>21</sup> and in Hellenic and Pharisaic apocryphal works,<sup>22</sup> the Mishna<sup>23</sup> and Talmud<sup>24</sup> and Targum<sup>25</sup> hangs inseparably together with the Messianic hope. The "renewal of the world" (b) must necessarily include the revival of the dead for them to share in the Messianic glory. Sometimes the

<sup>12</sup> Dan 12 2 Enoch 98 10 103 8 104 5.

<sup>13</sup> The modern German addition to (c). Deut 30 19 JI. Hos 6 2 Targ.

<sup>14</sup> Isa 65 17 66 22 Exod Rab. 15 to Ex 12 2. Tanhuma to שיו ed. Buber 9. PREl. 51. Alphabet of R. Akiba (version B) letter Heh, Jell. BH. III p. 25. Cf. Deut. 32 1 JI with ib. JII. Eth. Enoch 45 4 f.

&lt;sup>15</sup> Matth 19 28. Cf. 2 Pet. 3 13 Revel. 211, 5 20 11 Apoc. Baruch 32 6 44 12 57 2.

&lt;sup>16</sup> Sanh. 92 b <sup>1</sup> 97 b <sup>16</sup>, 7000, 5000 etc. years.

<sup>17</sup> Mechilta p. 50b to Exod 12 25.

יום On אורוא א Schürer GJV. II 636 ff. and literature there given. DWJ 145 f. J. Klausner, Die messianischen Vorstellungen des jüdischen Volkes, Berlin '04 p. 18 ff.

<sup>19</sup> SCHÜRER GJV. II 638 et seq. Collected Jewish views on the resurrection Zunz, Zur Geschichte 372 et seq.

<sup>20</sup> Dan 12 2 Isa 26 19 Job 19 25 f. 14 13 f. Ezek 37 1 et seq. Compare 1 Kgs 17 22 2 Kgs 4 32—35 13 21. Contrast Ps 88 11, but also Ps 49 15 73 18—24. Α τρ, hint of it is found in Deut 32 34 (Sifre ib. p. 139 b), 33 6 a Num 23 10 b Hos 6 2.

<sup>21</sup> Luke 20 35 ff. John 5 29 Acts 24 15 1 Cor 6 14 2 Cor 1 9 etc.

&lt;sup>22</sup> IV Macc 17<sub>18</sub> Wisdom 3<sub>1</sub>—9 Ps of Solomon 3<sub>16</sub> Baruch 30<sub>1</sub>—5 44<sub>12</sub> 49—51 Enoch 22 51<sub>1</sub>f. and esp. 2 Macc 7<sub>9</sub> 11<sub>14</sub> 36 14<sub>46</sub> 12<sub>43</sub>—45.

<sup>23</sup> Aboth 4 22 Sota 9 15 end, cf. 1 Kgs 17 22.

 $<sup>^{24}</sup>$  Sanh 90b  $_{28}$  et seq. Keth 8b  $_{20}$  J. Ber 4  $_2$  7d  $_{26}$ . Compare Shem, 'Esre 2. TBER, 5  $\,29\,_{151}$  .

<sup>25</sup> Gen 19 26 J II Zach 3 7 Hos 6 2. See p. 63.

resurrection is pictured as taking place through Elijah 26 or the Messiah, but more usually, as here, through God who alone has the key to open the graves 27 at the end of the Messianic era.28 The connection of this phrase (c) with (a) cannot be too closely drawn. As the Kaddish prays for the sanctification of God's Name through the resurrection, the resurrection is again and again described as having for its purpose the praise of God. In Ezek Ch 37 the foundation of the Rabbinical teaching on the resurrection, it is three times 29 emphasised that through it וידעתם כי אני ה', and after the final defeat of Gog and Magog-והתגרלתי והתקדשתי-will come the resurrection. So in the TBER.30 ובסוף שחיו . . . . ונתגדל שמו בעולם מסוף העולם ועד סופו. ועל אותה שעה הוא אומר (Ezek 38 23) והתגדלתי והתקדשתי or תחיית המתים להקב"ה בעולם הזה כדי לקדש שמו הגדול. The Targum to the Shemone 'Esre 31 translates ברוך אתה ה' מחיה המתים by וישבחון קדמך ויברכון ית שמך ואמרין יהא שמיה רבא מברך דיכילתא לאחיאה מיתיא.

(d) There is no attempt at putting the various eschatological ideas here enumerated into their chronological order a, h 2, d. e. f. g. b. c. h 1. In the Bible there are many references to God's building up Jerusalem, this also bringing honor and glory to His Name;<sup>32</sup> and after the destruction of the city by Titus and the building of the heathen city Aelia Capitolina on its site by Hadrian, the hopes of 26 Sota 9 15 end. Compare 1 Kgs 17 22.

 $<sup>^{27}</sup>$  Ezek  $37_{\,12}$  Ber  $15\,b_{\,16}$  Gen  $30_{\,22}$  J II. Alphabet of R. Akiba letter Zayyin Jell. BH. III 27 PREl. 34 Keth  $8\,b_{\,23}$  J. Ber  $4_{\,2}$  7d  $_{26}$  Ber  $60\,b^{\,27}$  Taan 2a  $_4$  Sanh  $113_{\,8}$ .

&lt;sup>28</sup> Num 11 26 J I Deut 32 39 J II 1 Sam 2 6 2 Esdr 7 26—36 TBER, 3 14 5 21 18 93 107 TBEZ, 4 180.

&lt;sup>29</sup> Ezek 37 6 13 14. Cf. Targ. Isa 42 11. Targ. to Shem. Esre quoted lower. Midrash Konan Jell. BH. II 36.

<sup>30</sup> TBER. 5 22 24 Num 11 26 J I.

<sup>31</sup> MGWJ. XXXIX 1894 85.

&lt;sup>32</sup> Ps 102 14—17 Ps 51 20 where המיבה seems to be a technical term for rebuilding so as to improve and beautify. Compare the Zenjirli inscription of Barrekub bar Panammu l. 12 בית מלכן רברבן Sachau, Mitteilungen aus den orientalischen Sammlungen Heft 11 p. 25. Berl. '93. Ps 147 2. Compare Sirach 36 17 f. Isa 51 3 52 9 54 11 f. 61 3 f.

the consolation (מוממה) 33 and rebuilding of the New Jerusalem 34 loomed most prominently in the hopes for the future, and find expression at every opportunity. 35 Almost invariably the prayer for Jerusalem (d) is coupled with more original than לאָתְחַדָּתָא. The Targum in two passages—Mic 7 אווי לאתחרתא מתיד לאתחרתא and Deut 32 ו JI simi$<sup>^{33}</sup>$  Isa  $52\,_9$   $66\,_{13}$  Zach  $1\,_{17}$  Sirach  $36\,_{13}$  f. Targ. Isa  $33\,_{20}$   $51\,_3$  4  $_3$ . Ber  $48\,_5$   $^{20}$  המתה ברחמיו ירושלם the paragraph על ציון על ציון מנחם מחם and בנה ברחמיו ירושלם  $_{13\,_12}$  the Haftarah blessing נחם ה' אלהינו ציון עירך . . . . מנחם ציון בבניה. Derech Eres Rabba end שמחתה של ירושלם ונחומותיה. See p. 64.

(e) the prayer for the rebuilding of the Temple. God will rebuild His Temple, <sup>36</sup> described by Ezekiel (40—48), through His anointed. <sup>37</sup> The nations of the earth will forsake their idols and go up to the House of the God of Jacob to learn of His ways (f), <sup>38</sup> for the service of God will be restored to the Temple once more (g). <sup>39</sup>

קיה and דְּעָתִיד better than די־. Compare Galilean and Samaritan דו for הוא דו הוא

אַתִּיד better than the usual אַתִּיד –a Hebraism,—in form Part. Pass. Peal. עתיד ל in the Targum, as סוף with ל or a participle or סוף עתיד ל, is constantly used for expressing certain futurity. 41 Cf. לעתיד לבוא "to the future world".

 <sup>34</sup> Isa 54 11 f. Zech 2 6—9 14—16 8 3—5 Revel 21 10 et seq. Tobit 13 16—18
 14 5 Enoch 90 28 f. Jell. BH. III p. 69. 74 f. Schürer GJV. II 625f. gives literature. Apoc. Baruch 6 9.

<sup>35</sup> Ber 44a <sub>7</sub> J Ber 4 2 7d <sub>19</sub> TBER. 14 63 Shem. Esre 14 17 (Elbogen p. 525). The Palestinian version (S. Schechter JQR. X 1898 p. 657) reads in one text היכלל היכלל היכלל (Baer 108). Service for the 9th Ab (Taan. 29b) בחם (Baer p. 96). Further note 33 above. Aboth 5 20 Soferim 14 12 ביתו בימינו.

<sup>36</sup> Isa 60 7 Hag 2 7 9 Taan 4 8 Aboth 5 20 Tobit 14 5 Enoch 90 28 f. Derech Eres Zutta end. Shem. Esre 17 (Elbogen 526) Jell. BH. III 69 74 f. Further note 33 and 35 above.

<sup>37</sup> Zach 6 12 f. and Targ.

<sup>38</sup> Isa 2 3 18 Mic 4 2 Zach 13 2 Tobit 14 6. The second half (עלינו ) of עלינו ) Of Saer p. 132). ויאַהְיוּ New Year liturgy (German) DWJ. Anhang 306. Cant. Rab. to 2 13 p. 17c.

 $<sup>^{39}</sup>$  Shemone 'Esre 17 השב העבודה לדביר . Midr. Ps 17  $_2$  ed. Bub. p. 127 השב שכינתך לציון וסדר העבודה לירושלם (Elbogen, Shem. 'Esre 527).

<sup>40</sup> Targum ed. Sabionetta, Lisbon etc.

<sup>41</sup> Gen 47 10 Onk. Exod JI 1 15 35 107 etc. D. Gr. 268.

larly, reads the Ithpaal, but in Habak 3 2 אלמא למדת להדתא עלמא. In Onkelos to Deut 32 12 the MSS. and editions vary between the Pael and Ithpaal. 42 With the Ithpaal הוא refers to אלמא, thus laying unwarranted emphasis on עלמא and leaving b out of connection with the following phrases c. d. e. etc. With the Pael הוא God is the subject of all the following verbs. The later change to the Passive is apparently in accordance with the scrupulous spirit of the Targum to avoid attributing the action of the renewal directly to God. 43 הודשא (Ldzb. 271) is a denominative. Old English אלהדשא.

אַרְאָּהְ is perhaps the best orthography, pronounced as the later more popular spelling אַרָּאָרָיָה and אַרְאָה <sup>47</sup> also occur. The form in Biblical Aramaic is לָּהַחְנָיָה. The punctuation אַרָּאָה also occurs in Yemenite texts. <sup>49</sup> Old English ולמחמא (!).

Most Targum editions and some MSS. and editions of the Kaddish prefer מֵיתִיא possibly hinting at מֶיתִיא from אתא 'the coming ones.'

אַלְּמְפְּרָק So Onk. and Proph. Targ. ולמפרוס often in Jer. Targ. אָלְמִבְּרָק as in Dan 2 30 4 14. Most editions and Targ. edit. תְּיָא Afel Inf. of pho with Daghesh in D. Cf. Dan 6 24 לְּמִּכְּקְאָּג. לְהַנְּקְהָהוֹן Dan 3 12 better than יְּתְהוֹן.

מסיק משאול לחיי based on Dan 12 2. Amram II 21b לְחַיֵּי עֻלְמָה

<sup>42</sup> Bologna 1482, Vienna, and two MSS. (1185 CE. and 1439 CE.) quoted by Levy TWB. הדת, read the Pael. Edit. Sabionetta, the Lisbon 1491 editions and modern editions have the Ithpaal.

<sup>43</sup> So Adler נתינה לנר Deut 32 12.

<sup>44</sup> Amram, Rashi (Vitry), Yemen, Yemen Genizah fragment. Targum Cod. Reuchl. Isa 38 16 2 Sam 8 2 1 Sam 2 6 Exod 13 17 J II ed. Ginsburger שכן עתיר 45 Maimonides.

<sup>46</sup> Abudarham. Targum Isa 38 16 Buxtorf. Tur.

<sup>47</sup> Targ. Isa 38 16 ed. Venice 1517.

<sup>48</sup> Dan 2 10 16 27 3 32 5 15 one Yemen MS. Qre. להחואה. Strack to Dan 2 10.

<sup>49</sup> D. Gr. 353 355 60 98.

&lt;sup>50</sup> Jastrow, Landshuth etc. Num 17 13 Onk.—not ed. Sab. and Lisbon. Reuchl. 2 Kgs 19 35.

<sup>51</sup> Merx, Bemerkungen über die Vocalisation der Targume (Verhandlung des 5ten internat. Orientalisten-Congresses 145, 185. Nöldeke, Mand. Gram. 92. 390. Wright, Comparative Grammar of the Semitic languages 112. Berliner, Onkelos II 148. Bevan, Daniel 38.

עלמא better than Targ.  $1~\mathrm{Sam}~2~\mathrm{6}$  עלמא בחיי עלמא where עלמא where אטריד שואף עתיד לאסקא בחיי עלמא א as often. Both חיי עלמא דאתי העולם הבא) איי עלמא דאתי העולם הבא) איי עלמא הבא) איי עלמא הבא) איי עלמא העמא מון ייי עלמא א סכנור, the latter more frequently.

למבנא better than Yemen ולמבנא although Ezr 5 2 17 has למבנא, 55 since in later orthography א is usually mater lectionis for the vowel  $\hat{a}$ . 56

Nöldeke, Beiträge zur semit. Sprachwissenschaft, p. 62, note 1; Barth, ZDMG. XLI 1887, 607. קרתא followed by a name is usually constructed with ז<sup>57</sup> but often (hebraizing?) without it.<sup>58</sup>

דירושלֶם So Baer and Ginsburg. Strack דירושלֶם as many MSS. Strack to Ezr 4 s.

in Biblical Aram וּלְשֵׁכְלֶלָה to finish building walls 60 or the Temple. 61 In the Targumim it is used in this sense also 62 and in the rather more general sense of to build up 63 as here, or to lay the foundations. 64

אַרְלָאָ So Biblical Aramaic 65 and Syriac אָבלָּא better than the hebraizing form usually found הּיִכְלָא.

&lt;sup>52</sup> Targ Lev 18 <sup>5</sup> Isa 58 <sup>11</sup> Ezek 20 <sup>11</sup> <sup>13</sup> <sup>21</sup> compared with Deut 30 <sup>19</sup> J I.

<sup>53</sup> Aboth 27 Sanh 102

&lt;sup>54</sup> Dan 12 2 Lev 18 5 O. J I Deut 33 6 O. 1 Sam 25 29 Ezek 20 11 13 21 Ps Sol 13 9 14 2. Cf. Enoch 103 3 f. In the New Testament ζωὴν αἰώνιον 40 times. Sofer 13 8 DWJ. 127 f.

<sup>55</sup> Besides לְבְנָא Ezr 5 9 (cf. DG 340 349) and לְבָנָא Ezr 5 3 13. This latter. form too in inscriptions e. g. Hadad l. 11 13. Savce-Cowley Egypt. Aram, has מכנה A 3 6 9 11 C 14.

קרתא דירושלם Amr., Rashi, Maim., Tur. Isa 10 32 Reuchl. margin and editions. Cf. Gen 33 18 J I 49 7 J II Esth II 8 15 ed. David p. 44  $^3$  9 ib. 1 1 p. 211.

א ירושלם 58 Abud., Yemen, Genizah fragment Isa 10 32 Reuchl. Cf. Gen 33 18 Onk.

<sup>59</sup> Ezr 53 9. The Inf. Pael ending in א occurs only in לְיַבֶּלָא Ezr 4 21 6 8 לְיַבֶּּבָא Dan 7 19 and perh. Kethibh לחמיא Ezr 6 17 D. Gr. 250 f. 281.

<sup>60</sup> Ezra 4 12 13 16 5 3 9.

<sup>61</sup> Ezra 5 11 6 14 and 5 3 9, if אשרנא is connected with Assyrian ašru sanctuary as Paul Haupt suggests in Guthe's Ezra. Cf. אשרנא a part of the temple, Sachau, Die Aram. Papyrusurkunden 1 11.

<sup>62</sup> Gen 21 Exod 31 17 JI Deut 20 5 JI Ezek 27 11 Am 9 11 1 Chr 4 23.

<sup>63</sup> Ps 51 20. 64 Zech 89 Hab 2 12 1 Sam 28 2 Sam 228 Isa 425.

<sup>65</sup> Nöldeke, Mand. Gram. 135 § 113 Reckendorf, ZDMG. XLII 1888 p. 399 Barth, NB. § 264 d p. 423 note 2 Ges. Kautzsch, Hebr Gram. 85 c Lagarde, לקיר, בקיר, added in the Yemen version can be defended by the apparent usage in Biblical Aramaic where the two meanings of "palace" and "temple" always appear to be purposely kept distinct from each other by qualifying additions. היכלא די בירושלם as temple is היכלא די בירושלם (Ezr 5 14a 15 6 5 5), היכלא די בירושלם (Dan 5 3). היכלא די בירושלם as royal palace is היכלא די מלכא (Dan 5 5), היכל מלכותא (Dan 6 19), בביתי parallel to היכלא (Dan 4 1), היכלה היכל מלכותא (Dan 4 26). די בבל (Dan 4 26). די בבל היכלא די בבל היכלא די בבל היכלא די בבל is temple in Babylon as היכלא די בירושלם temple in Jerusalem, in contrast with היכל מלכותי די בבל the palace in Babylon.

בנה So Ezra 4 15 better than ed. Sabionetta etc. בנה On גו RECKENDORF, ZDMG. XLII, 1888 p. 413. Ldzb. 249.

פורקן On פּלְחָנָא נְכְרְאָה On פּוּלחן see above on פּוּרקן p. 37. Barth, NB. § 194b p. 318 p. XXIX note 1. פּלחנא נוכראה se or as pronounced עבודה זרה זרה is the regular equivalent of the Hebrew עבודה זרה זרה strange service i. e. idolatry, or the idol itself. The former meaning is

Uebersicht 121 9 Delitzsch, Assyr. WB. following Oppert, êkallu from the Sumerian ê-gal large house.

<sup>66</sup> Strack to Ezra 7 18 notes a superlinear MS with סֿעכר.

<sup>67</sup> BARTH NB. § 161b p. 243 DGr. 93 f. 279 f.

 &lt;sup>68</sup> J I Gen 21 9 15 f. 26 35 Exod. 6 9 17 8 32 18 27 Num 23 1 35 25 Deut 25 18
 32 12. Cf. S. Liandauer, Das Elif als mater lectionis im jüd. Aram., Festschrift Abraham Berliner's p. 220 f. D. Gr. 98 177 194.

<sup>69</sup> JII Gen 4 26 21 9, JI Exod 32 6, Deut 32 16 JII נוכרייא cf. ver. 12 Deut 14 1 JII פולחנא נוכריתא, Ginsburger נוכראין. The א in נוכראי is only a mater lectionis to avoid reading נוכרי.

required here. וור) is the technical term for that which is alien to the religious laws, contrary to ritual prescription.

נוכראה is a late reading for נוכראה (ed. princ.) due to the censorship, just as עבודה זרה in most printed works changed to פולחנא נוכראה דפלחי כוכביא. Editions of the Tur read עבודת אלילים. Although the word does occur rarely in the Targum (e. g. Lev 1 2 J I), it is not a usual Aramaic word, אלילים being invariably translated by the Targumist as מעוותא.

אַרְעָא The Masora to Onk Exod 12 37 would require מָאַרְעָא, being a Hebraism. מְאַרְעָא avoids the hiatus and removes the difficulty. ארעא here meant originally the "land"—Palestine. This is meant by מארעיה in Amram and the Tur. It was especially Palestine that was polluted by idolatry (Zech 13 2). The national restoration is here primarily intended, but secondarily also the universalistic, the complete extirpation of idolatry from the earth. Old English, however, reads מארענא

אֹלְאֶּתְבָּא So the superlinear pointing. The sublinear is the more regular וְלַאַתְבָא

in the mouth of an oriental are scarcely to be distinguished, the ה being very lightly aspirated, and ה both softly pronounced very much as the Arabic . Hence it is impossible to say which of the two is original, although the context might be regarded as slightly favouring לאתריה. לאתריה. The Yemen version combines both להרריה. לאתריה בהדריה 'to its glory' rather than 'for His glory'. Old English לאתרא.

<sup>70</sup> Exod 30 9 Lev 10 1 Num 3 4 26 61 Onk. and Jer to הזה.

<sup>71</sup> MERX, Chrestomathia D. Gr. 316 324.

<sup>72</sup> Prätorius Joshua 7 5 D. Gr. 79.

מיקוה, יְקְרֵה and הדריה are quite synonymous. The Targum in avoidance of anthropomorphism or anthropopathism uses 'יקרא דה' (כבוד ה' (כבוד ה' פערא יקר שכינתא דה' מון יקרא דה' equally. J I prefers יקר שכינתא זו יקרא וויויה ויקריה ושכינתיה in Deut 33 וו יו יוויה ויקריה ושכינתיה in Deut 33 וו יוויה ויקרא in J II. יקר אקרא והדרא occurring often in the later parts of the Old Testament is recognised by R. Naḥman b. Isaac (280—356) as Aramaic. יקר the modern German reading is a confusion of יומלף and יומלף במלכותה.

יחוּדָא – יְחוּדֶה of the superlinear texts היי of the superlinear texts ויחוּדָה better form.

אקשה contracted from אקעש אק.

<sup>73</sup> Cf. Ezr 6 5 5 15. Cf. Sachau l. c. p. 41.

&lt;sup>74</sup> Nöldeke, ZDMG. XL 1886 p. 732.

&lt;sup>1</sup> Kohut's Yemen text להון ולכון. Yemen Or. 2418 להון ולכון. Spanish ed. Livorno 1791 לגא ולהון ולכון. Carpentras as mod. Spanish ולנא ולהון ולכון. Spanish ed. princ. להון. Some Yemen texts לכון etc.

מרי שמיא וארעא יוריין אריכין ומוונא רויחא ופורקנא, 3 Maimonides, mod. German and Kohut's Yemen text read אבוהון דבשמיא, Yemen as both of these or מימרא דשמיא וארעא סי אבונא דב'.

This paragraph, recited in the Kaddish at the end of a lesson is an appropriate wish for blessing on all teachers who uphold and transmit the traditional teachings. יקום פורקן,4 the old Babylonian formula used for the same purpose, is practically the same:5

(German) קריש ועל ישראל וזעל רבנן ... למרגן ורבגן ... ועל תלמידיהון ועל כל תלמידי תלמידיהון ולכל תלמידיהון ולכל תלמידי תלמידיהון ועל כל מן דעסקין באוריתא וכל מן דעסקין באוריתא ... דבבבל ודבבבל ... דבאתרא הדין ודבכל אתר ואתר יהא להון [ולכון] חנא וחסדא ורחמי .... תנא וחסדא ורחמי וחיי אריכי וחיי אריכי ומזוגא רויחא. ומזוני רויחי וסיעתא ... ופרקנא מן קדם אבוהון דבשמיא ... יקום פורקן מן שמיא ... ואמרו אמן ... ונאמר אמן

יקום פורקן has a considerable excess of words over this paragraph of the Kaddish, several of which however can be paralleled in other versions or parts of the Kaddish; e. g. אמות הישתה Maimonides — לרישי כלי ולרישי גלותא ולרישי לרישי לרישי כלי ולרישי גלותא ולרישי הוא יקום פורקן in the addition of מתיבתא in the general in the old Kaddish (p. 18) in the mention of the אב הישיבה and of the ארש הישיבה, where

&lt;sup>2</sup> Spanish ed. Livorno 1791 adds והיין אריכין ומווני רויחין אריכין ומווני וחיין אריכין ומווני וחיין אריכי ומווני וסייעהא דשמיא ובריאות (Gaster 173) reads הא לכון חנא והסדא ורחמי [וחיי] אריכי ומווני וסייעהא דשמיא ובסעדכון בכל זמן ועדן ואמרו אמן.

<sup>3</sup> Abudarham, Spanish, Carpentras, Roman, Old Yemen texts. The Spanish version ed. Livorno 1791 reads מרי דשמיא וארעא. For מרי הם often מרי מאריה מחל מאריה מחל מרי השמיא וארעא also the three heads of the מתיבתא = ישיבה are called חבורה. The phrase ויתפרקון וישתזבון מן כל עקא ומן כל מרעין בישין has its counterpart in the Kaddish in the paragraph תתכלי (p. 97).6 The real difference between the two formulae is that the Kaddish is universal and יקום פורקן local. Certainly the phrase דבאתרא הדין in the Kaddish looks more like an adaptation of the corresponding phrase in יקום פורקן than an original expression; and because of the local color in יקום פורקן it has been assumed? that the Kaddish formula is a later adaptation of it. But even assuming that יקום פורקן as we have it in the Mahzor Vitry has been expanded, it would still be hard to see why the Kaddish omitted some phrases, and found it necessary to alter the order and construction of the sentences. This consideration also bars the assumption of פורקן פורקן being an adaptation of the Kaddish formula. It is therefore probable that both are independent developments from a common original. This original would appear to date from post Talmudic times, and is possibly early Gaonic. This paragraph, not in Amram, perhaps dates from later than 900.

<sup>4</sup> Vitry p. 172 Baee 229 f. S. L. Rapoport, Biography of Nathan b. Yechiel Note 29. It runs as follows: (Baer) יקום פורקן מן שמיא חנא וחמדא ורחמי וחיי אריכי (Baer) יקום פורקן מן שמיא חנא וחמדא ובריות גופא ונהורא מעליא זרעא חייא וקיימא זרעא דלא יפסוק ומזוני רויחי וסיַעתא דשמיא ובריות גופא ונהורא מעליא זרעא דישראל ודבבבל לרישי כלי ודלא יבמול מפתנמי אוריתא למרגן ורבגן חבורתא קדישתא דבארעא דישראל ודבבבל לרישי כלי ולרישי גלותא ולרישי מתיבתא ולדיגי דבבא, לכל תלמידיהון ולכל מן ולכל מן דעסקין באוריתא מלכא דעלמא יברך יתהון יפיש חייהון ויסני יומיהון ויתן ארכא לשניהון ויתפרקון דעסקין באוריתא מלכא דעלמא יברך יתהון יפיש חייהון בשמיא יהא בסעדהון כל זמן ועדן וגאמר אמן Based on Landshuth בקור חולים p. LX.

יקום פורקן The only excess of the Kaddish over על ישראל in the two words על ישראל, which are out of place at the head of this blessing for the רבנן, which are never been explained. Furthermore Maimonides, old English and Kohut's Yemen text do not know them, but commence the paragraph על רבנן There is a second formula because it is a prayer for the congregation, running as the one for the teachers except for the words איקום פורקן פורקן ועריא מפלא ונשיא (מלכא דעלמא יברך יתכון ... מפתגמי אוריתא) לכל קהלא קדישא מפלא ונשיא (מלכא דעלמא יברך יתכון ... וו the Maḥzor Vitry p. 172 these two formulae are combined into one. It is obvious therefore that our version of the paragraph beginning על ישראל ועל רבנן with these formulae in one. The formula beginning על ישראל (which otherwise comes very abruptly and is bracketed by Baer etc.) corresponds with the congregational יקום פורקן; and in so far as it begins על and reads יקום פורקן: it corresponds with the rabbinical יקום פורקן. This paragraph is therefore a combined prayer both for the congregation (of Israel) and its teachers.

<sup>6</sup> The form in the Kaddish Maimonides MS. Gaster 173 running הנא והסדא ורחמי וחווני וסייעתא דשמיא ובריאות גופא מימרא רשמיא יהא בסערנא ובסערכון ורחמי [וחיי] אריכי ומווני וסייעתא דשמיא ובריאות גופא מימרא רשמיא יהא בסערנא ובסערכון is almost literally the same as the beginning and end of יקום פרקן.

&lt;sup>7</sup> Rapoport כרם חמר III 1838 p. 46 and following him Landshuth l. c. Hamburger, Real-Encykl. II 606.

The parallel paragraph of יהי רצון (the third) running יהי רצון  $^{9}$  מלפני [אלהי] השמים לקיים לנו את כל חכמי ישראל הם ובניהם ותלמידיהם למשכו (בישראל), otherwise fully parallel to the Kaddish paragraph, has nothing corresponding with the words על ישראל.

ואל־רַבְּבֹן not, as usually רַבָּן is itself a nominal form and is not to be regarded with Geiger 11 as אווי with the suffix of the 1st pers. plur., which would be בא with the suffix of the 1st pers. plur., which would be רבן. It occurs in the Targum 12 and has an uncertain history. According to the general tradition 14 והבי is a higher title than אווי ד. T. Eduy 3 4 460 4, implying the same, defines אווי בא as a teacher whose disciples are known, והבי one of earlier date whose disciples are already forgotten. In actual usage the title is in Palestine first given to the Patriarchs Gamliel I (30—40 C. E. Acts 22 3), then to his son Simeon, his grandson Gamliel of Yabne (90—110 C. E.) and his great grandson Simeon (fl. 140) After him the Patriarch is called אווי בא loses its official meaning. R. Yoḥanan b. Zaccai, the foremost teacher at the time of the destruction of the Temple is also known as אווי בו It was used later in the weakened sense of "rabbi, teacher" and applied to any distinguished teacher, 15 and particularly the Exilarch or chief Baby-

<sup>8</sup> Amram I 24a ( ), 33a [ ]. Gaster 113 Baer 124 Roman 23b. See p. 80 note 7 and p. 98.

&lt;sup>9</sup> In the modern German text expanded to מולמידי תלמידי as in the Kaddish and יקום פורקן.

יקום פורקן as in יקום פורקן.

<sup>11</sup> Geiger, Was hat Mohammed p. 51.

<sup>12</sup> LEVY, TWB.

 $<sup>^{13}</sup>$  Levy.  $NHWB.\,$  Kohut,  $Aruch\,$  Completum I אביי p. 6. Aboth 1  $_{16}$  et seq. Schürer, GJV. II  $_{376}$  DWJ.  $_{272}.$

&lt;sup>14</sup> From a response of Sherira Gaon. Конит's Aruch Completum I אביי p. 6. Ad. Neubauer, Anecdota Oxoniensa Preface p. XII.

 $<sup>^{15}</sup>$  Shab 33b  $^{16}$  119b  $_{19}$  AZ. 3b  $_{21}$  התיבוקות של בית הבוקות. J. Ter 8  $_7$  46a  $^{38}$  JBM. 2  $_{13}$  8d  $^{40}$  J. Sanh 10  $_1$  27d  $_{11}$  Targ. Cant 6  $_5$  Ps 80  $_{11}$  Eccl 5  $_7$  .

lonian teacher was called ברבנו The suffixed form רבנן is used regularly as הכמים in the Mishna in the wide sense of "teachers" in expressions like רבנן דקיסרין, צורבא דרבנן, ההוא מרבנן, מדרבנן, the suffix being as meaningless as it is in יבּג. יר.

In form רַבְּנִין is contracted from רַבְּנִין. The plural רַבְּנִין occurs only in the Palestinian dialect. But the suffix of the first pers. plur. added to the plural is in Galilean as in Samaritan אינן—which would give the form רבנינן—Compare Syriac מו must point to an original suffix אַן as in Onkelos (Sabionetta and the editions בון הובן). In the Jer. Targ. occur both אַן and בון מור occurs.

ועל כל תלמידיהון ועל תלמידי תלמידיהון ועל כל תלמידי תלמידיהון The expression, including two generations of pupils, is modelled on Isa 59  $^{21^{19}}$  A מלמיד בר ששואלין אותו דבר הלכה בתלמודו ואומר.

מל Cf. בּבּ, the superlinear punctuation, Ginsburg (Dan 3 15) many MSS. (Strack to Dan 3 6), Marti § 27 Note, Bevan, Daniel p. 39 etc., better than אָ favored by Baer and the editions. The orthography אמו is only to distinguish it from the preposition אָבּיני The use of—ק מון for the simple relative is more characteristic of the Jer. Targ. than of Onkelos.

יתב דְּיְתְבִין וְעֵשְׂקין is often used specifically for sitting down to study (Targ. Isa 1 3) or lecture, ישב ועסק ב. Yemen Cod. Gaster 249 reads יתלמידיהון דאנון עסקין.

עָּקְקּין is better in a pointed text than עֶּקְקּין. The do is used constantly for w in New Hebrew and Jewish Aramaic to avoid misreading as של.24 The root עשק, in Biblical Hebrew Hithpael

<sup>16</sup> Pes 115b אשי 16 Keth 22a 12 רבנא עוקבא.

<sup>17</sup> Compare Monsieur, Monsignor, Mijnheer etc.

&lt;sup>18</sup> D. Gr. 95 108 174 204. <sup>19</sup> BM. 85a<sub>11</sub>.

&lt;sup>20</sup> Nöldeke, ZDMG. XL 1886 727 Note 3 1 Chr 25 8 D. Gr. 172.

<sup>21</sup> Ta'an 10b 2 D. S. Levy, NHWB. כַּלָה.

&lt;sup>22</sup> LANDAUER, in Abraham Berliner's Festschrift 1903 pp. 215—226.

 $<sup>^{23}</sup>$  Passage D (p. 9). Often as in יושב ודורש אחר אחר בארם מעשה מעשה ברים, מעשה ברים מעשה יושב ודורש. Gen. Rab. 57 יתיב ודריש בהדין פסוקא בהדין פסוקא . Eccl. Rab. to 62 יתיב ודריש J. Ber 2 1 4b  $^{35}$  etc.

<sup>24</sup> מחם (Biblical יחם, (שחם (Bibl. ארס ), ארש (Bibl. ארס ), מפק (1 Kgs 20 ווים), ארס (כל (מבר 15 Ezr 4 s for סמר ), כל (Bibl. שמה (שנה 15 Ezr 4 s for )) סמה (שמה 12 שמה ), ושמה (שמה 15 בין שמה ), ושמה (שמה 15 בין שמה 15 שמה ), ושמה (שמה 15 בין שמה 15 שמה ), ושמה שמה מוש שמה (שמה 15 בין שמה 15 שמה ), ושמה (שמה 15 בין שמה 15 שמה ), ושמה שמה (שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה (שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 15 שמה 16 שמה 1 Gen 26 20 to strive, 25 is the same as the New Hebrew and Aramaic pdy (poetical Arabic عَشْتُ "to cling to." The theory that w in Aramaic is a Hebraism, 26 is in the light of old Aramaic inscriptions, especially Palmyrene, not tenable. 27 pdy studere, is especially used with אוריתא (בתורה), 28 the present participle active אוריתא (צפתיה) באוריתא (Yemen Or. 2389 יְלִייָּסִיּלָייִן).

so superlinear vocalisation, 30 Syr. אוֹרָיָתְאׁ The editions all אוֹרָיתִאּ

Abudarham corrects the reading שַּרִישֶׁרְאַ usual in his day and found in some MSS. e. g. Maimonides Gaster MS. 173. It is found sometimes in old Yemen texts 31 and in Roman texts.

רבנן הקרא הְהֵן referring back to הָדֵן in pointed texts is better than הָדֵין. Cf. Bibl. Aram. Nabatean and Palmyrene הָרָין, Zenjirli, Egypt. Aram. ונה

אהי The Yemen texts read here invariably יהי See p. 52.

מְלָכְא רַבָּא an unnecessary interpolation, but a fixed phrase as in Soferim 14 בשלום בחן בחסר וברחמים.

מולקה (הְתְּבֶּי וְהְתְּבְּי In Biblical Hebrew מון וחסר and הוחסר מור ורחמים are paired. In New Hebrew and Jewish Aramaic the three terms פרש), סכין (חרש), סכין שַּׁכִּין) סכין עובר) ערס (פרש) פרס (פרש) ערס (שיד) סכר (שיד) סיד (שיד) סיד (שיד) סכר (שיד) אוס (שיד) אוס (שיד) (שיד) אוס (שיד) אוס (שיד) (שיד) אוס (שיד) (שיד) (שיד) אוס (שיד) פוש

25 The Targ. אמעסקו is to preserve the etymological explanation of the name אינים.

שנית , שכל , שמר , שום , שהרותא , שניא , שניא , שניא , שניא , של , שמר , שום , של , שמר , שני , שני , שני , שני , שני , שער ,

27 Nöldeke, ZDMG. XXIV 1870, 95. Reckendorf, ib. XLII 1888, 395. Barth, ES. 53 et seq. Berliner, Beiträge zu Hebr. Gram. im Talmud u. Midrasch (Jahresbericht d. Rabbiner Seminar. 1878/9) p. 23 ff. D. Gr. 53 66. Bevan, Daniel p. 39. Sota 5a 2 בשר ברוחה ברוחה

 $^{28}$  Gen 30  $_{18}$  JI Deut 32  $_4$  JI and II Eccl 6 s  $_{12}$  8  $_{16}$  Cant 1  $_{15}$  5  $_{10}$  . AZ. 3b  $_{10}$  Kid 30b  $^{10}$  Ber 17a  $^2$  . Aboth 4  $_{10}$  החורה ענסק ועסוק בעסק .

<sup>29</sup> Besides examples in note 28 Bacher, ETA. 152.

30 Josh 1 7 8 Mic 5 14 Eccl 5 11 6 8 12 8 16 Cod. Socin. So Sabionetta Gen 49 11 but אורָיתא Gen 27 40 Lev 19 32 D. Gr. 78 172.

31 E. g. in Or. 2389 it is inserted in the margin.
 32 Esth 217.
 33 Jer 165 Hos 2 21 Zech 79 Ps 103 4 Dan 19 Compare Ps 25 6 4012.

occur very frequently together 34 owing in a large measure to the alliteration of the 77, which sometimes attracts to them also (אריכין). On אוסדא see Nöld., Mand. Gram. p. 14 § 16. D., Gr. 88 138. βηθεσδά John 5 2, if this be the correct reading, would point to תסדא—Compare ליסב. In New Testament times ä in a closed syllable,35 as here, was largely pronounced as such: πάσχα36 ἡαββουνί37 are the later בוני - compare רבוני - פי של So too יבוני is found later often as יְבֶּרְא. On the other hand Luke 1 וה סוֹצפף is שָּבְרָא. The older pronunciation would therefore seem to be אסרה combining both Pathah and Seghol. Many editions e. g. Spanish ed. princ. (owing to the guttural ה?) point אסה. But the best editions —superlinear, Sabionetta, Reuchlin, Lisbon etc.—read אָחָסָרָא A better pronunciation may be אָקְהָה. In Syriac אינים is disgrace, אביש grace according to Gregory Bar Hebraeus.39-ן בחמין Sabionetta Exod 11 כתמין or החמי. This shortened plural in ê occurs in Assyrian, Old Aramaic inscriptions, 40 especially frequently in Mandaic, 41 apparently also in the New Testament names Βηθφαγή (Matth 21 ביתפני (Matth 26 36) and רבתפני (Matth 26 36) and in Onkelos.43 On the form החמין and its meaning Nöldeke, ZDMG. XL 1886 151 Note 5.

לְרִיכִּין אַרִיכִין The root ארך to be long is used mostly of time, and ארוכים) commonly occurs with אריכו) אריכין אריכיין אריכיין אריכין אריכין אריכין אריכין אריכין אריכיין אריכין א

of the Roman and ומוני רויחין The plural form ומונא רְוִיהָא

<sup>34</sup> Ber 29b 2 60b 14 Sofer 14 12 Amr. I 55 etc. etc.

<sup>35</sup> The LXX often shows a in such cases, where the Masoretic text has i.

<sup>36</sup> Josephus. Matth 26 2 etc.

<sup>37</sup> Mark 1051 John 2016.

<sup>38</sup> Cf. Git 7a אלא חָסרא שמך וחָסראין מילך.

<sup>39</sup> BAR HEBRAEUS, John 52 ZDMG. XXXII 1878 750. Compare D. Gr. 189

&lt;sup>40</sup> The Hadad inscription (8th cent. B. C.) 1. 51 אבני 1. 31 אבני etc. Nöldeke. ZDMG, XXIV 1870 100. Sachau, ib. XXXVII 1883 566.

<sup>41</sup> Nöldeke, Mand. Gram. p. 161 § 131. p. 305.

&lt;sup>42</sup> D. Gr. 190 f. Compare Wright, Comparative Grammar of the Semitic Languages 67 f.

<sup>43</sup> Onk. Gen 1 10 14 1 39 20 Deut 30 15 19 etc.

<sup>44</sup> E. g. Ber 16b 6 Yoma 71a 9.

Spanish (ed. Livorno 1791) texts is more idiomatic. 45 According to the Talmud Ber 35b 14 all food stuffs are called מונא. Further on (Ber 44a 14) מונא is defined as satisfying food, a meal in contrast with אָוון food, anything eatable. The form מונא in Biblical Aramaic is a Hebraism for מון.

ערויהא unpointed ורווהא have arisen out of the adj. רויהא. וויהא is in some MSS.46 pointed רויהא. D., Gr. 105 140.

מוכן assured in the German version by יקום פורקן.

This designation,<sup>47</sup> an expansion of the Biblical קורי שְׁמִיא וְאַרְעָא This designation,<sup>47</sup> an expansion of the Biblical מרא עלמא approximately the same as the very frequent appears to be original here. The reading מימרא דשמיא וארעא is based on the not infrequent Targumic designation מימרא דשמיא. 50

The construct מָרֵי in Biblical Aramaic is in later orthography generally קָרֵי Sing. and Plur. But in accordance with the scrupulous care exercised to exclude rigidly every suspicion of plurality as applied to God, 1 the choice here lay between מְרֵי .מָרָא and אָרנים ,בעלים as a Plural would be defensible as equivalent to אָרנים ,בעלים, but such ambiguous forms were carefully avoided.

מלפניו of Esth 4 s etc. —compare Acts 3 19,—used very frequently in the Targum, is the only one of the expressions characteristic of the Targum's avoidance of anthropomorphism and anthropopathism that is met with regularly in Jewish Aramaic outside the Targum. See p. 68.

&lt;sup>45</sup> in Biblical Hebrew is used only as a collective singular. The plur in Rabbinical Hebrew is common for (various) foods.

<sup>46</sup> E. g. Or. 2389 GASTER 321.

<sup>47</sup> Compare Ps 89 12 115 15 121 2 Ezra 5 11 Gen 14 19 Acts 17 24 Pesh. المِعْدُا وَإِنْجِا الْحِيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحِيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحِيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحِيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْحِيْدُ الْحَيْدُ الْعِيْدُ الْعِيْمِ الْعِيْمُ الْعِيْدُ الْعِيْمُ الْعِيْمُ الْعِيْمُ الْعِيْمُ الْعِيْمُ الْعِ

<sup>48</sup> Dan 5 23 Eccl. Rab. to 3 2 p. 9c.

<sup>49</sup> Targum to Cant. 19 times (GRÜNBAUM, ZDMG. XXXIX 1885 p. 571). J I Gen 9 6 22 1 49 20 27 Exod 12 11 Deut 28 12 34 6 J I Eccl 5 11. Palmyrene DE Vogue 73 Judith 9 12.

<sup>50</sup> Targ. Eccl 44 113 Amram I 52b.

 $<sup>^{51}</sup>$  Zunz, Ritus 39 (the variation between קונים and קונם) may be explained in the same way.

תְּכְּכֵּי חַרְבָּא וְכַפְּנָא וֹמוֹתָנָא וּמַרְעִין בִּישִׁין וַיְצְדִּין חַבְּנָא וּמִּבְּכֹוּן (וְכָּלֹּ) תִּהְבָּץ וֹהְבָּא וְכַפְּנָא וֹמוֹתָנָא וֹמְרָעִל בְּישִׁין וְיִאְבִּין וְשְּׁרָאַל וֹאמרו אָמֵן Abudarham ( ). Modern Spanish [ ]. The Tur Yore Deah 376 reads תתכלא חרבא וכפנא ומותגא מנגא ומכל עמיה בית ישראל ואמרו אמן.

יִתְבְּלֵי מִנָּנָא וּמְנְכוֹן וּמִן אַנְפַּנָא וּמְן אַנְפֵּיכוֹן וּמִכֶּל אַפַּיָא דְכָל בֵּית יִשְׂרָאֵל חִמְאָה חַתְבָּא יִתְבְּא מְתָבְּא מְתָבְּא וּבְעָל דְּכָּבָא חַתְבָּא שְׁבְיָא בַּפְנָא מוֹתָא מוֹתָנָא נָלוּתָא מָעִיקָא מַתַת יְדָא דְסָנְאָה וּבְעֵל דְּכָּבָא וְיְתִבְּ קְרָיבְּא מִּמְנִילְא וּמְנְכוֹן וּמְלָבְיֹ וּמְכָּלִי וְמִן אַנְפֵּיכוֹן וּמְכָּלִי וְמִבְּלָא וּמְוְבַּעְּא בְּעִנְלָא וּמְנְבִּי אמרו אָמַן לְתִים Also ending with לְתִים לְּמִים אַבְּיָא דְכָל-בֵּית-יִשְּׂרָאֵל בַּצְנַלָא וּבְוֹמֵן קָרִיב אמרו אָמַן לַתִים מוּלום. Yemen MS. Gaster 243.

The paragraph is known to Hai Gaon (939—1038) and from him to Isaac Giat (1038—1089) and Nachmanides (1194—1270). It figures too in the burial Kaddish of the Carpentras rite.<sup>2</sup>

A Persian view of the growing depravity of the world often found a place in Jewish eschatology, and supported from the Bible,<sup>3</sup> the Messianic times were pictured as being ushered in by a period of misfortunes and direst distress—המשיח (לינו של).<sup>4</sup> Therefore the cessation of woes is among the ten characteristic signs of the glorious future (לעתוד לבוא).<sup>5</sup> when the desolate cities shall be rebuilt,<sup>6</sup> peace shall reign,<sup>7</sup> and weeping and death shall cease. This finds expression for instance in the Sibylline Oracles III (753) "Neither war (מבנא) nor drought shall be on earth any more, (754) nor hunger (מבנא) and the fruits of the destructive hail, (755) but great peace on the whole earth." So behind the surface thought of the removal of the temporal calamities and woes of persecution, is the Messianic prayer that the sword may give way to the promised peace among men and beast, that famine and hunger (מבנא) may be turned to plenty and contentment, and that pestilence (מבנא) and evil diseases (מרגין בישין)

י Compare Targ. Isa 25 8. בקור חולים p. LXI. Müller p. 209. 3 Joel 21 et seq. Zach 14 6 et seq. Dan 12 1.

<sup>4</sup> Mal 3 2 Dan 121 Matth 246-9 Sota 915 Sanh 97a 98a 98b 11. Derech Eres Zutta 10 beginning Jubilees 2312 Sibyllines 3796 Cant. Rab. to 213 p. 17 c. d. Jellinek, BH. II 58 ff.

&lt;sup>5</sup> Exod. Rab. to 12 2 15. Schürer, GJV. II 631. <sup>6</sup> Ezek 16 55.

&lt;sup>7</sup> Isa 24 96 Hos 220 Mic 43 Zach 910 Targ. Isa 116 Shab 64.

<sup>8</sup> Isa 65 19 25 8. 9 Isa 25 8.

may no longer afflict mankind. According to Rabbi Hiyya bar Abba (3rd cent.)<sup>10</sup> a desolating pestilence (מותנא) will precede the approach of the Messiah. According to R. Yoḥanan in the second, third and fourth "weeks" preceding the Messianic advent there will be famine (מבנא) in varying degrees, and in the seventh "week" wars (מבנא) with Gog and Magog.

יהי רצון the second) runs יהי רצון יהי רצון (the second) runs יהי רצון מלפני [אלהי] השמים לרחם על פלימנו [ולחמול על שאריתנו] ולעצור (את) מלפני [אלהי] המשחית [והדבר והרעב והשבי והביזה וגזירות קשות לבמל] מעלינו המגפה ו(את) המשחית [והדבר והרעב והשבי והעל [כל] (עמו) ישראל ואמרו אמן recalls the added יעדי of the modern Spanish version. A similar prayer is given in Keth 8b

הַתְּכְּלֵי feminine agreeing with כלא. הרבא is used technically of withholding rain יו or the plague. יו sused technically

<sup>10</sup> Cant. Rabba to 2 13 p. 17c Sanh 97a top.

<sup>11</sup> Amram I 24a ( ), 33a [ ]. Gaster 113 Baer 124 Roman 23b. See p. 80 note 7 p. 92 note 8.

 $<sup>^{12}</sup>$  Targ. Gen 8  $_2\,$  1 Kings 8  $_{35}.\,$  ZDMG. XLI 1887 605 Note 4 Barth, and Barth, ES. 70.

 $<sup>^{13}</sup>$  Num 17  $_{13\ 15}$  25  $_8$  O. JI 2 Sam 24  $_{21}$  25  $\,$  1 Chr 21  $_{22}$  Ps 106  $_{30}$  Assyr. kalû to withhold, shut off, hold back.

<sup>14</sup> Jer 14 12 21 9 38 2 24 10 27 8 29 17 f. 32 24 36 42 17 22 44 13.

<sup>15</sup> Jer 21 7 34 17. 16 Ezek 6 11 7 15b 12 16.

<sup>17</sup> Ezek 5 12 17 6 12 7 15a 14 21.

<sup>18 1</sup> Chr 21 12 (= 2 Sam 24 13). Cf. Amos 410.

the text. 19 E. g. Ezek 6 11 f. בחרב ברעב ובדבר יפלו: הרחוק בדבר ... ימות, והקרוב בחרב יפול, והנשאר והנצור ברעב ימות וכְלֵיתִי חמתי בם . Or again Ezek 7 והרעב מבית, אשר בשדה בחרב ימות, 15 החרב בחוץ והדבר והרעב מבית, אשר ואשר בעיר רעב ודבר יאכלנו. Compare also 5 12 where God threatens as in שלשתיה בדבר ימותו וברעב יכלו בתוכה והשלשית בחרב יפלו נחם (ב רעב) both being similar Midrashic expansions of the three ideas. This style of exegesis is found also in the book of Daniel e. g. 3 32f. המהוהי כמה רברבין ותמהוהי כמה ... אתואי תקפין. According to both Jerus. Targumim to Exod 20 13-15 and JI to Deut 5 א חרבא, הובא are the punishments for transgressing the 6th, 8th and 7th commandments respectively. They appear as punishments for other transgressions in Aboth 5 s. Dr. Samuel Daiches 20 has pointed out similarity of expression in the Babylonian account of the deluge. These three words, therefore, are quite traditional for God sent calamity. Noteworthy is the following passage 21 בימי ר' שמואל בר נחמני22 הוה כפנא ומותא. אמרי רבנן היכי נעביד? אתרתי לא ניבעי רחמי, נבעי אמותנא וכפנא נסבול, אמר להן ר' שמואל בר נחמני ניבעי אכפנא דכי יהיב רחמנא שובעא לחיי הוא דיהיב דכתיב (Ps 145 16) פותח את ידך ומשביע לכל חי רצון. ומנלן דלא בעינן רחמי אתרתי? דכתיב (Ezr 8 23) וַנצומה וַנבקשה מאלהינו. "In the days of R. Samuel the son of Nahmani there were both famine and plague and one knew not how to pray, since one would not pray for both to be removed at once (with reference to Ezr 8 23). R. Samuel decided that one should pray for cessation of the famine, for when the Merciful One gives plenty, it is the living that he satisfies with favor (with reference to Ps 145 16)." In the elaborate יקום פרקן of the Yemen MS. Gaster 243 f. 132a occurs ויעדי מינכון . גרי חרבא וגרי כפנא וגרי מותא., and in the Targum to the Shemone יבכן יתכלי חרבא וכפנא וכל דמעתא Esre occurs.

the invariable equivalent of the Hebrew בפנא is according <sup>19</sup> E. g. on Cant 52 quoted p. 4.

<sup>20</sup> JQR. 17, 1905 445 f. 451 ff.

<sup>21</sup> Ta'an 8b 18 DS.

<sup>22</sup> A Palestinian Amora of the 3rd century.

<sup>23</sup> рээ in Job 5 22 30 3 is an Aramaism—Каптевсн, Aramäismen im Alten Testament 43. Lagarde, Uebersicht 144 4.

to the Talmud <sup>24</sup> far more grievous than בצורתא. It must be translated famine. Famine may be of three degrees (1) של בצורת, <sup>25</sup>, של מהומה, <sup>26</sup> (3) של כליה, <sup>26</sup> (3) של מהומה.

is in the Targum seldom the equivalent of מתנא is in the Targum seldom the equivalent of אגם מותגא stands for אגם, אנפה etc. 29 But both words are used synonymously. אוני in 2 Sam 24 13 and 1 Kgs 8 37 is in the parallel passages 1 Chr 21 12 2 Chr 6 28 מותנא On קבר Or 13. Yebam 8 3 9c 13.

וֹבְרְעִין בִּישִׁין the usual equivalent of באיש, ביש and are both used for the adjective "ill, sick." זו מרע

בּעְבֵּי Afel, not as ed. Sabionetta, followed by Jastrow, Pael, as the Biblical usage shows.<sup>32</sup> The more usual pointing in the superlinear system is with closed syllable יַעָבִי but forms like יַעָבִי also occur.<sup>33</sup>

APPENDIX A.

The Name קדיש (p. 10).

There is little evidence to show why this prayer should be called קריש 'holy', as Massecheth Soferim names it,¹ or the emphatic form בּרִּשְׁאַ.² The adjective here has clearly taken on substantival significance "the holy prayer or praise" but the contents of the paragraphs hardly seem to merit this designation. The holy praise, the $<sup>^{24}</sup>$  Ta an 19ab אפר רב נחמן נהרא אנהרא בצורתא. מדינתא מדינתא כפנא (See Rashi and Tosafoth). Or again אמר ר' חנינא מאה בסלע ושכיחא בצורתא. ארבעה ולא שכיחא בסלע ושכיחא בעורתא. ארבעה ולא  $^{26}$  2 Kgs 6  $^{24}$  $^{-29}$ .

<sup>27</sup> Aboth 58 cf. Gen Rab 40 beginning, to Gen 12 10.

<sup>28</sup> Lev 26 25 1 Chr 21 12 14 2 Chr 6 28 20 9 Ps 78 50 according to many MSS.

<sup>29</sup> Num 14 37 17 13-15 25 8 9 18 f.

<sup>30</sup> Deut 28 59 JI Exod 23 25 O. Eccl 6 2.

 $<sup>^{31}</sup>$  Gen 35  $_9$  J II J. Beşa 1  $_6$  60c  $_9$  Ber 22a  $_1$  Shab 30a  $^{10},$  J I Gen 48  $_1$  Exod 18  $_{20}$  Deut 34  $_6$  Ezek 34  $_4.$

<sup>32</sup> Dan 2 21 5 20 7 12 26. Cf. SAYCE-COWLEY, Egypt. Aram. G. 35.

<sup>33</sup> D. Gr. 345 267 51.

<sup>1</sup> Soferim 1612 19112 216.

<sup>2</sup> Orhoth Ḥayyim ררבנן. Buxtorf in his Lexicon p. 598b, perhaps misled by the less common form קרישא קרישא הממכתא יאמר אחר השלמת הממכתא "sanctus discipulus Rabbinorum absoluto tractatu dicebit" . . .

prayer dealing with holiness par excellence, would be an inept designation in view of the use of the Trisagion in the liturgy. This threefold "holy" and the recitation of verses dealing with קרש is called קרושה). The sanctification of the Sabbath, festivals etc. is called קרושה, קרושה (קרשה, קרוש) and both these are naturally named. The second word of the prayer ויתקרש (Ezek 36 23) וקדשתי את שמי את שמי compare 38 16 Targ.), certainly not the leitmotiv of the prayer, can hardly be thought to have occasioned its name. It may be that the importance attached to the prayer (Appendix B) earned for it the title קדיש. But in view of the original function of the prayer, it is perhaps more probable that this name is given it for its relatively high degree of holiness as compared with the preceding words of instruction, as being the prayer concluding the discursive teaching of the Aggada, the sacred seal of exalted prayer and praise to the homiletic discourse. Hence also the name קדיש is in Aramaic, since the prayer itself is the Aramaic conclusion to an Aramaic address held in the lecture room where the language in use was Aramaic.

APPENDIX B.

The Kaddish as a mourner's prayer and prayer for the dead (p. 10).

The history of the application of the Kaddish as a mourner's prayer and as a prayer for the dead is by no means clear.¹ Two main tendencies seem to have worked towards it. In the passages A B C D F (Page 8f.) great importance is attached to the (response to the) Kaddish. It is plain that the (response to the) prayer is valued so highly, chiefly in so far as it implies the presence of the people in the synagogue and lecture room, the two pillars that supported Judaism after the destruction of the state, and the consequent praise of God's Name from the mouth of the assembled congregation. In these passages, and in passages like the Targ. to Jud 5 9 (2) א פסקו מלמדרש באוריתא וכדו יאי להון דיתבין בבתי כנישתא ומברכין ומודין קדם ה' and TBER 2 11 the מקצה תבל מליהם (Ps 19 5) אלו האגדות שמקדשין את שמו הגדול בהן emphasis is laid on the gathering of the people in the "houses of assembly" and their responsive praise to the Aggada delivered there. In Shab 119b 26 the mystic Joshua b. Levi (3rd cent.) says (K. p. 43) כל העונה אמן יהא שמה רבא מברך בכל כחו קורעין לו נזר דינו של שבעים "the evil decree is annulled for him who responds אישר"ב with complete devotion", and in a קדיש ליחיד in Amram's Siddur and the Mahzor Vitry p. 55 in a quotation from an older Midrash work of the nature of the mystic היכלות, the evil decrees against Israel are pictured as kept back day by day through this response of the people. The transference of significance in this from the mystic passage F where this response of the sufferers in Gehinnom procures for them instant relief and the gates of Paradise are opened to them, can be clearly traced. The value is attached to the praise of the response alone, no longer to the implied meaning of it, and this perversion of the importance attached to the response is completed in the oft occurring late legend 3 of Akiba teaching the son of a man who was suffering in Gehinnom to say Kaddish or ברכו, thereby procuring relief from punishment for the boy's father .....

&lt;sup>1</sup> Dalman, Saat auf Hoffnung XXVII 1890 p. 169 ff. touches upon some points in connection with the mourning Kaddish. Also Obermeyer Modernes Judentum im Morgen- und Abendland, Vienna 1907 pp. 91—143.

Furthermore, complementing the idea of ancestral merit, great importance was attributed to having a son. The mystic Simeon b. Yoḥai says (Taʿan 5b  $_{10}$ ) מה זרעו בחיים אף הוא בחיים מיים אינו מגיה בן "One lives in one's (male) children." Again he says: (BB. 116a  $^9$ ) כל שאינו מגיה בן מייה מלא עליו עברה "God is full of condemnation for him who leaves no son to take his place", or (ib. 116a  $^9$ ) דור שהניח בן כמותו נאמרה בו שכיבה. יואב שלא הניח בן כמותו נאמרה בו מיתה (1 Kgs 11 21) "Of David who left a son worthy of himself it is said that he slept; of Joab who had no son who inherited his greatness it is said that he died" (1 K 11 21). The verse Isa 29 22 הית יעקב אשר פדה את was interpreted of Jacob's having redeemed Abraham.4 According to the same school the dead require an atonement,5 and none could effect this better than the son or grandson-מוכי אבא (Sanh 104a 28) "the son vindicates the father." The son when repeating a teaching of his father within twelve months of the father's death should not say 'Thus said my father', but 'Thus said my honored father, (may I be an expiation for him)' לא יאמר . כך אמר אבא אלא כך אמר אבא מרי הריני כפרת משכבו. • As we see in the Akiba legend, where is equivalent to reading the prayers, the son best confers saving merit on the father by taking some part in the synagogue service in which he is the mouthpiece of the congregation, so that all may see that he is following in his father's footsteps. So too in TBER. 1899 when the son of the dead man reads the law in the synagogue or participates actively in the discussions of the study house, the people bless Thy great Name through him יונמצאו הרבים מברכים לשמך הגרול על ידיו (i. e. עם הארץ 29 or TBEZ. 12 194 based on Isa 29 22 עם הארץ "an unlearned" שהקרא והשנה את בנו תורה, בנו מצילו מדינה של ניהנם man is rescued from the punishment of Gehinnom by his son who has studied the Torah."

<sup>2</sup> Text as Dikduke Soferim. See the note of Jacob Tam (1100—1171) in Tosafoth ib. Midr. Ps 31 s p. 240. Exod. Rab 74.

Thus summing up, we see on the one hand the utmost importance attributed to the Kaddish, and its recital attended with the most far reaching results, according to the tradition of the mystics; and on the other hand, we have the idea fully worked out of the redeeming power for the parent of the orphan's recital of prayers to which there were congregational responses. These two streams of thought naturally met, resulting in the custom of the orphan's saying Kaddish or

<sup>4</sup> Gen. Rab 63 to תולדות beginning, to Gen 25 19, TBEZ. 12 194.

ישמא Sifre 210 to Deut 21s end of שמא p. 112b Pesikta Rabbathi 95b שמא שמא הקשת פון אין לו תעלה כיון שמבקשים עליו רחמים זורק אותו מגיהגם כחץ מן הקשת תאמר כיון שירד לגיהגם אין לו תעלה כיון שמבקשים עליו רחמים זורק אותו מגיהגם אין לו תעלה כיון שמבקשים עליו רחמים זורק אותו מגיהגם אין לו תעלה כיון שמבקשים עליו רחמים  $200\,$  Sanh  $200\,$

<sup>6</sup> Kidd 31b 10 Compare Succ 20a 7 Neg 2 1 Sanh 2 1 T. Sanh 4 1 420 12.

<sup>7</sup> Compare TBER. 17 87 f.

ברכו, the essence of both of these being their similar responses. According to the Mahzor Vitry, as in the Akiba legend, the orphan says דיש או ברכו at the close of the Sabbath when the souls return to Gehinnom. Now the locus classicus for the power of the son to redeem the father is Isa 29 22f. אל בית יעקב אשר פרה 1sa 29 22f. את אברהם לא עתה יבוש יעקב ולא עתה פניו יחורו: כי בראתו ילדיו מעשה את אברהם לא עתה יבוש יעקב ולא עתה פניו יחורו: כי בראתו ילדיו מעשה "Jacob shall no more be ashamed (Dan 12 2) when he sees his children sanctifying the Name of his God," and from this emphasis on the sanctification the Kaddish has displaced ברכו in this application and remained the mourner's prayer par excellence.

Although S. Reinach 8 traces the origin of prayers for the dead among the Jews in Egypt 9 etc. to Alexandrian teachings and in Greece, Asia Minor and Italy to Orphic influence, ISRAEL LEVI10finds no certain traces of them before Gaonic times. The Kaddish is in its contents anything but a prayer for the dead: השכבה, מיחות נפשא אשכבתא, and in its original application to mourning it was also not a prayer for the dead in the true sense of the term. But in popular practice it became one. Hence we find many protests against this use of it. In ארחות חיים 107 Hai Gaon is quoted as protesting against such intercession. 12 R. Abraham b. Hivva ha-Nasi (d. c. 1136 Barcelona) wrote in כל החושב על מעשה בניו :13 הגיון הנפש זבני עמו שהם עושים בגללו אחרי מותו ומתפללים בעדו שהם מועילים לו ,מחשבות "They buoy them" בדויות הוא ותוחלת שוא בעיני כל החכמים וכל אנשי מדע selves up with vain hopes who reckon on the actions and prayers of their sons benefiting them after death. This too is the opinion of all good authorities." ABRAHAM HURWITZ (16th century) in p. 35 Introd. wrote similarly באיזה מצוה לבניו להחזיק באיזה האב יצוה לבניו ואם מקיימין אותו נחשב יותר מן הקדיש. ואם כך אפילו יש לו בת יש לו תקנה זו. דקדיש זה אינו תפלה שיתפלל הבן על האב לפני ה' שיעלהו משאול אלא זכות ומצוה הוא למת כשבנו מקדש השם יתברך ברבים והקהל יענה

<sup>8</sup> RÉJ. XLI 1900 161 et seq.

&lt;sup>9</sup> 2 Macc 12 43 from which the masses for the dead grew up in the Church. A. L. Green and W. H. Lowe Jewish Chronicle 1880 May 21 st. to July 30 th.

<sup>10</sup> RÉJ. XXIX 1894 48 et seq.

<sup>11</sup> Zunz, Nachtrag to Literatur-Geschichte 1.

<sup>12</sup> See Bahye b. Asher to Deut 21 8; compare WARNHEIM קבוצת חכמים.

<sup>13</sup> Ed. FREIMANN, Leipzig 1860 p. 32. RAPOPORT's Preface to it p. 58.

אחריו אמן יהא שמיה רבא מברך. "Let the son keep a particular precept given him by his father, and it shall be of greater worth than the recital of the Kaddish. The same is true also of daughters. For the Kaddish is not a prayer of the son that the father may be brought up from Sheol, but a recognition of the parent's merit, since through its recital the child best vindicates the memory of his parent by causing the congregation to respond to him with the praise אישר" But the principle of Soferim 13 10 that in praises springing from the heart the ruling shall give way to custom, בשבח ותהלה של חי העולמים שהדבר תלוי בלב לשנות הלכה למעשה, held good here also. The custom is in modern times explained as illustrating the principle that one should praise God equally for the good and for the evil that befalls one חייב אדם לברך על הרעה כשם שמברך על By reading nothing into the words that is not contained in them, we get in "the healthy, cheerful manliness of the mourner's Kaddish"15 the beautiful custom of the praise of God in the hour of deepest mourning. But it was not always understood as such. It was at first said during the first year of mourning, 16 for אין המת משתכח מן הלב אלא לאחר י"ב חרש (Ber 58b 27). "The memory of the dead begins to grow dim in the heart when twelve months have passed round." These twelve months, perhaps in origin due to Persian teaching, also corresponded with the longest period of suffering in Gehinnom;17 and as the Kaddish was popularly regarded as a prayer of intercession for the departed souls, its recital during the 12 months of mourning was later curtailed to the first eleven months so as not to cast an unworthy reflection on the parent. 18 R. Nissim in his מגלת סתרים is careful to point out that the power of the Kaddish is limited to lightening the punishment of the departed. So too Eleazar of Worms (c. 1176-1238) cautiously

<sup>14</sup> Ber 60b <sub>5</sub> Job 1 21 Akiba's saying כל דעביד רחמנא למב.

<sup>15</sup> G. E. BIDDLE, JQR. XIX 1907 220.

<sup>16</sup> Kol Bo הלכות אבל ed. Venice p. 133a, first mentioned for an orphan in l. c.

<sup>17</sup> Eduy 210 RH. 17a 10 T. Sanh 134 434 17f. Shab 33b 16 152b 2 Semach 14.

<sup>18</sup> Shulhan Aruch, Yore Deah 374 4 Isserles.

ייס Quoted in the מפר הסידים ed. Wistinetzki § 605 (= 32 of the editions) p. 29. Paḥad Yishak.

expresses himself<sup>20</sup> כי החי יכול לבקש להקל דין המת. "The living may seek to lighten the punishment of the dead by prayer".

The use of the mourning Kaddish was in the course of time extended also to the anniversary of the parent's death, the "Jahrzeit" among the German Jews, although this application of it, first found in Maharil, remained strange to the Jews of Spain and the Orient, until it was adopted through a cabbalistic explanation given it by Isaac Luria of Safed.<sup>21</sup> The origin of the custom is perhaps to be sought in the persecutions and massacres aroused by the fanaticism of the Crusaders when thousands of Jews met a martyr's death and whole communities, especially along the Rhine, were wiped out. The custom then grew up <sup>22</sup> of holding memorial services for the martyred, for which special prayers אב הרחמים, יוכור etc. were composed. From a communal mourning service, the individual naturally passes to an individual one.

In later times the application of this Kaddish was extended by allowing grandchildren to say it for their grandparents, parents for children, pupils for teachers, and for relatives and friends and even for complete strangers.<sup>23</sup> Permission too has been given for daughters to say it where there were no sons,<sup>24</sup> and also to say it on the Sabbath, where, as a prayer for the dead, it should be superfluous, as even Gehinnom rests on the Sabbath.<sup>25</sup>

<sup>20</sup> Rokeach 217.

<sup>21</sup> מקורי בניד ומצוח 22. VITAL Peri Es Ḥayyim ed. Lemberg 1864 p. 13b. מקורי מפר ; 27 משמת חיים ABR. Lewysohn § 98. Compare Manassen B. Israel מנהנים 27 ; משמת חיים ed. Wistinetzki § 356 (=241 of the editions).

&lt;sup>22</sup> Zunz, Zur Geschichte 319. Nachtrag zur Literaturgeschichte 4.

&lt;sup>23</sup> Caro, additional note to Tur Yore Deah 403, Shulhan Aruch Yore Deah 3764, Orah Hayyim 1322 Isserles in the name of earlier authorities, Pahad Yishak. See too Ber 12b <sup>14</sup> TBER. 3<sub>15</sub> = Yalkut II 593 to Malachi 3<sub>21</sub> for the intercession of the righteous. Maharil Responsum 64.

&lt;sup>24</sup> Abraham Horwitz quoted p. 104. Against the permission, Isserles Shulhan Aruch Yore Deah 402 12. Ḥayyim Yair Bacharach (1639—1702) Responsum 222 in Ḥavvoth Yair (ed. Frankfurt am Main 1699 p. 208).

&lt;sup>25</sup> Isaac of Corbeil 1270 quoted by Isserles Shulhan Aruch Yore Deah 376 4. Cf. Shib. ha Leket Shab. 81.

APPENDIX C.

The Kaddish in the Synagogue Service (p. 10).

In the time of Massecheth Soferim the synagogue service apparently began with the summons ברכו את ה' המבורך and the Kaddish; and the Kaddish closed the reading of the Law² and the whole service. Its function was similar in the time of Maimonides³ and of Rashi,⁴ and although disguised by additions to the liturgy, the same holds good in general of the modern application of it. The rule that praise must always precede the recitation of the Kaddish disputation disputation disputation.

The shortest form of the Kaddish, the half Kaddish הוצי קדיש, כחבר ,קדיש קצר ,קדיש וומא consisting of the first two paragraphs up to אמירן בעלמא, forms part of every Kaddish and is sometimes said alone after a part of a service. This together with החקבל, קדיש בתרא ,קדיש גמור ,קדיש שלם forms the יהא שלמא said after תפלה, especially the תפלה par excellence, the Shemone 'Esre. Maimonides gives the rule: קדיש בתרא. כל קדיש שאומר שלית צבור אחר שגומר התפלה שאינו אומר אחריו כלום אלא כל העם שומעין אותו .. ומפטירין נהגו העם להסיף בסופן נסחה זו תתקבל... The Cingalese-Cochin rite for the festival of the Rejoicing of the Law has an elaborated version of it (p. 22a-23b). Following on the paragraph ייתין (3) מתכני קרתא (1) and (3) מתכני קרתא (1) are מיתין (3) ייתין שמעין (See p. 13 note 12), (4) אמענו a working up of the theme of תכתבו כלכם בספר חיים ותראו בשמחת ירושלם ותשמחו בבנין (5) ,תתקבל about Jerusalem and יהי רצון about Jerusalem and the Messiah ending יהא שלמא (7), ובחיי כל בית ישראל ואמרו אמן (p. 70), (8) three paragraphs beginning אב הרחמן, (9) a paragraph beginning דכירין (10), עושה שלום במרומיו הוא ברחמיו יעשה שלום על כל ישראל . . . . עושה שלום (p. 16), (11) למוב (p. 75).

With the omission of the paragraph התקבל we get the mourner's Kaddish, קריש יתום Massecheth Soferim 19 יו p. 262 omits the whole of the Kaddish from the morning service of the fast of the 9th of Ab. A more general custom of the same sort is to omit מתקבל as a sign of the deepest mourning, in connection with Lam. 3 8,5 sometimes also יהא שלמא. 6

&lt;sup>1</sup> Soferim 10 8 16 12 19 1 21 6.

&lt;sup>2</sup> According to Responsum 321 of Isaac b. Shesheth (1326—1408), sometimes after each reading when there was more than one.

<sup>3</sup> Hilchoth Tefilla 9 and נוסה הקריש. 4 Rashi Pardes.

עושה שלום and עושה שלום make up the burial Kaddish, used also in the Spanish rite on the fast of the 9th Ab.

עושה שלום and יהא שלמא ,על ישראל , לחדתא and עושה שלום form the study house Kaddish in the Orient, while the half Kaddish, על ישראל etc. constitute that of the Occident.7 In the burial Kaddish of the Yemen rite after אמירן בעלמא וא' אמן the following paragraph, practically identical with (1) of the Cochin Kaddish (p. 107),8 is inserted: תתבני קרתא דירושלם ויתוב פולחנא דשמיא לאתריה [בהדריה בזיויה וביקריה בחיינא ו]בחייכון (וביומיכון) ובחיי דכל בית ישראל בעגלא ובומן קריב ואמרו אמן. This is followed by a paragraph beginning יתכלי (p. 97).

The special form of the Kaddish found in some German rituals for the commemoration service 9 is quite modern, as is also its Hebrew form in some modern service books. The קריש דיתיד is a mystical meditation for the individual while the Kaddish is recited by the officiant. Four examples are given in Amram, 10 but they are not found in later manuals.

The Kaddish closing each part of a service is repeated in one form or other many times throughout the day. שבע ביום הללתיך (Ps 119 164) is specially applied to the Kaddish by the Geonim. On the other hand its too frequent repetition has not infrequently been attacked.11

According to the old ruling of the Talmud 12 based on Lev 22 32 words of holiness and כל דבר שבקרושה אין אומרים בפחות מעשרה sanctification need a religious quorum of ten males for their recitation." Therefore the Kaddish, "the holy prayer," in origin too a congregational prayer, always requires the presence of a quorum of ten

&lt;sup>5</sup> Mordecai to Ta'an 635. <sup>6</sup> Abudarham. 7 Shibbole ha Leket 8.

<sup>8</sup> Yemen MS. GASTER 243 [ ], Cochin ( ).

<sup>9</sup> Beginning על ישראל ועל צדיקיא ועל כל מן דאתפטר מן עלמא הדין. It is the old Hashcaba formula (p. 16) put into the form of a paragraph of the Kaddish.

<sup>10</sup> Amram I 3b 12b 13b 14b in one MS only.

<sup>11</sup> Samuel Aboab רבר שמואל No. 183. Zunz, Gottesdienstliche Vorträge 2 494 note d. Hayye Abraham of Abraham Piperno § 70. Keneseth Hagedolah to Tur Orach Hayyim 553. 12 Ber 21b 15 Meg 23b 18.

adult freeborn males (מנקן) for its recitation. Massecheth Soferim 16 12 disapproves of a child saying the Kaddish for the congregation.

Naḥshon, Gaon of Sura 874—882 appears to have originated the custom of bowing at 5 (4) different places in the Kaddish, 14 which is almost always said standing. 15 This attitude for prayer goes back to the earliest times. The name ממידה מואין עמידה אלא תפלה "standing implies prayer" (Esre is characteristic. ואין עמידה אלא תפלה "standing implies prayer" (Ber 26b 19) is based or Ps 106 30 ויעמד פינחס ויפלל 19 based or Ps 106 30 ויעמד פינחס ויפלל 19 Biblical support is derived for the rule of standing for a דבר שבקדושה from Jud 3 20: ויאמר מעל הכסא

The Karaite prayer book has rejected the Kaddish but contains echoes of it.

According to R. Joshua b. Levi one should give the response בכל כחו (Shab 119b 26). Cf. Midr. Ps 31 s. This can only be understood in the same way as phrases such as למי Ber 56b 13 i. e. "intensely, with full devotion." Nevertheless frequent protests have been raised against shouting this response; and from the word משהוא ירא שמים בכל כהו a mass of mystical interpretation has been spun out. The same school of mystics has specified dread punishments for those who talk during the recitation of the prayer. 17

<sup>13</sup> Ber 7 3 47b 48a and Tosafoth. Sanh 1 6 Meg 4 3 Soferim 10 8 16 12 end, Meg 23b Tosafoth ואין פורסין Ber 8a Lament. Rab 3 3 Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 55. For substitutes for the Kaddish when there are less than 10 present, מסירים ed. Wistinetzki § 510 (= 18 of the editions) Baer p. 120f.

ים Connected with the 5 (4) mentions of God in Mal 1 11, the Targum to which shows affinities with the wording of the Kaddish. Tur Orah Ḥayyim 56. Rashi Pardes etc. See further Ber 31a Tosafoth מפוצאו and השב"א ibid. Müller חספה p. 131.

ניד Soferim 21 6 עומרים. Shulḥan Aruch Oraḥ Ḥayyim 56 מגן אברהם. Luria מגן אברהם 19.

<sup>16 1</sup> Sam 1 26 1 Kgs 8 22 55 Job 30 20 Neh 9 4 Ber 5 1 עמדים להתפלל Ta'an 22 Ta'an 20 אינמדים להתפלל בריך שיכוון את רגליו Ber 10b 14 עמדו בתפלה J. Ber 1 1 2c 20 Matth 6 5 Luke 18 11 13 Mark 11 25. Didascalia often II 55 57 etc. e. g. ed. Margaret Gibson fol. 12a 45a יישלא באילא. Probst, Katechese und Predigt p. 136.

יז Derech Eres Zutta according to Shibbole ha-Leket 8. Ha-Manhig Ch. 4. באר הימב and בית יוסף to Shulhan Aruch Orah Ḥayyim 56 57 2. Orhoth Ḥayyim. Sefer Ḥassidim. Falk to Tur Orah Ḥayyim 56. According to the Gaon Nahshon, the response must be repeated by the reader, Müller החסם p. 131.

Responses are inserted at various points in the prayer, mostly at syntactically inappropriate places. The אמן after the fourth word אמן breaks up the sentence, but has the support of authority from Amram downwards and of universal custom. Some (e. g. the Spanish Jews) insert an אמן and משוחה and בחייכון and in the burial Kaddish between ממן and ייתברן. Others אמן and others again one after אמן and כריך הוא after מבריך הוא and others again one after ייתברן. To both, the Tur notes that modern custom does not recognise them, while to the latter, Amram himself remarks that although supposed to be said, it is usually not said. The present custom differs, the Germans responding און לודשא בריך הוא לא בריך הוא Jews לודשא בריך הוא All these responses mar the unity of the sentence in which they are given. On הוא see p. 73.

אמרו אמן in modern times closes each paragraph, it being introduced by ואמרו. The paragraph מתקבל according to the Minhag of Maimonides and Yemen 20 is not sealed with אמן as it itself is a response of the congregation. In עושה שלום many texts 21 omit modern rites insert it. The practice of interjecting Biblical verses during the recitation of a prayer is discountenanced by the Talmud.22 Nevertheless the Minhag is old of responding at with Num 14 17 23 and Ps 25 6,24 the former owing probably to the connecting link of the word אווי יהגרל at אחקבל אווי האומר הפלחנו (cf. Shab. 119b 26). 25 At התקבל ברחמים וברצון את תפלחנו commonly interjects אין את תפלחנו at 16th paragraph of the Shemone 'Esre. The custom is later of interjecting Ps 113 2 at אושה שלום Ps 121 2 at אושה שלום Ps 121 2 at אושה שלום Practice of inserting these verses and the inappropriate Amens is largely the result of congregational impatience. In the Mozarabic

<sup>18</sup> Amram, Maimonides, Tur and Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 56.

<sup>19</sup> Amram, Seadya, Maimonides, Chinese. 20 Yemen Or. 2418 adds אמרו אמן. 21 Amram, Maimonides, some Genizah fragments, old Carpentras, Lille, Old Italian, Yemen Or. 1479, Gaster 321 etc.

<sup>22</sup> Sota 40a top Shulhan Aruch Orah Hayyim 128 26.

&lt;sup>23</sup> Tur Orah Hayyim 56, Isserles to Shulhan Aruch ibid. quoting Mordecai to Berachoth.

&lt;sup>24</sup> Ibid. Said by Nahmanides שערי תשובה to Shulhan Aruch ibid. note 5.

<sup>25</sup> Cf. Vital Peri Es Hayyim שער הקרישים, Matteh Moshe § 71, 73.

<sup>26</sup> Compare Isa 49 8 Ps 19 15 69 14 Targum to Cant 1 16 etc.

liturgy of the Church, the Paternoster was "broken up with Amens and other responses, a peculiarity which bespeaks extreme antiquity."26 Perhaps too, the desire to add some response after the mention of God's Name influenced the insertion of the inappropriate אמן after אמן and אמיה הוא שמיה רבא מן after חיים after חיים after שמיה רבא יהא שלמא רבא מן after חיים after שמיה הוא שמיה רבא.

APPENDIX D.

The Kaddish and the Paternoster (p. 21).

Matthew 6

9b Πάτερ ήμῶν ὁ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς

9 c άγιασθήτω τὸ ὄνομά σου

10 α ελθέτω ή βασιλεία σου

10 bc γενηθήτω τὸ θέλημά σου ὡς ἐν οὐρανῷ καὶ ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς

[אבוהון דבשמיא] יתקדש שמיה רבא ימלַך מלכותיה (בחייכון) כרעותיה בעלמא

Compare Luke 11 2b.

These verses 9b-10 form the first half of the prayer. The corresponding members (ver. 11-13) that form the second half of the prayer can have no relationship to the Kaddish as they are personal requests dealing with (11) food, (12) debts and (13) temptation. Harnack 1 regards ver. 9b-10 as directly borrowed from the traditional Jewish prayers at a very early date, thus, though doubting their authenticity in the mouth of Jesus, giving us for the purpose of comparison just the same age for the Kaddishlike original as does the traditional view that regards them as an original part of the prayer. (See p. 22.) The similarity between the two prayers is much greater than might appear at first sight. For although the expressions are so simple, it is the coincidence in order that is of weight. It must be remembered also that the original of the Paternoster was in Aramaic, both Greek versions using a common source. (Compare the rare word ἐπιούσιος). Furthermore the fact of the Kaddish being in the 3rd person debars any opening address corresponding with 9b. This address, although the corresponding term אבוהון דבשמיא occurs in a later portion of the prayer, needs no attesting, as "Jesus took this designation of God from the popular usage of his time." 2

<sup>26</sup> J. E. Field, The Apostolic Liturgy p. 469.

<sup>1</sup> See page 22, note 58 etc.

G. Klein has shown the complete conformity of the Paternoster with Jewish norms of prayer. He traces the whole of it back to Ezek 36 especially ver. 23—31, just as we see that the Kaddish goes back to the Messianic chapter of Gog and Magog Ezek 38 especially verse 23. Verses 9c and 10a have their exact equivalent in the Kaddish except for the difference of person. 10bc is best construed as generally supplementing 9c 10a in thought, as יתקדש שמיה and בעלמא בעלמא בעלמא (p. 28, 33). בעלמא in its expanded form (p. 32) ימליך מרכותיה gives a closer parallel to 10c.

Hence, although both the Greek and Aramaic versions very naturally contain slight elements peculiar to themselves, the agreement between them is so close and so exact in main features and in almost all details, that their essential unity of origin is undeniable.

APPENDIX E.

Antiphonal recitation (p. 45).

Doubling of whole verses is found elsewhere especially in the חיר, המעלות Psalms, e. g. Ps 121 1—2, 3—4, 5—6, 7—8, Ps 122 1, 2—3, 4—5, 6—7, 8—9. Ps 129 1 (the summons), 2—3, 4—5, 6—7, 8 etc. Verse by verse recitation of Ps 134 by two Levite choirs (without doubled verses) is described in T. Succ 4 7, 199 1 מה הוא אומר הנה ברכו את

&lt;sup>2</sup> D. WJ. 154 "Jesus hat diese Bezeichnung Gottes dem Volksgebrauche seiner Zeit entnommen".

&lt;sup>3</sup> Zeitschrift f. d. neutestamentliche Wissenschaft u. d. Kunde des Urchristentums VII 1906.

&lt;sup>4</sup> The wild efforts of Erich Bischoff (Jesus und die Rabbinen p. 73 ff.) to discredit every trace of Jewish thought in Jesus' teaching are robbed of every vestige of scientific worth by their blind, polemical partizanship. Lightfoot, Scheidt, Schöttgen, Vitringa, Otho, Tholugk, Ch. Taylor, Wünsche, Dalman, Harnack and very many others in calm, deliberate judgment recognise the Jewish origin of the Paternoster, here shown to hold good in every detail.

ה' כל עבדי ה'. יש מהן אומר שאו ידיכם קודש וברכו את ה'. כשהיו נפטרין ה' כל עבדי ה'. יש מהן אומר שאו ידיכם קודש וברכו את ה'. כשהיו נפטרין וה' כל עבדי ה' מציון ה' ending with Ps 128 5. 6 instead of the expected Ps 134 3. Graetz treats Ps 118 19ff. as a dialogue between two choirs, one within the Temple and one without. Ps 24 is clearly dramatic.

The alphabetical Psalm of praise Ps 145 is found in the earliest forms of synagogue and temple services. The ג verse being missing, it has only 21 verses, an old number that would create an awkwardness in alternating recitation. In verse one the leader would give the leitmotiv אברכה שמך לעולם ועד, returning to it in verse 21 with אברכה שמך לעולם ועד To this the congregation would have no response. And for this reason apparently the ancient custom of adding in conclusion the apt verse Ps 115 18 ואנחנו נברך יה מעתה ועד עולם: arose. The custom of adding this verse, connected with the Psalm as far back as can be traced, has never been accounted for, but is easily intelligible as necessitated by the scheme of antiphonal recitation.

The response in half verses, the מקרה reading the first half of the verse, the congregation completing it, is still more instructive and seems to be of far reaching importance.

To take an instance from Ps 135—Ps 136 being the same Psalm arranged in the form of a litany—ver. 5a (sing.) looks as if read by the מקרה, 5b (plur.) by the congregation, and ver. 19a—b 20a—b were almost certainly antiphonally recited. Examples like the Song of Moses (Exod 15) או ישיר משה ובני ישראל or the song of Deborah (Jud 5) ותשר דבורה וברק point to a kind of dialogue between two persons, the parallelism in these songs bearing this out entirely.

This method of reciting poetry seems to be at the bottom of

&lt;sup>1</sup> Geaetz, MG WJ. XXVIII 1879 210. In Midr. Sam. 197 p. 52b Samuel ben Nahman assigns different parts of Ps 118 21—24 to David, Jesse, Samuel, David's brothers, and all of them together. See the Targum ib. ver. 23 to end. Cf. Bacher, MWGJ. 1872 415.

&lt;sup>2</sup> Compare Ber 4b כל האומר תהלה לדור בכל יום נ' פעמים מובמח לו שהוא בן עולם הבא.

<sup>3</sup> Exod 15 2a—b c—d, 3a-b, 4a—b, 5a—b, 6a—b and so on all through. Similarly in Jud 5, note especially v. 7 שקמהי 2nd sing. fem. (Deborah); Barak sings ויששכר כן ברק Deborah answers ויששכר כן ברק 15a—b. See Paul Ruben, JQR. X 1898 541 et seq.

parallelism, the characteristic of Hebrew poetry. There are two voices heard, one the leader giving the thought, the other (a chorus?) answering, repeating the thought in varying words (synonymous parallelism) or developing it (antithetic and synthetic parallelism). The phenomenon could not be more striking than in the examples of the above two songs. This explanation of palillogical parallelism by two voices—often female voices 4—is the most natural interpretation of the anadiplosis and epanalepsis that distinguish Hebrew poetry. Seeking the origin of this swinging dithyrambic form in two singers, the absence of rhyme is fully intelligible; and it is readily seen why all attempts to discover an exact metre in Hebrew poetry, have resulted only in making it certain that nothing but the rhythm of parallelism and the consequent stresses dominate Hebrew poesy. 5

Naturally once primitive poetry had received this recognised form, one singer could take the double part; or the poet in later times could compose for both voices, and knowing his own thought could develop it much more freely in the required form. Hence we cannot hope to find the two voices in much of the comparatively late poetry of the Old Testament. But undoubtedly many fresh points of view could be obtained by applying this principle in very many cases. 6 As an example Ps 115 9—18 might be set out as a joyous dialogue between the priests and the people. The priests call upon the people on some occasion of festive gladness to bless the Lord; the people after apparent wavering, do so. Thus:

כהנים. ישראל במח בה' — עזרם ומגנם הוא<sup>7</sup> קהל. בית אהרן במחו בה' — עזרם ומגנם הוא

<sup>5</sup> All the investigations of Bickell, Sievers etc. have proved nothing more certainly than this.

<sup>4</sup> E. g. 1 Sam 187 2 Sam 1 20 24 Jud 11 40 Ex 15 20 etc.

<sup>6</sup> D. H. MÜLLER, Die Propheten in ihrer ursprünglichen Form, also in Strophenbau und Responsion; Felix Perles, Wiener Zeitschrift für Kunde des Morgenlandes 1896 103 etc. Paul Ruben, JQR. XI 1899 431 et seq. Zenner, Die Chorgesänge im B. der Psalmen 1896. König, Stylistik 1900 347 ff. have gone to work on similar lines, but mostly on an ambitious scale that necessitates forced emendations of the text, and cutting it about to an almost impossible degree.

<sup>7</sup> ברכו analogous to ברכו Ps 135 19 20.

יראי ה' במחו בה' — עזרם ומגגם הוא	'
ה' זכרגו יברך <sup>8</sup>	P'
יברך את בית ישראל	' ⊃
יברך את בית אהרן	'P
יברך יראי ה'	′⊃
הקטנים עם הגדולים?!º	'P
יסף ה' עליכם 10	' ⊃
עליכם ועל בגיכם 11	'P
ברוכים אתם לה' עשה שמים וארץ	'
השמים שמים לה' והארץ נתן לבני אדם 12	'P
לא המתים יהללו יה ולא כל יורדי דומה13	'D
ואנחנו נברך יה מעתה ועד עולם.14	'P

This illustration may not be convincing. The connections could be differently caught and interpreted, just as the Song of Songs is open to varying schemes of dialogue division owing to the difficulty of allotting the words to the different conjectural speakers. But the example is sufficient to show that the system is rich in possibilities of interpretation.

APPENDIX F.

The so called "Burial Kaddish" (p. 80).

There can be little doubt that the original function of this Kaddish was exercised in the study house, as the analogies of similar endings show. This was the custom of Maimonides who writes ינותר שעום פון בתלמוד תורה שעל פה ואפילו

<sup>8</sup> The Lord who has been mindful of us up to now will bless us.

That would be blessing the unworthy (הקמנים the people) and the worthy (הקמנים the priests) together!

<sup>10</sup> Not so, God will (or may God) increase you.

<sup>11</sup> Nay rather you and your children.

<sup>12</sup> Catching up the reference to heaven and earth.

<sup>13</sup> Playing on the meaning "earth (grave) he has allotted to the sons of men". Nay, those who return to the dust cannot praise God.

<sup>14</sup> So we the living will bless ...

&lt;sup>1</sup> This contradicts what is written in the commentary of 'Maimonides' to the additional (6th) chapter of Aboth (end). But this commentary is more correctly attributed to Rashi. See Talmud, edit. Vilna Aboth p. 15.

במדרשות או בהגדות כשהן מסיימין אומר אחד מהן קדיש בנוסח זו יתגדל וית' ... ישמ' רב' בעל' דעתיד: 'When ten have been studying the traditional law together, or even the Midrash or Aggada, at the close, one of them says the following Kaddish . . . . ', and this is for the most part the custom in the Orient today. But the history of this fuller Kaddish is almost a repetition of that of the simple Kaddish. Similar influences that made of the older Kaddish a prayer for the dead (Appendix B), early made of this version a prayer at the graveside. The immediate occasion for this transference may have been the reference to the Resurrection 2 (c). For centuries 3 this version has in the Occident been regarded as the burial Kaddish; and if we may rely on the text of Massecheth Soferim and a suggested interpretation for it, we get an approximate Gaonic date for this transference. In Soferim 19 12 4 it is prescribed that during the additional service on the Sabbath morning, when mourners are present in synagogue, the reader should go from his place to the synagogue door where they stand, to comfort them with the ברכת and then he, the reader, says the Kaddish closing the additional service, ואין אומר בעלמא דעתיד לחדתא אלא על התלמוד ועל הדרש "and he does not say the Kaddish לחדתא to the mourners for it is said only over the study of the law and its homiletic exposition". The text understood in this way is warning against the growing custom of applying this Kaddish לחדתא to mourning occasions. transference was all the easier because addresses of comfort were delivered in the seven days of deepest mourning,6 and the Kaddish that closed these became dissociated from the address and associated with the mourning.

However, the text of this passage as known to Nahmanides (1194—1270) ran אלא על תלמיד הדרשן "the Kaddish הדרשן is not &lt;sup>2</sup> The consolation of Jerusalem (d) also, has traditionally always been coupled with that of mourners over the dead Isa 66 13 Amram 1 55 Tur Yore Deah 379. שבירושלם ed. Wistinetzki p. 97 § 305 (= editions § 233) says שבירושלם אימרים בצידוק הדין (!) לאחיאה מתייא.

<sup>3</sup> Shulhan Aruch Yore Deah § 376 א עכשיו is significant.

&lt;sup>4</sup> MÜLLER gives a different interpretation p. 279. <sup>5</sup> T. Ber 3 23 f. 8 12 et seq. Ber 46 b <sup>6</sup> Keth 8b 25.

<sup>6</sup> Examples collected by L. Dukes, Rabbinische Blumenlese 247—263.

said except over a scholar". But this text is probably corrupted in harmony with the then prevalent custom and it cannot be preferred in the face of the evidence brought from ancient usage (p. 80) and from Maimonides that the Kaddish לחדתא is an old doxology to the Aggada, especially in view of the fact that Massecheth Soferim does not know of a mourner's Kaddish. On the contrary, in the above quotation it is the reader, not the mourner, who recites the Kaddish.

A second transference has been made in the Spanish rite where this Kaddish<sup>8</sup> has been adopted also for the fast of the 9th of Ab, the emphasis being laid especially on the restoration (d. e. f. g.), the martyrs (c) and the hope for the future (b). In fact the application of this version for that fast is so appropriate that it is usually said to have been composed by the Geonim for that occasion.

<sup>7</sup> In his own time, he adds, it was said over learned and unlearned alike, as in our own day.

&lt;sup>8</sup> Abudarham without the paragraph יהא שלמא as also Carpentras. Modern Spanish without התקבל.

INDEX OF SUBJECTS.

Afel 35, 85, 100

Alenu 33, 36, 75, 84

Angels 14, 65, 77

Aramaic 10-20

Aramaic and Hebrew 10, 13-20, 41, 58, 70, 74

Aramaic prayers 12

Barchu 51, 102—104 Burial Kaddish 32, 79—89, 97—100, 108, 115—117

Daniel, Book of [2, 3, 16, 17, 27, 30, 37, 38, 45, 46, 56, 58, 72, 87, 96, 99 Dead, Prayers for 16, 101—106, 108, 115—117 Doxology, The greater 78 Doxology, The Kaddish a 8—10, 49, 50 Doxology of the Paternoster 48, 49 Doxology of the Psalms 42, 46, 48

Essenism 21-23, 57

Genizah 17, 18, 26, 52, 59, 69, 76, 81 Gloria in Excelsis 78

Hallel 4, 44-46, 113, 114 Hebrew 10, 13-20, 41, 58, 70, 74 Hechaloth Rabbathi 54, 56, 63 Honorific Insertions 18

Ithpaal 28, 29, 58-60, 65, 67, 84 Jahrzeit 106

Kaddish, Bibliography VIII—X Kaddish, Burial, the 32, 79—89, 97—100, 108, 115—117 Kaddish, Commentaries VIII Hebrew 10, 18-20, 58, 70, 76 Language of 10-20 Liturgical 10, 51, 66, 70, 71, 76, 107 - 111Mourning, the 10, 80, 97, 101—106, 107, 108, 115—117 Mysticism in 10,54-57,102,108,109 Name of 10, 19, 21, 100 Origin of 8-10, 21-24 Parodies of 10 Poems on 10, 67, 81, 107 Punctuation of 24-26, 28 Rabbinical 89-96, 108 Responses 8, 9, 19, 42-52, 60, 66, 73, 101—105, 109—111 Style of 27, 54 Kedusha 8, 21, 32, 78, 101 Kotlan forms 37, 62

Liturgy, Fast Day 16, 46, 81, 84, 107, 108, 117

Kaddish in 10, 51, 66, 70, 71, 76, 107—111

Origin of 1

Psalm CXLV in 113

Psalms in 4, 44—46, 112, 113

Lord's Prayer. See Paternoster.

Malkenu Elohenu 10, 36, 39, 40, 81 Masora 6, 29 Masora to Onkelos 31, 37, 40, 68, 88 Messianism VII 6, 7, 9, 27, 29, 33, 34, 36, 38—40, 63, 64, 80—84, 97 Mourning Kaddish 10, 80, 97, 101—106, 107, 108, 115—117 Mourning, Year of 105 Mysticism 10, 54-57, 102, 108, 109

Name of God 26, 29-31, 33, 43, 45-51, 68, 72, 88, 96

Parallelism 45, 112 Paternoster 21-23, 27, 28, 48, 49, 67, 110 - 112Peace endings 71-73, 76 Peace greetings 70, 76 Prayer, Aramaic 12, 13 Attitude for 4, 76, 109 Times of 4, 7, 80 Prayers 1-4, 7, 12-16, 18, 80, 90 Expansion of 19, 54, 67, 70, 73, 80, 81, 90 Form of 2, 26, 41, 56, 67, 107 Psalm LI 20, 83 CXV 114 CXLV 113 doxologies 46 recitation 44, 45, 71, 112-115 Psalms, liturgical 4, 44-46, 112, 113 Punctuation 24-26, 28

Rabbinical Kaddish 89-96, 108

Responses 8, 9, 19, 42—52, 60, 66, 73, 101—105, 109—111
Resurrection 63, 80, 82, 116
Rituals IX, 24, 26, 52, 54, 65, 69, 75, 79, 89, 97

Samaritan 23, 31, 53, 66 Shema' 1, 14, 15, 44, 45 Shemone 'Esre 1, 3, 14, 37, 43, 55, 66, 73, 76, 81, 84, 107, 109, 110 Shemone 'Esre, Targum to 77, 83, 88, 89 Son, Importance of a 102—106 Suffixes 25, 29, 40, 41, 65, 68, 89, 92—95 Synagogue 1, 4, 11, 13, 46, 66, 107 Synonyms 15, 27, 54—56, 68, 89, 96, 100

Targum 4, 9, 11—15, 29—33, 36—41, 48, 49, 53, 58, 61—63, 65, 67, 68, 75, 82, 84—89, 93, 96, 100
Targum, Masora to 31, 37, 40, 68, 88
Targum to Shemone 'Esre 77, 83, 88, 99
Temple 1, 4, 13, 21, 46, 87

Woes, Messianic 40, 97 Women 12, 104-106, 114

Yekūm Purkān 13, 42, 90-92, 99

INDEX OF SELECTED PASSAGES.

A. OLD TESTAMENT.

Lev 26<sub>25</sub> f.: 99 II Sam 24<sub>13</sub>: 98 I Kings  $8_{23}$ : 2, 3;  $8_{33}$ , 35, 37: 98;  $10_9$ : 45; 18<sub>36</sub>: 2 II Kings 195: 2 Isa 30<sub>27</sub>: 30 Jer 14<sub>12</sub> 21<sub>7.9</sub> 24<sub>10</sub> 27<sub>8</sub> 29<sub>17</sub> f.: 98;  $32_{17}$ : 2;  $32_{24}$ , 36  $34_{17}$   $38_{2}$ : 98;  $39_{8}$ : 4; 42<sub>17</sub>, 22 44<sub>13</sub>: 98 Ezek 5<sub>12.17</sub> 6<sub>11</sub> f. 7<sub>15</sub> 12<sub>16</sub> 14<sub>21</sub>: 98;  $21_{30.34}$   $35_5$ : 38;  $38_{23}$ : 27Amos 4<sub>10</sub>: 98; 5<sub>12.15</sub>: 4; 72: 27;  $8_2:39$ Ps 41<sub>14</sub>: 46; 51<sub>20</sub>: 83; 54<sub>3</sub>: 30; 72<sub>19</sub>: 46; 74<sub>8</sub>: 4; 89<sub>53</sub>: 46; 106<sub>48</sub>: 44, 46;

 $113_1$  f.: 45, 46;  $115_{9-18}$ : 114; 118: 44;  $125_5$   $128_5$  f.  $134_3$ : 71;  $145_{21}$ : 46 Job  $1_{21}$ : 45 Esth 48: 96 Dan  $2_{20}$ : 27, 45, 46;  $2_{19-23}$ : 2;  $3_{31}$ : 72;  $3_{32}$  f.: 99;  $4_1$ : 87;  $4_{23}$ : 72;  $4_{26}$ : 87;  $4_{31}$ : 72;  $4_{34}$ : 56;  $5_{3.5}$   $6_{19}$ : 87;  $6_{26}$ : 72;  $8_{17,19}$ : 38;  $9_4$ : 3;  $9_{21}$ : 4;  $9_{26}$  $11_{27, 35, 40}$   $12_{4.6, 9, 13}$ : 38;  $11_{36}$ : 29 Ezr 4<sub>14</sub> 5<sub>14</sub> f. 6<sub>5</sub>: 87; 9<sub>5</sub>: 4 Neh  $1_5$ : 2, 3;  $8_8$ : 12;  $9_5$  f.: 2, 44-46;  $9_{32}: 3$ I Chr 16<sub>36</sub>: 46; 21<sub>12</sub>: 98; 29<sub>10</sub>: 46;  $29_{10-13}$ : 2 II Chr  $6_{14}$ : 2, 3;  $6_{24}$ , 26, 28: 98; 98: 45;  $20_5 \text{ ff.}: 2; 20_9: 98$

B. NEW TESTAMENT.

 $\begin{array}{l} \text{Matth } 4_{23}\colon 6; \ 5_{35}\colon 64; \ 5_{45,\,48}\colon 69; \ 6_5; \\ 21.\,109; \ 6_9\colon 30.\,69.\,111; \ 6_{10}\colon 78.\,111; \\ 9_{35}\colon 6; \ 10_{22}\colon 38; \ 10_{28}\colon 30; \ 13_{39}\colon 38; \\ 13_{54}\colon 6; \ 19_{28}\colon 82; \ 21_1\colon 95; \ 21_{25}\colon 72; \\ 24_{3.\,6}\colon 38; \ 24_{6-9}\colon 97; \ 24_{13}\,f.\colon 38; \\ 26_2\colon 95; \ 26_{36}\colon 95; \ 27_{33}\colon 37 \\ \\ \text{Mark } 1_{21.\,39}\colon 6; \ 5_{34}\colon 70; \ 6_2\colon 6; \ 10_{51}; \\ 95; \ 11_{25}\colon 109; \ 11_{30}\colon 72; \ 13_{7\cdot\,13}\colon 38; \\ 14_{36}\colon 13.\,69; \ 14_{61}\colon 60; \ 15_{34}\colon 12 \\ \\ \text{Luke } 1_{15}\colon 95; \ 2_{14}\colon 78; \ 4_{15}\,\text{ff.}\colon 6.\,12; \ 4_{32,\,44}\colon 6; \ 5_{33}\colon 21; \ 6_6\colon 6; \ 7_{50}\colon 70; \ 11_1\colon 21.\,22; \\ 11_2\colon 111; \ 12_5\colon 30; \ 13_{10}\colon 6; \ 18_{11\cdot\,13}\colon 109; \\ 20_4\colon 72; \ 20_{35}\,\text{ff.}\colon 82; \ 21_9\colon 38; \ 24_{36}\colon 70 \\ \end{array}$

John  $3_{27}$ : 72;  $5_{2}$ : 95;  $6_{59}$ : 6;  $11_{24}$ : 63;  $18_{20}$ : 6;  $20_{16}$ : 95Acts  $3_{1}$ : 4;  $3_{19}$ : 96;  $4_{13}$ : 12;  $5_{41}$ : 30;  $9_{20}$ : 5;  $10_{2}$  ff.,  $9_{1}$ , 30; 4;  $13_{5,14}$  ff.,  $2_{7,42}$ ,  $4_{4,49}$ : 6;  $14_{1}$ : 6, 11;  $15_{21}$ : 5;  $15_{23}$ : 70;  $16_{13,16}$ : 4, 12;  $17_{1}$ ff., 10: 6;  $17_{12}$ : 11;  $17_{17}$ : 6;  $17_{24}$ : 96;  $18_{4}$ : 6, 11;  $18_{19}$ , 26: 6;  $19_{8}$ : 6Romans  $1_{25}$ : 48;  $8_{15}$ : 69;  $9_{5}$ : 48I Cor  $1_{23}$ : 11;  $14_{16}$ : 42;  $14_{27}$  f.: 6II Peter  $3_{13}$ : 82III John  $1_{7}$ : 30Revel.  $20_{8}$ : 27;  $20_{11}$   $21_{1,5}$ : 82;  $21_{10}$ : 84

INDEX OF HEBREW AND ARAMAIC WORDS.

מן מן	אבא דבשמיא
61, 88	88 אלילא
מרא שמיא וארעא 41, 96	9, 42, 46, 60, 110
25, 87	41, 42, 77
62-65, 84	15, 16, 27 אמת ויציב
סדרא סדרא	אפטרתא
סליחה סליחה	בעותא
25, 61	מרא ברא
25, 28, 32, 52, 53, 65, 85, 112 עלמא	ברכת השיר
93 עשק	63—65
עתיד	2, 3, 60
40, 85	נהַל 28
פרקן • פרקן	25, 32, 84, 86
86, 67 צלותא	52, 70, 94
צמח 37, 63	86, 87
10, 100	הלל 59
פרם 68, 96	הפמרה 7
קהלא	12ר אפר
29, 31, 48, 49, 60 קודשא בריך הוא	141
קלם 9, 60	חדת 84
38, 39 yp	73, 85, 95
92	94
28, 33—35, 112	98
רפואה	40
שבח	93 יתב
שכלל	יתנדל 28
70, 76, 94	98—100
29-31, 45, 88	מותנא 100
25, 26, 29, 31, 69, 72, 88	מונא פוונא
תלמיד 93	מימרא 38, 96
61, 65	מלכות מלכות

U. C. BERKELEY LIBRARIES

